But few can realize the task involved in the publication of a work of this kind. We have to contend against ignorance, prejudice and selfishness. Ignorance of some people as to our objects, many refusing to give their names, for fear they will be used for some swindling purpose, or their politics, lest it be used to their discredit; or how much property they own, fearing it is to increase their taxes. Prejudice of people who have subscribed through agents for publications, and, not having received what they expected, have forever thereafter sworn warfare against all agents, without discriminating, or taking into consideration the absolute necessity of employing men under certain circumstances as the media between publisher and people. Selfishness by citizens who expect to have published, gratuitously, every thing they see fit to send us, which usually is of a personal nature, or not relevant matter, and if published would be of no general interest, therefore we deem best to suppress it, thereby receiving their outspoken enmity. For this work we do not claim perfection; that would be an impossibility. Most townships have been gone over by the third man, but still there are undoubtedly errors, mostly in spelling names and in dates. We have several cases in DeKalb County where members of the same family spell their names in different ways, and a number of cases where the dates of births, of marriages, or when they came into the county, were improbable, and when brought to their notice, they had made a mistake generally of ten years in calculation. We give our agents the most positive instructions to be especially careful in getting names and dates, but oftentimes men are indifferent in giving required information, and when met on the road, at the threshing machine, or in the rain or cold, the information is given hurriedly or carelessly, and our agents are obliged to put it down as given them, and when copied, mistakes necessarily occur.

We have endeavored to get the names of all tax-payers and voters. We have about 6,800 names, the vote being about 6,000, which shows we could not have missed many. In our History of the County we have endeavored to give an interesting, condensed, and correct sketch. Our History of Illinois will give the reader some interesting and valuable historical facts. Our Laws should be carefully read by every business man or farmer; they contain invaluable information. In fact we have toiled long and at great expense, and have far exceeded our promises to make every thing in these pages interesting and valuable, and all you could expect or wish, and in your criticisms, please to bear in mind that in gathering, compiling and publishing a volume of this kind, perfection would be an impossibility.

HISTORY OF ILLINOIS.

The name of this beautiful Prairie State is derived from Illini, a Delaware word signifying Superior Men. It has a French termination, and is a symbol of how the two races—the French and the Indians—were intermixed during the early history of the country.

The appellation was no doubt well applied to the primitive inhabitants of the soil whose prowess in savage warfare long withstood the combined attacks of the fierce Iroquois on the one side, and the no less savage and relentless Sacs and Foxes on the other. The Illinois were once a powerful confederacy, occupying the most beautiful and fertile region in the great Valley of the Mississippi, which their enemies coveted and struggled long and hard to wrest from them. By the fortunes of war they were diminished in numbers, and finally destroyed. "Starved Rock," on the Illinois River, according to tradition, commemorates their last tragedy, where, it is said, the entire tribe starved rather than surrender.

EARLY DISCOVERIES.

The first European discoveries in Illinois date back over two hundred years. They are a part of that movement which, from the beginning to the middle of the seventeenth century, brought the French Canadian missionaries and fur traders into the Valley of the Mississippi, and which, at a later period, established the civil and ecclesiastical authority of France from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico, and from the foot-hills of the Alleghanies to the Rocky Mountains.

The great river of the West had been discovered by DeSoto, the Spanish conqueror of Florida, three quarters of a century before the French founded Quebec in 1608, but the Spanish left the country a wilderness, without further exploration or settlement within its borders, in which condition it remained until the Mississippi was discovered by the agents of the French Canadian government, Joliet and Marquette, in 1673. These renowned explorers were not the first white visitors to Illinois. In 1671—two years in advance of them—came Nicholas Perrot to Chicago. He had been sent by Talon as an agent of the Canadian government to call a great peace convention of Western Indians at Green Bay, preparatory to the movement for the discovery of the Mississippi. It was deemed a good stroke of policy to secure, as far as possible, the friendship and co-operation of the Indians, far and near, before venturing upon an enterprise which their hostility might render disastrous, and which their friendship and assistance would do so much to make successful; and to this end Perrot was sent to call together in council the tribes throughout the Northwest, and to promise them the commerce and protection of the French government. He accordingly arrived at Green Bay in 1671, and procuring an escort of Pottawattamies, proceeded in a bark canoe upon a visit to the Miamis, at Chicago. Perrot was therefore the first European to set foot upon the soil of Illinois.

Still there were others before Marquette. In 1672, the Jesuit missionaries, Fathers Claude Allouez and Claude Dablon, bore the standard of the Cross from their mission at Green Bay through western Wisconsin and northern Illinois, visiting the Foxes on Fox River, and the Masquettines and Kickapoos at the mouth of the Milwaukee. These missionaries penetrated on the route afterwards followed by Marquette as far as the Kickapoo village at the head of Lake Winnebago, where Marquette, in his journey, secured guides across the portage to the Wisconsin.

The oft-repeated story of Marquette and Joliet is well known. They were the agents employed by the Canadian government to discover the Mississippi. Marquette was a native of France, born in 1637, a Jesuit priest by education, and a man of simple faith and of great zeal and devotion in extending the Roman Catholic religion among the Indians. Arriving in Canada in 1666, he was sent as a missionary to the far Northwest, and, in 1668, founded a mission at Sault Ste. Marie. The following year he moved to La Pointe, in Lake Superior, where he instructed a branch of the Hurons till 1670, when he removed south, and founded the mission at St. Ignace, on the Straits of Mackinaw. Here he remained, devoting a portion of his time to the study of the Illinois language under a native teacher who had accompanied him to the mission from La Pointe, till he was joined by Joliet in the Spring of 1673. By the way of Green Bay and the Fox and Wisconsin Rivers, they entered the Mississippi, which they explored to the mouth of the Arkansas, and returned by the way of the Illinois and Chicago Rivers to Lake Michigan.

On his way up the Illinois, Marquette visited the great village of the Kaskaskias, near what is now Utica, in the county of LaSalle. The following year he returned and established among them the mission of the Immaculate Virgin Mary, which was the first Jesuit mission founded in Illinois and in the Mississippi Valley. The intervening winter he had spent in a hut which his companions erected on the Chicago River, a few leagues from its mouth. The founding of this mission was the last act of Marquette's life. He died in Michigan, on his way back to Green Bay, May 18, 1675.

FIRST FRENCH OCCUPATION.

The first French occupation of the territory now embraced in Illinois was effected by LaSalle in 1680, seven years after the time of Marquette and Joliet. LaSalle, having constructed a vessel, the "Griffin," above the falls of Niagara, which he sailed to Green Bay, and having passed thence in canoes to the mouth of the St. Joseph River, by which and the Kankakee he reached the Illinois, in January, 1680, erected Fort Crevecœur, at the lower end of Peoria Lake, where the city of Peoria is now situated. The place where this ancient fort stood may still be seen just below the outlet of Peoria Lake. It was destined, however, to a temporary existence. From this point, LaSalle determined to descend the Mississippi to its mouth, but did not accomplish this purpose till two years later—in 1682. Returning to Fort Frontenac for the purpose of getting materials with which to rig his vessel, he left the fort in charge of Touti, his lieutenant, who during his absence was driven off by the Iroquois Indians. These savages had made a raid upon the settlement of the Illinois, and had left nothing in their track but ruin and desolation. Mr. Davidson, in his History of Illinois, gives the following graphic account of the picture that met the eyes of LaSalle and his companions on their return :

"At the great town of the Illinois they were appalled at the scene which opened to their view. No hunter appeared to break its death-like silence with a salutatory whoop of welcome. The plain on which the town had stood was now strewn with charred fragments of lodges, which had so recently swarmed with savage life and hilarity. To render more hideous the picture of desolation, large numbers of skulls had been placed on the upper extremities of lodge-poles which had escaped the devouring flames. In the midst of these horrors was the rude fort of the spoilers, rendered frightful by the same ghastly relics. A near approach showed that the graves had been robbed of their bodies, and swarms of buzzards were discovered glutting their loathsome stomachs on the reeking corruption. To complete the work of destruction, the growing corn of the village had been cut down and burned, while the pits containing the products of previous years, had been rifled and their contents scattered with wanton waste. It was evident the suspected blow of the Iroquois had fallen with relentless fury."

Touti had escaped LaSalle knew not whither. Passing down the lake in search of him and his men, LaSalle discovered that the fort had been destroyed, but the vessel which he had partly constructed was still on the stocks and but slightly injured. After further fruitless search, failing to find Touti, he fastened to a tree a painting representing himself and party sitting in a canoe and bearing a pipe of peace, and to the painting attached a letter addressed to Touti.

Touti had escaped, and, after untold privations, taken shelter among the Pottawattamies near Green Bay. These were friendly to the French. One of their old chiefs used to say, "There were but three great captains in the world, himself, Touti and LaSalle."

GENIUS OF LASALLE.

We must now return to LaSalle, whose exploits stand out in such bold relief. He was born in Rouen, France, in 1643. His father was wealthy, but he renounced his patrimony on entering a college of the Jesuits, from which he separated and came to Canada a poor man in 1666. The priests of St. Sulpice, among whom he had a brother, were then the proprietors of Montreal, the nucleus of which was a seminary or convent founded by that order. The Superior granted to LaSalle a large tract of land at LaChine, where he established himself in the fur trade. He was a man of daring genius, and outstripped all his competitors in exploits of travel and commerce with the Indians. In 1669, he visited the headquarters of the great Iroquois Confederacy, at Onondaga, in the heart of New York, and, obtaining guides, explored the Ohio River to the falls at Louisville.

In order to understand the genius of LaSalle, it must be remembered that for many years prior to his time the missionaries and traders were obliged to make their way to the Northwest by the Ottawa River (of Canada) on account of the fierce hostility of the Iroquois along the lower lakes and Niagara River, which entirely closed this latter route to the Upper Lakes. They carried on their commerce chiefly by canoes, paddling them through the Ottawa to Lake Nipissing, carrying them across the portage to French River, and descending that to Lake Huron. This being the route by which they reached the Northwest, accounts for the fact that all the earliest Jesuit missions were established in the neighborhood of the Upper Lakes. LaSalle conceived the grand idea of opening the route by Niagara River and the Lower Lakes to Canadian commerce by sail vessels, connecting it with the navigation of the Mississippi, and thus opening a magnificent water communication from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the Gulf of Mexico. This truly grand and comprehensive purpose seems to have animated him in all his wonderful achievements and the matchless difficulties and hardships he surmounted. As the first step in the accomplishment of this object he established himself on Lake Ontario, and built and garrisoned Fort Frontenac, the site of the present city of Kingston, Canada. Here he obtained a grant of land from the French crown and a body of troops by which he beat back the invading Iroquois and cleared the passage to Niagara Falls. Having by this masterly stroke made it safe to attempt a hitherto untried expedition, his next step, as we have seen, was to advance to the Falls with all his outfit for building a ship with which to sail the lakes. He was successful in this undertaking, though his ultimate purpose was defeated by a strange combination of untoward circumstances. The Jesuits evidently hated LaSalle and plotted against him, because he had abandoned them and co-operated with a rival order. The fur traders were also jealous of his superior success in opening new channels of commerce. At LaChine he had taken the trade of Lake Ontario, which but for his presence there would have gone to Quebec. While they were plodding with their bark canoes through the Ottawa he was constructing sailing vessels to command the trade of the lakes and the Mississippi. These great plans excited the jealousy and envy of the small traders, introduced treason and revolt into the ranks of his own companions, and finally led to the foul assassination by which his great achievements were prematurely ended.

In 1682, LaSalle, having completed his vessel at Peoria, descended the Mississippi to its confluence with the Gulf of Mexico. Erecting a standard on which he inscribed the arms of France, he took formal possession of the whole valley of the mighty river, in the name of Louis XIV., then reigning, in honor of whom he named the country LOUISIANA.

LaSalle then went to France, was appointed Governor, and returned with a fleet and immigrants, for the purpose of planting a colony in Illinois. They arrived in due time in the Gulf of Mexico, but failing to find the mouth of the Mississippi, up which LaSalle intended to sail, his supply ship, with the immigrants, was driven ashore and wrecked on Matagorda Bay. With the fragments of the vessel he constructed a stockade and rude huts on the shore for the protection of the immigrants, calling the post Fort St. Louis. He then made a trip into New Mexico, in search of silver mines, but, meeting with disappointment, returned to find his little colony reduced to forty souls. He then resolved to travel on foot to Illinois, and, starting with his companions, had reached the valley of the Colorado, near the mouth of Trinity river, when he was shot by one of his men. This occurred on the 19th of March, 1687.

Dr. J. W. Foster remarks of him: "Thus fell, not far from the banks of the Trinity, Robert Cavalier de la Salle, one of the grandest characters that ever figured in American history—a man capable of originating the vastest schemes, and endowed with a will and a judgment capable of carrying them to successful results. Had ample facilities been placed by the King of France at his disposal, the result of the colonization of this continent might have been far different from what we now behold."

EARLY SETTLEMENTS.

A temporary settlement was made at Fort St. Louis, or the old Kaskaskia village, on the Illinois River, in what is now LaSalle County, in 1682. In 1690, this was removed, with the mission connected with it, to Kaskaskia, on the river of that name, emptying into the lower Mississippi in St. Clair County. Cahokia was settled about the same time, or at least, both of these settlements began in the year 1690, though it is now pretty well settled that Cahokia is the older place, and ranks as the oldest permanent settlement in Illinois, as well as in the Mississippi Valley. The reason for the removal of the old Kaskaskia settlement and mission, was probably because the dangerous and difficult route by Lake Michigan and the Chicago portage had been almost abandoned, and travelers and traders passed down and up the Mississippi by the Fox and Wisconsin River route. They removed to the vicinity of the Mississippi in order to be in the line of travel from Canada to Louisiana, that is, the lower part of it, for it was all Louisiana then south of the lakes.

During the period of French rule in Louisiana, the population probably never exceeded ten thousand, including whites and blacks. Within that portion of it now included in Indiana, trading posts were established at the principal Miami villages which stood on the head waters of the Maumee, the Wea villages situated at Ouiatenon, on the Wabash, and the Piankeshaw villages at Post Vincennes; all of which were probably visited by French traders and missionaries before the close of the seventeenth century.

In the vast territory claimed by the French, many settlements of considerable importance had sprung up. Biloxi, on Mobile Bay, had been founded by D'Iberville, in 1699; Antoine de Lamotte Cadillac had founded Detroit in 1701; and New Orleans had been founded by Bienville, under the auspices of the Mississippi Company, in 1718. In Illinois also, considerable settlements had been made, so that in 1730 they embraced one hundred and forty French families, about six hundred "converted Indians," and many traders and voyageurs. In that portion of the country, on the east side of the Mississippi, there were five distinct settlements, with their respective villages, viz.: Cahokia, near the mouth of Cahokia Creek and about five miles below the present city of St. Louis; St. Philip, about forty-five miles below Cahokia, and four miles above Fort Chartres; Fort Chartres, twelve miles above Kaskaskia; Kaskaskia, situated on the Kaskaskia River, five miles above its confluence with the Mississippi; and Prairie du Rocher, near Fort Chartres. To these must be added St. Genevieve and St. Louis, on the west side of the Mississippi. These, with the exception of St. Louis, are among the oldest French towns in the Mississippi Valley. Kaskaskia, in its best days, was a town of some two or three thousand inhabitants. After it passed from the crown of France its population for many years did not exceed fifteen hundred. Under British rule, in 1773, the population had decreased to four hundred and fifty. As early as 1721, the Jesuits had established a college and a monastery in Kaskaskia.

Fort Chartres was first built under the direction of the Mississippi Company, in 1718, by M. de Boisbriant, a military officer, under command of Bienville. It stood on the east bank of the Mississippi, about eighteen miles below Kaskaskia, and was for some time the headquarters of the military commandants of the district of Illinois.

In the Centennial Oration of Dr. Fowler, delivered at Philadelphia, by appointment of Gov. Beveridge, we find some interesting facts with regard to the State of Illinois, which we appropriate in this history:

In 1682 Illinois became a possession of the French crown, a dependency of Canada, and a part of Louisiana. In 1765 the English flag was run up on old Fort Chartres, and Illinois was counted among the treasures of Great Britain.

In 1779 it was taken from the English by Col. George Rogers Clark. This man was resolute in nature, wise in council, prudent in policy, bold in action, and heroic in danger. Few men who have figured in the history of America are more deserving than this colonel. Nothing short of first-class ability could have rescued Vincennes and all Illinois from the English. And it is not possible to over-estimate the influence of this achievement upon the republic. In 1779 Illinois became a part of Virginia. It was soon known as Illinois County. In 1784 Virginia ceded all this territory to the general government, to be cut into States, to be republican in form, with "the same right of sovereignty, freedom, and independence as the other States."

In 1787 it was the object of the wisest and ablest legislation found in any merely human records. No man can study the secret history of

and not feel that Providence was guiding with sleepless eye these unborn States. The ordinance that on July 13, 1787, finally became the incorporating act, has a most marvelous history. Jefferson had vainly tried to secure a system of government for the northwestern territory. He was an emancipationist of that day, and favored the exclusion of slavery from the territory Virginia had ceded to the general government; but the South voted him down as often as it came up. In 1787, as late as July 10, an organizing act without the anti-slavery clause was pending. This concession to the South was expected to carry it. Congress was in session in New York City. On July 5, Rev. Dr. Manasseh Cutler, of Massachusetts, came into New York to lobby on the northwestern territory. Everything seemed to fall into his hands. Events were ripe.

The state of the public credit, the growing of Southern prejudice, the basis of his mission, his personal character, all combined to complete one of those sudden and marvelous revolutions of public sentiment that once in five or ten centuries are seen to sweep over a country like the breath of the Almighty. Cutler was a graduate of Yale—received his A.M. from Harvard, and his D.D. from Yale. He had studied and taken degrees in the three learned professions, medicine, law, and divinity. He had thus America's best indorsement. He had published a scientific examination of the plants of New England. His name stood second only to that of Franklin as a scientist in America. He was a courtly gentleman of the old style, a man of commanding presence, and of inviting face. The Southern members said they had never seen such a gentleman in the North. He came representing a company that desired to purchase a tract of land now included in Ohio, for the purpose of planting a colony. It was a speculation. Government money was worth eighteen cents on the dollar. This Massachusetts company had collected enough to purchase 1,500,000 acres of land. Other speculators in New York made Dr. Cutler their agent (lobbyist). On the 12th he represented a demand for 5,500,000 acres. This would reduce the national debt. Jefferson and Virginia were regarded as authority concerning the land Virginia had just ceded. Jefferson's policy wanted to provide for the public credit, and this was a good opportunity to do something.

Massachusetts then owned the territory of Maine, which she was crowding on the market. She was opposed to opening the northwestern region. This fired the zeal of Virginia. The South caught the inspiration, and all exalted Dr. Cutler. The English minister invited him to dine with some of the Southern gentlemen. He was the center of interest.

The entire South rallied round him. Massachusetts could not vote against him, because many of the constituents of her members were interested personally in the western speculation. Thus Cutler, making friends with the South, and, doubtless, using all the arts of the lobby, was enabled to command the situation. True to deeper convictions, he dictated one of the most compact and finished documents of wise statesmanship that has ever adorned any human law book. He borrowed from Jefferson the term "Articles of Compact," which, preceding the federal constitution, rose into the most sacred character. He then followed very closely the constitution of Massachusetts, adopted three years before. Its most marked points were:

1. The exclusion of slavery from the territory forever.
2. Provision for public schools, giving one township for a seminary, and every section numbered 16 in each township; that is, one-thirty-sixth of all the land, for public schools.

3. A provision prohibiting the adoption of any constitution or the enactment of any law that should nullify pre-existing contracts.

Be it forever remembered that this compact declared that "Religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall always be encouraged."

Dr. Cutler planted himself on this platform and would not yield. Giving his unqualified declaration that it was that or nothing—that unless they could make the land desirable they did not want it—he took his horse and buggy, and started for the constitutional convention in Philadelphia. On July 13, 1787, the bill was put upon its passage, and was unanimously adopted, every Southern member voting for it, and only one man, Mr. Yates, of New York, voting against it. But as the States voted as States, Yates lost his vote, and the compact was put beyond repeal.

Thus the great States of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin—a vast empire, the heart of the great valley—were consecrated to freedom, intelligence, and honesty. Thus the great heart of the nation was prepared for a year and a day and an hour. In the light of these eighty-nine years I affirm that this act was the salvation of the republic and the destruction of slavery. Soon the South saw their great blunder, and tried to repeal the compact. In 1803 Congress referred it to a committee of which John Randolph was chairman. He reported that this ordinance was a compact, and opposed repeal. Thus it stood a rock, in the way of the on-rushing sea of slavery.

With all this timely aid it was, after all, a most desperate and protracted struggle to keep the soil of Illinois sacred to freedom. It was the natural battle-field for the irrepressible conflict. In the southern end of the State slavery preceded the compact. It existed among the old French settlers, and was hard to eradicate. The southern part of the State was settled from the slave States, and this population brought their laws, customs, and institutions with them. A stream of population from the North poured into the northern part of the State. These sections misunderstood and hated each other perfectly. The Southerners regarded the Yankees as a skinning, tricky, penurious race of peddlers, filling the country with tinware, brass clocks, and wooden nutmegs. The Northerner thought of the Southerner as a lean, lank, lazy creature, burrowing in a hut, and rioting in whisky, dirt and ignorance. These causes aided in making the struggle long and bitter. So strong was the sympathy with slavery that, in spite of the ordinance of 1787, and in spite of the deed of cession, it was determined to allow the old French settlers to retain their slaves. Planters from the slave States might bring their slaves, if they would give them a chance to choose freedom or years of service and bondage for their children till they should become thirty years of age. If they chose freedom they must leave the State in sixty days or be sold as fugitives. Servants were whipped for offenses for which white men are fined. Each lash paid forty cents of the fine. A negro ten miles from home without a pass was whipped. These famous laws were imported from the slave States just as they imported laws for the inspection of flax and wool when there was neither in the State.

These Black Laws are now wiped out. A vigorous effort was made to protect slavery in the State Constitution of 1817. It barely failed. It was renewed in 1825, when a convention was asked to make a new constitution. After a hard fight the convention was defeated. But slaves did not disappear from the census of the State until 1850. There were mobs and murders in the interest of slavery. Lovejoy was added to the list of martyrs—a sort of first-fruits of that long life of immortal heroes who saw freedom as the one supreme desire of their souls, and were so enamored of her that they preferred to die rather than survive her.

The population of 12,282 that occupied the territory in A.D. 1800, increased to 45,000 in A.D. 1818, when the State Constitution was adopted, and Illinois took her place in the Union, with a star on the flag and two votes in the Senate.

Shadrach Bond was the first Governor, and in his first message he recommended the construction of the Illinois and Michigan Canal.

The simple economy in those days is seen in the fact that the entire bill for stationery for the first Legislature was only $13.50. Yet this simple body actually enacted a very superior code.

There was no money in the territory before the war of 1812. Deer skins and coon skins were the circulating medium. In 1821, the Legislature ordained a State Bank on the credit of the State. It issued notes in the likeness of bank bills. These notes were made a legal tender for every thing, and the bank was ordered to loan to the people $100 on personal security, and more on mortgages. They actually passed a resolution requesting the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States to receive these notes for land. The old French Lieutenant Governor, Col. Menard, put the resolution as follows: "Gentlemen of the Senate: It is moved and seconded dat de notes of dis bank be made land-office money. All in favor of dat motion say aye; all against it say no. It is decided in de affirmative. Now, gentlemen, I bet you one hundred dollar he never be land-office money!" Hard sense, like hard money, is always above par.

This old Frenchman presents a fine figure up against the dark background of most of his nation. They made no progress. They clung to their earliest and simplest implements. They never wore hats or caps.

They pulled their blankets over their heads in the winter like the Indians, with whom they freely intermingled.

Demagogism had an early development. One John Grammar (only in name), elected to the Territorial and State Legislatures of 1816 and 1836, invented the policy of opposing every new thing, saying, "If it succeeds, no one will ask who voted against it. If it proves a failure, he could quote its record." In sharp contrast with Grammar was the character of D. P. Cook, after whom the county containing Chicago was named. Such was his transparent integrity and remarkable ability that his will was almost the law of the State. In Congress, a young man, and from a poor State, he was made Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. He was pre-eminent for standing by his committee, regardless of consequences. It was his integrity that elected John Quincy Adams to the Presidency. There were four candidates in 1824, Jackson, Clay, Crawford, and John Quincy Adams. There being no choice by the people, the election was thrown into the House. It was so balanced that it turned on his vote, and that he cast for Adams, electing him; then went home to face the wrath of the Jackson party in Illinois. It cost him all but character and greatness. It is a suggestive comment on the times, that there was no legal interest till 1830. It often reached 150 per cent., usually 50 per cent. Then it was reduced to 12, and now to 10 per cent.

PHYSICAL FEATURES OF THE PRAIRIE STATE.

In area the State has 55,410 square miles of territory. It is about 150 miles wide and 400 miles long, stretching in latitude from Maine to North Carolina. It embraces wide variety of climate. It is tempered on the north by the great inland, saltless, tideless sea, which keeps the thermometer from either extreme. Being a table land, from 600 to 1,600 feet above the level of the sea, one is prepared to find on the health maps, prepared by the general government, an almost clean and perfect record. In freedom from fever and malarial diseases and consumptions, the three deadly enemies of the American Saxon, Illinois, as a State, stands without a superior. She furnishes one of the essential conditions of a great people—sound bodies. I suspect that this fact lies back of that old Delaware word, Illini, superior men.

The great battles of history that have been determinative of dynasties and destinies have been strategical battles, chiefly the question of position. Thermopylæ has been the war-cry of freemen for twenty-four centuries. It only tells how much there may be in position. All this advantage belongs to Illinois. It is in the heart of the greatest valley in the world, the vast region between the mountains—a valley that could feed mankind for one thousand years. It is well on toward the center of the continent. It is in the great temperate belt, in which have been found nearly all the aggressive civilizations of history. It has sixty-five miles of frontage on the head of the lake. With the Mississippi forming the western and southern boundary, with the Ohio running along the southeastern line, with the Illinois River and Canal dividing the State diagonally from the lake to the Lower Mississippi, and with the Rock and Wabash Rivers furnishing altogether 2,000 miles of water-front, connecting with, and running through, in all about 12,000 miles of navigable water.

But this is not all. These waters are made most available by the fact that the lake and the State lie on the ridge running into the great valley from the east. Within cannon-shot of the lake the water runs away from the lake to the Gulf. The lake now empties at both ends, one into the Atlantic and one into the Gulf of Mexico. The lake thus seems to hang over the land. This makes the dockage most serviceable; there are no steep banks to damage it. Both lake and river are made for use.

The climate varies from Portland to Richmond; it favors every product of the continent, including the tropics, with less than half a dozen exceptions. It produces every great nutriment of the world except bananas and rice. It is hardly too much to say that it is the most productive spot known to civilization. With the soil full of bread and the earth full of minerals; with an upper surface of food and an under layer of fuel; with perfect natural drainage, and abundant springs and streams and navigable rivers; half way between the forests of the North and the fruits of the South; within a day's ride of the great deposits of iron, coal, copper, lead, and zinc; containing and controlling the great grain, cattle, pork, and lumber markets of the world, it is not strange that Illinois has the advantage of position.

This advantage has been supplemented by the character of the population. In the early days when Illinois was first admitted to the Union, her population were chiefly from Kentucky and Virginia. But, in the conflict of ideas concerning slavery, a strong tide of emigration came in from the East, and soon changed this composition. In 1870 her non-native population were from colder soils. New York furnished 133,290; Ohio gave 162,623; Pennsylvania sent on 98,352; the entire South gave us only 206,734. In all her cities, and in all her German and Scandinavian and other foreign colonies, Illinois has only about one-fifth of her people of foreign birth.

PROGRESS OF DEVELOPMENT.

One of the greatest elements in the early development of Illinois is the Illinois and Michigan Canal, connecting the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers with the lakes. It was of the utmost importance to the State. It was recommended by Gov. Bond, the first governor, in his first message. In 1821, the Legislature appropriated $10,000 for surveying the route. Two bright young engineers surveyed it, and estimated the cost at $600,000 or $700,000. It finally cost $8,000,000. In 1825, a law was passed to incorporate the Canal Company, but no stock was sold. In 1826, upon the solicitation of Cook, Congress gave 800,000 acres of land on the line of the work. In 1828, another law—commissioners appointed, and work commenced with new survey and new estimates. In 1834–35, George Farquhar made an able report on the whole matter. This was, doubtless, the ablest report ever made to a western legislature, and it became the model for subsequent reports and action. From this the work went on till it was finished in 1848. It cost the State a large amount of money; but it gave to the industries of the State an impetus that pushed it up into the first rank of greatness. It was not built as a speculation any more than a doctor is employed on a speculation. But it has paid into the Treasury of the State an average annual net sum of over $111,000.

Pending the construction of the canal, the land and town-lot fever broke out in the State, in 1834–35. It took on the malignant type in Chicago, lifting the town up into a city. The disease spread over the entire State and adjoining States. It was epidemic. It cut up men's farms without regard to locality, and cut up the purses of the purchasers without regard to consequences. It is estimated that building lots enough were sold in Indiana alone to accommodate every citizen then in the United States.

Towns and cities were exported to the Eastern market by the ship-load. There was no lack of buyers. Every up-ship came freighted with speculators and their money.

This distemper seized upon the Legislature in 1836–37, and left not one to tell the tale. They enacted a system of internal improvement without a parallel in the grandeur of its conception. They ordered the construction of 1,300 miles of railroad, crossing the State in all directions. This was surpassed by the river and canal improvements. There were a few counties not touched by either railroad or river or canal, and those were to be comforted and compensated by the free distribution of $200,000 among them. To inflate this balloon beyond credence it was ordered that work should be commenced on both ends of each of these railroads and rivers, and at each river-crossing, all at the same time. The appropriations for these vast improvements were over $12,000,000, and commissioners were appointed to borrow the money on the credit of the State. Remember that all this was in the early days of railroading, when railroads were luxuries; that the State had whole counties with scarcely a cabin; and that the population of the State was less than 400,000, and you can form some idea of the vigor with which these brave men undertook the work of making a great State. In the light of history I am compelled to say that this was only a premature throb of the power that actually slumbered in the soil of the State. It was Hercules in the cradle.

At this juncture the State Bank loaned its funds largely to Godfrey Gilman & Co., and to other leading houses, for the purpose of drawing trade from St. Louis to Alton. Soon they failed, and took down the bank with them.

In 1840, all hope seemed gone. A population of 480,000 were loaded with a debt of $14,000,000. It had only six small cities, really only towns, namely: Chicago, Alton, Springfield, Quincy, Galena, Nauvoo. This debt was to be cared for when there was not a dollar in the treasury, and when the State had borrowed itself out of all credit, and when there was not good money enough in the hands of all the people to pay the interest of the debt for a single year. Yet, in the presence of all these difficulties, the young State steadily refused to repudiate. Gov. Ford took hold of the problem and solved it, bringing the State through in triumph.

Having touched lightly upon some of the more distinctive points in the history of the development of Illinois, let us next briefly consider the

MATERIAL RESOURCES OF THE STATE.

It is a garden four hundred miles long and one hundred and fifty miles wide. Its soil is chiefly a black sandy loam, from six inches to sixty feet thick. On the American bottoms it has been cultivated for one hundred and fifty years without renewal. About the old French towns it has yielded corn for a century and a half without rest or help. It produces nearly everything green in the temperate and tropical zones. She leads all other States in the number of acres actually under plow. Her products from 25,000,000 of acres are incalculable. Her mineral wealth is scarcely second to her agricultural power. She has coal, iron, lead, copper, zinc, many varieties of building stone, fire clay, cuma clay, common brick clay, sand of all kinds, gravel, mineral paint—every thing needed for a high civilization. Left to herself, she has the elements of all greatness. The single item of coal is too vast for an appreciative handling in figures. We can handle it in general terms like algebraical signs, but long before we get up into the millions and billions the human mind drops down from comprehension to mere symbolic apprehension.

When I tell you that nearly four-fifths of the entire State is underlaid with a deposit of coal more than forty feet thick on the average (now estimated, by recent surveys, at seventy feet thick), you can get some idea of its amount, as you do of the amount of the national debt. There it is! 41,000 square miles—one vast mine into which you could put any of the States; in which you could bury scores of European and ancient empires, and have room enough all round to work without knowing that they had been sepulchered there.

Put this vast coal-bed down by the other great coal deposits of the world, and its importance becomes manifest. Great Britain has 12,000 square miles of coal; Spain, 3,000; France, 1,719; Belgium, 578; Illinois about twice as many square miles as all combined. Virginia has 20,000 square miles; Pennsylvania, 16,000; Ohio, 12,000. Illinois has 41,000 square miles. One-seventh of all the known coal on this continent is in Illinois.

Could we sell the coal in this single State for one-seventh of one cent a ton it would pay the national debt. Converted into power, even with the wastage in our common engines, it would do more work than could be done by the entire race, beginning at Adam's wedding and working ten hours a day through all the centuries till the present time, and right on into the future at the same rate for the next 600,000 years.

Great Britain uses enough mechanical power to-day to give to each man, woman, and child in the kingdom the help and service of nineteen untiring servants. No wonder she has leisure and luxuries. No wonder the home of the common artisan has in it more luxuries than could be found in the palace of good old King Arthur. Think, if you can conceive of it, of the vast army of servants that slumber in the soil of Illinois, impatiently awaiting the call of Genius to come forth to minister to our comfort.

At the present rate of consumption England's coal supply will be exhausted in 250 years. When this is gone she must transfer her dominion either to the Indies, or to British America, which I would not resist; or to some other people, which I would regret as a loss to civilization.

COAL IS KING.

At the same rate of consumption (which far exceeds our own) the deposit of coal in Illinois will last 120,000 years. And her kingdom shall be an everlasting kingdom.

Let us turn now from this reserve power to the annual products of the State. We shall not be humiliated in this field. Here we strike the secret of our national credit. Nature provides a market in the constant appetite of the race. Men must eat, and if we can furnish the provisions we can command the treasure. All that a man hath will he give for his life.

According to the last census Illinois produced 30,000,000 of bushels of wheat. That is more wheat than was raised by any other State in the Union. She raised last year 130,000,000 of bushels of corn—twice as much as any other State, and one-sixth of all the corn raised in the United States. She harvested 2,747,000 tons of hay, nearly one-tenth of all the hay in the Republic. It is not generally appreciated, but it is true, that the hay crop of the country is worth more than the cotton crop. The hay of Illinois equals the cotton of Louisiana. Go to Charleston, S. C., and see them peddling handfuls of hay or grass, almost as a curiosity, as we regard Chinese gods or the cryolite of Greenland; drink your coffee and condensed milk; and walk back from the coast for many a league through the sand and burs till you get up into the better atmosphere of the mountains, without seeing a waving meadow or a grazing herd; then you will begin to appreciate the meadows of the Prairie State, where the grass often grows sixteen feet high.

The value of her farm implements is $211,000,000, and the value of her live stock is only second to the great State of New York. Last year she had 25,000,000 hogs, and packed 2,113,845, about one-half of all that were packed in the United States. This is no insignificant item. Pork is a growing demand of the old world. Since the laborers of Europe have gotten a taste of our bacon, and we have learned how to pack it dry in boxes, like dry goods, the world has become the market.

The hog is on the march into the future. His nose is ordained to uncover the secrets of dominion, and his feet shall be guided by the star of empire.

Illinois marketed $57,000,000 worth of slaughtered animals—more than any other State, and a seventh of all the States.

Be patient with me, and pardon my pride, and I will give you a list of some of the things in which Illinois excels all other States.

Depth and richness of soil; per cent. of good ground; acres of improved land; large farms—some farms contain from 40,000 to 60,000 acres of cultivated land, 40,000 acres of corn on a single farm; number of farmers; amount of wheat, corn, oats and honey produced; value of animals for slaughter; number of hogs; amount of pork; number of horses—three times as many as Kentucky, the horse State.

Illinois excels all other States in miles of railroads and in miles of postal service, and in money orders sold per annum, and in the amount of lumber sold in her markets.

Illinois is only second in many important matters. This sample list comprises a few of the more important: Permanent school fund (good for a young state); total income for educational purposes; number of publishers of books, maps, papers, etc.; value of farm products and implements, and of live stock; in tons of coal mined.

The shipping of Illinois is only second to New York. Out of one port during the business hours of the season of navigation she sends forth a vessel every ten minutes. This does not include canal boats, which go one every five minutes. No wonder she is only second in number of bankers and brokers or in physicians and surgeons.

She is third in colleges, teachers and schools; cattle, lead, hay, flax, sorghum and beeswax.

She is fourth in population, in children enrolled in public schools, in law schools, in butter, potatoes and carriages.

She is fifth in value of real and personal property, in theological seminaries and colleges exclusively for women, in milk sold, and in boots and shoes manufactured, and in book-binding.

She is only seventh in the production of wood, while she is the twelfth in area. Surely that is well done for the Prairie State. She now has much more wood and growing timber than she had thirty years ago.

A few leading industries will justify emphasis. She manufactures \$205,000,000 worth of goods, which places her well up toward New York and Pennsylvania. The number of her manufacturing establishments increased from 1860 to 1870, 300 per cent.; capital employed increased 350 per cent., and the amount of product increased 400 per cent. She issued 5,500,000 copies of commercial and financial newspapers—only second to New York. She has 6,759 miles of railroad, thus leading all other States, worth \$636,458,000, using 3,245 engines, and 67,712 cars, making a train long enough to cover one-tenth of the entire roads of the State. Her stations are only five miles apart. She carried last year 15,795,000 passengers, an average of  $36\frac{1}{2}$  miles, or equal to taking her entire population twice across the State. More than two-thirds of her land is within five miles of a railroad, and less than two per cent. is more than fifteen miles away.

The State has a large financial interest in the Illinois Central railroad. The road was incorporated in 1850, and the State gave each alternate section for six miles on each side, and doubled the price of the remaining land, so keeping herself good. The road received 2,595,000 acres of land, and pays to the State one-seventh of the gross receipts. The State receives this year $350,000, and has received in all about $7,000,000. It is practically the people's road, and it has a most able and gentlemanly management. Add to this the annual receipts from the canal, $111,000, and a large per cent. of the State tax is provided for.

THE RELIGION AND MORALS

of the State keep step with her productions and growth. She was born of the missionary spirit. It was a minister who secured for her the ordinance of 1787, by which she has been saved from slavery, ignorance, and dishonesty. Rev. Mr. Wiley, pastor of a Scotch congregation in Randolph County, petitioned the Constitutional Convention of 1818 to recognize Jesus Christ as king, and the Scriptures as the only necessary guide and book of law. The convention did not act in the case, and the old Covenanters refused to accept citizenship. They never voted until 1824, when the slavery question was submitted to the people; then they all voted against it and cast the determining votes. Conscience has predominated whenever a great moral question has been submitted to the people.

But little mob violence has ever been felt in the State. In 1817 regulators disposed of a band of horse-thieves that infested the territory. The Mormon indignities finally awoke the same spirit. Alton was also the scene of a pro-slavery mob, in which Lovejoy was added to the list of martyrs. The moral sense of the people makes the law supreme, and gives to the State unruffled peace.

With $22,300,000 in church property, and 4,298 church organizations, the State has that divine police, the sleepless patrol of moral ideas, that alone is able to secure perfect safety. Conscience takes the knife from the assassin's hand and the bludgeon from the grasp of the highwayman. We sleep in safety, not because we are behind bolts and bars—these only fence against the innocent; not because a lone officer drowzes on a distant corner of a street; not because a sheriff may call his posse from a remote part of the county; but because conscience guards the very portals of the air and stirs in the deepest recesses of the public mind. This spirit issues within the State 9,500,000 copies of religious papers annually, and receives still more from without. Thus the crime of the State is only one-fourth that of New York and one-half that of Pennsylvania.

Illinois never had but one duel between her own citizens. In Belleville, in 1820, Alphonso Stewart and William Bennett arranged to vindicate injured honor. The seconds agreed to make it a sham, and make them shoot blanks. Stewart was in the secret. Bennett mistrusted something, and, unobserved, slipped a bullet into his gun and killed Stewart. He then fled the State. After two years he was caught, tried, convicted, and, in spite of friends and political aid, was hung. This fixed the code of honor on a Christian basis, and terminated its use in Illinois.

The early preachers were ignorant men, who were accounted eloquent according to the strength of their voices. But they set the style for all public speakers. Lawyers and political speakers followed this rule. Gov.

Ford says: "Nevertheless, these first preachers were of incalculable benefit to the country. They inculcated justice and morality. To them are we indebted for the first Christian character of the Protestant portion of the people."

In education Illinois surpasses her material resources. The ordinance of 1787 consecrated one thirty-sixth of her soil to common schools, and the law of 1818, the first law that went upon her statutes, gave three per cent. of all the rest to

EDUCATION INSTEAD OF HIGHWAYS.

The old compact secures this interest forever, and by its yoking morality and intelligence it precludes the legal interference with the Bible in the public schools. With such a start it is natural that we should have 11,050 schools, and that our illiteracy should be less than New York or Pennsylvania, and only about one-half of Massachusetts. We are not to blame for not having more than one-half as many idiots as the great States. These public schools soon made colleges inevitable. The first college, still flourishing, was started in Lebanon in 1828, by the M. E. church, and named after Bishop McKendree. Illinois College, at Jacksonville, supported by the Presbyterians, followed in 1830. In 1832 the Baptists built Shurtleff College, at Alton. Then the Presbyterians built Knox College, at Galesburg, in 1838, and the Episcopalians built Jubilee College, at Peoria, in 1847. After these early years colleges have rained down. A settler could hardly encamp on the prairie but a college would spring up by his wagon. The State now has one very well endowed and equipped university, namely, the Northwestern University, at Evanston, with six colleges, ninety instructors, over 1,000 students, and $1,500,000 endowment.

Rev. J. M. Peck was the first educated Protestant minister in the State. He settled at Rock Spring, in St. Clair County, 1820, and left his impress on the State. Before 1837 only party papers were published, but Mr. Peck published a Gazetteer of Illinois. Soon after John Russell, of Bluffdale, published essays and tales showing genius. Judge James Hall published The Illinois Monthly Magazine with great ability, and an annual called The Western Souvenir, which gave him an enviable fame all over the United States. From these beginnings Illinois has gone on till she has more volumes in public libraries even than Massachusetts, and of the 44,500,000 volumes in all the public libraries of the United States, she has one-thirteenth. In newspapers she stands fourth. Her increase is marvelous. In 1850 she issued 5,000,000 copies; in 1860, 27,590,000; in 1870, 113,140,000. In 1860 she had eighteen colleges and seminaries; in 1870 she had eighty. That is a grand advance for the war decade.

This brings us to a record unsurpassed in the history of any age,

THE WAR RECORD OF ILLINOIS.

I hardly know where to begin, or how to advance, or what to say. I can at best give you only a broken synopsis of her deeds, and you must put them in the order of glory for yourself. Her sons have always been foremost on fields of danger. In 1832-33, at the call of Gov. Reynolds, her sons drove Blackhawk over the Mississippi.

When the Mexican war came, in May, 1846, 8,370 men offered themselves when only 3,720 could be accepted. The fields of Buena Vista and Vera Cruz, and the storming of Cerro Gordo, will carry the glory of Illinois soldiers along after the infamy of the cause they served has been forgotten. But it was reserved till our day for her sons to find a field and cause and foemen that could fitly illustrate their spirit and heroism. Illinois put into her own regiments for the United States government 256,000 men, and into the army through other States enough to swell the number to 290,000. This far exceeds all the soldiers of the federal government in all the war of the revolution. Her total years of service were over 600,000. She enrolled men from eighteen to forty-five years of age when the law of Congress in 1864—the test time—only asked for those from twenty to forty-five. Her enrollment was otherwise excessive. Her people wanted to go, and did not take the pains to correct the enrollment. Thus the basis of fixing the quota was too great, and then the quota itself, at least in the trying time, was far above any other State.

Thus the demand on some counties, as Monroe, for example, took every able-bodied man in the county, and then did not have enough to fill the quota. Moreover, Illinois sent 20,844 men for ninety or one hundred days, for whom no credit was asked. When Mr. Lincoln's attention was called to the inequality of the quota compared with other States, he replied, "The country needs the sacrifice. We must put the whip on the free horse." In spite of all these disadvantages Illinois gave to the country 73,000 years of service above all calls. With one-thirteenth of the population of the loyal States, she sent regularly one-tenth of all the soldiers, and in the peril of the closing calls, when patriots were few and weary, she then sent one-eighth of all that were called for by her loved and honored son in the white house. Her mothers and daughters went into the fields to raise the grain and keep the children together, while the fathers and older sons went to the harvest fields of the world. I knew a father and four sons who agreed that one of them must stay at home; and they pulled straws from a stack to see who might go. The father was left. The next day he came into the camp, saying: "Mother says she can get the crops in, and I am going, too." I know large Methodist churches from which every male member went to the army. Do you want to know what these heroes from Illinois did in the field? Ask any soldier with a good record of his own, who is thus able to judge, and he will tell you that the Illinois men went in to win. It is common history that the greater victories were won in the West. When everything else looked dark Illinois was gaining victories all down the river, and dividing the confederacy. Sherman took with him on his great march forty-five regiments of Illinois infantry, three companies of artillery, and one company of cavalry. He could not avoid

GOING TO THE SEA.

If he had been killed, I doubt not the men would have gone right on. Lincoln answered all rumors of Sherman's defeat with, "It is impossible; there is a mighty sight of fight in 100,000 Western men." Illinois soldiers brought home 300 battle-flags. The first United States flag that floated over Richmond was an Illinois flag. She sent messengers and nurses to every field and hospital, to care for her sick and wounded sons. She said, "These suffering ones are my sons, and I will care for them."

When individuals had given all, then cities and towns came forward with their credit to the extent of many millions, to aid these men and their families.

Illinois gave the country the great general of the war—Ulysses S. Grant—since honored with two terms of the Presidency of the United States.

One other name from Illinois comes up in all minds, embalmed in all hearts, that must have the supreme place in this story of our glory and of our nation's honor; that name is Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois.

The analysis of Mr. Lincoln's character is difficult on account of its symmetry.

In this age we look with admiration at his uncompromising honesty. And well we may, for this saved us. Thousands throughout the length and breadth of our country who knew him only as "Honest Old Abe," voted for him on that account; and wisely did they choose, for no other man could have carried us through the fearful night of the war. When his plans were too vast for our comprehension, and his faith in the cause too sublime for our participation; when it was all night about us, and all dread before us, and all sad and desolate behind us; when not one ray shone upon our cause; when traitors were haughty and exultant at the South, and fierce and blasphemous at the North; when the loyal men here seemed almost in the minority; when the stoutest heart quailed, the bravest cheek paled; when generals were defeating each other for place, and contractors were leeching out the very heart's blood of the prostrate republic: when every thing else had failed us, we looked at this calm, patient man standing like a rock in the storm, and said: "Mr. Lincoln is honest, and we can trust him still." Holding to this single point with the energy of faith and despair we held together, and, under God, he brought us through to victory.

His practical wisdom made him the wonder of all lands. With such certainty did Mr. Lincoln follow causes to their ultimate effects, that his foresight of contingencies seemed almost prophetic.

He is radiant with all the great virtues, and his memory shall shed a glory upon this age that shall fill the eyes of men as they look into history. Other men have excelled him in some point, but, taken at all points, all in all, he stands head and shoulders above every other man of 6,000 years. An administrator, he saved the nation in the perils of unparalleled civil war. A statesman, he justified his measures by their success. A philanthropist, he gave liberty to one race and salvation to another. A moralist, he bowed from the summit of human power to the foot of the Cross, and became a Christian. A mediator, he exercised mercy under the most absolute abeyance to law. A leader, he was no partisan. A commander, he was untainted with blood. A ruler in desperate times, he was unsullied with crime. A man, he has left no word of passion, no thought of malice, no trick of craft, no act of jealousy, no purpose of selfish ambition. Thus perfected, without a model, and without a peer, he was dropped into these troubled years to adorn and embellish all that is good and all that is great in our humanity, and to present to all coming time the representative of the divine idea of free government.

It is not too much to say that away down in the future, when the republic has fallen from its niche in the wall of time; when the great war itself shall have faded out in the distance like a mist on the horizon; when the Anglo-Saxon language shall be spoken only by the tongue of the stranger; then the generations looking this way shall see the great president as the supreme figure in this vortex of history.

CHICAGO.

It is impossible in our brief space to give more than a meager sketch of such a city as Chicago, which is in itself the greatest marvel of the Prairie State. This mysterious, majestic, mighty city, born first of water, and next of fire; sown in weakness, and raised in power; planted among the willows of the marsh, and crowned with the glory of the mountains; sleeping on the bosom of the prairie, and rocked on the bosom of the sea; the youngest city of the world, and still the eye of the prairie, as Damascus, the oldest city of the world, is the eye of the desert. With a commerce far exceeding that of Corinth on her isthmus, in the highway to the East; with the defenses of a continent piled around her by the thousand miles, making her far safer than Rome on the banks of the Tiber; with schools eclipsing Alexandria and Athens; with liberties more conspicuous than those of the old republics; with a heroism equal to the first Carthage, and with a sanctity scarcely second to that of Jerusalem—set your thoughts on all this, lifted into the eyes of all men by the miracle of its growth, illuminated by the flame of its fall, and transfigured by the divinity of its resurrection, and you will feel, as I do, the utter impossibility of compassing this subject as it deserves. Some impression of her importance is received from the shock her burning gave to the civilized world.

When the doubt of her calamity was removed, and the horrid fact was accepted, there went a shudder over all cities, and a quiver over all lands. There was scarcely a town in the civilized world that did not shake on the brink of this opening chasm. The flames of our homes reddened all skies. The city was set upon a hill, and could not be hid. All eyes were turned upon it. To have struggled and suffered amid the scenes of its fall is as distinguishing as to have fought at Thermopylæ, or Salamis, or Hastings, or Waterloo, or Bunker Hill.

Its calamity amazed the world, because it was felt to be the common property of mankind.

The early history of the city is full of interest, just as the early history of such a man as Washington or Lincoln becomes public property, and is cherished by every patriot.

Starting with 560 acres in 1833, it embraced and occupied 23,000 acres in 1869, and, having now a population of more than 500,000, it commands general attention.

The first settler—Jean Baptiste Pointe au Sable, a mulatto from the West Indies—came and began trade with the Indians in 1796. John Kinzie became his successor in 1804, in which year Fort Dearborn was erected.

A mere trading-post was kept here from that time till about the time of the Blackhawk war, in 1832. It was not the city. It was merely a cock crowing at midnight. The morning was not yet. In 1833 the settlement about the fort was incorporated as a town. The voters were divided on the propriety of such corporation, twelve voting for it and one against it. Four years later it was incorporated as a city, and embraced 560 acres.

The produce handled in this city is an indication of its power. Grain and flour were imported from the East till as late as 1837. The first exportation by way of experiment was in 1839. Exports exceeded imports first in 1842. The Board of Trade was organized in 1848, but it was so weak that it needed nursing till 1855. Grain was purchased by the wagon-load in the street.

I remember sitting with my father on a load of wheat, in the long line of wagons along Lake street, while the buyers came and untied the bags, and examined the grain, and made their bids. That manner of business had to cease with the day of small things. Now our elevators will hold 15,000,000 bushels of grain. The cash value of the produce handled in a year is $215,000,000, and the produce weighs 7,000,000 tons or 700,000 car loads. This handles thirteen and a half ton each minute, all the year round. One tenth of all the wheat in the United States is handled in Chicago. Even as long ago as 1853 the receipts of grain in Chicago exceeded those of the goodly city of St. Louis, and in 1854 the exports of grain from Chicago exceeded those of New York and doubled those of St. Petersburg, Archangel, or Odessa, the largest grain markets in Europe.

The manufacturing interests of the city are not contemptible. In 1873 manufactories employed 45,000 operatives; in 1876, 60,000. The manufactured product in 1875 was worth $177,000,000.

No estimate of the size and power of Chicago would be adequate that did not put large emphasis on the railroads. Before they came thundering along our streets canals were the hope of our country. But who ever thinks now of traveling by canal packets? In June, 1852, there were only forty miles of railroad connected with the city. The old Galena division of the Northwestern ran out to Elgin. But now, who can count the trains and measure the roads that seek a terminus or connection in this city? The lake stretches away to the north, gathering in to this center all the harvests that might otherwise pass to the north of us. If you will take a map and look at the adjustment of railroads, you will see, first, that Chicago is the great railroad center of the world, as New York is the commercial city of this continent; and, second, that the railroad lines form the iron spokes of a great wheel whose hub is this city. The lake furnishes the only break in the spokes, and this seems simply to have pushed a few spokes together on each shore. See the eighteen trunk lines, exclusive of eastern connections.

Pass round the circle, and view their numbers and extent. There is the great Northwestern, with all its branches, one branch creeping along the lake shore, and so reaching to the north, into the Lake Superior regions, away to the right, and on to the Northern Pacific on the left, swinging around Green Bay for iron and copper and silver, twelve months in the year, and reaching out for the wealth of the great agricultural belt and isothermal line traversed by the Northern Pacific. Another branch, not so far north, feeling for the heart of the Badger State. Another pushing lower down the Mississippi—all these make many connections, and tapping all the vast wheat regions of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and all the regions this side of sunset. There is that elegant road, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, running out a goodly number of branches, and reaping the great fields this side of the Missouri River. I can only mention the Chicago, Alton & St. Louis, our Illinois Central, described elsewhere, and the Chicago & Rock Island. Further around we come to the lines connecting us with all the eastern cities. The Chicago, Indianapolis & St. Louis, the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, and the Michigan Central and Great Western, give us many highways to the seaboard. Thus we reach the Mississippi at five points, from St. Paul to Cairo and the Gulf itself by two routes. We also reach Cincinnati and Baltimore, and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, and New York. North and south run the water courses of the lakes and the rivers, broken just enough at this point to make a pass. Through this, from east to west, run the long lines that stretch from ocean to ocean.

This is the neck of the glass, and the golden sands of commerce must pass into our hands. Altogether we have more than 10,000 miles of railroad, directly tributary to this city, seeking to unload their wealth in our coffers. All these roads have come themselves by the infallible instinct of capital. Not a dollar was ever given by the city to secure one of them, and only a small per cent. of stock taken originally by her citizens, and that taken simply as an investment. Coming in the natural order of events, they will not be easily diverted.

There is still another showing to all this. The connection between New York and San Francisco is by the middle route. This passes inevitably through Chicago. St. Louis wants the Southern Pacific or Kansas Pacific, and pushes it out through Denver, and so on up to Cheyenne. But before the road is fairly under way, the Chicago roads shove out to Kansas City, making even the Kansas Pacific a feeder, and actually leaving St. Louis out in the cold. It is not too much to expect that Dakota, Montana, and Washington Territory will find their great market in Chicago.

But these are not all. Perhaps I had better notice here the ten or fifteen new roads that have just entered, or are just entering, our city. Their names are all that is necessary to give. Chicago & St. Paul, looking up the Red River country to the British possessions; the Chicago, Atlantic & Pacific; the Chicago, Decatur & State Line; the Baltimore & Ohio; the Chicago, Danville & Vincennes; the Chicago & LaSalle Railroad; the Chicago, Pittsburgh & Cincinnati; the Chicago and Canada Southern; the Chicago and Illinois River Railroad. These, with their connections, and with the new connections of the old roads, already in process of erection, give to Chicago not less than 10,000 miles of new tributaries from the richest land on the continent. Thus there will be added to the reserve power, to the capital within reach of this city, not less than $1,000,000,000.

Add to all this transporting power the ships that sail one every nine minutes of the business hours of the season of navigation; add, also, the canal boats that leave one every five minutes during the same time—and you will see something of the business of the city.

THE COMMERCE OF THIS CITY

has been leaping along to keep pace with the growth of the country around us. In 1852, our commerce reached the hopeful sum of $20,000,000. In 1870 it reached $400,000,000. In 1871 it was pushed up above $450,000,000. And in 1875 it touched nearly double that.

One-half of our imported goods come directly to Chicago. Grain enough is exported directly from our docks to the old world to employ a semi-weekly line of steamers of 3,000 tons capacity. This branch is not likely to be greatly developed. Even after the great Welland Canal is completed we shall have only fourteen feet of water. The great ocean vessels will continue to control the trade.

The banking capital of Chicago is $24,431,000. Total exchange in 1875, $659,000,000. Her wholesale business in 1875 was $294,000,000. The rate of taxes is less than in any other great city.

The schools of Chicago are unsurpassed in America. Out of a population of 300,000 there were only 186 persons between the ages of six and twenty-one unable to read. This is the best known record.

In 1831 the mail system was condensed into a half-breed, who went on foot to Niles, Mich., once in two weeks, and brought back what papers and news he could find. As late as 1846 there was often only one mail a week. A post-office was established in Chicago in 1833, and the post-master nailed up old boot-legs on one side of his shop to serve as boxes for the nabobs and literary men.

It is an interesting fact in the growth of the young city that in the active life of the business men of that day the mail matter has grown to a daily average of over 6,500 pounds. It speaks equally well for the intelligence of the people and the commercial importance of the place, that the mail matter distributed to the territory immediately tributary to Chicago is seven times greater than that distributed to the territory immediately tributary to St. Louis.

The improvements that have characterized the city are as startling as the city itself. In 1831, Mark Beaubien established a ferry over the river, and put himself under bonds to carry all the citizens free for the privilege of charging strangers. Now there are twenty-four large bridges and two tunnels.

In 1833 the government expended $30,000 on the harbor. Then commenced that series of manœuvres with the river that has made it one of the world's curiosities. It used to wind around in the lower end of the town, and make its way rippling over the sand into the lake at the foot of Madison street. They took it up and put it down where it now is. It was a narrow stream, so narrow that even moderately small crafts had to go up through the willows and cat's tails to the point near Lake street bridge, and back up one of the branches to get room enough in which to turn around.

In 1844 the quagmires in the streets were first pontooned by plank roads, which acted in wet weather as public squirt-guns. Keeping you out of the mud, they compromised by squirting the mud over you. The wooden-block pavements came to Chicago in 1857. In 1840 water was delivered by peddlers in carts or by hand. Then a twenty-five horse-power engine pushed it through hollow or bored logs along the streets till 1854, when it was introduced into the houses by new works. The first fire-engine was used in 1835, and the first steam fire-engine in 1859. Gas was utilized for lighting the city in 1850. The Young Men's Christian Association was organized in 1858, and horse railroads carried them to their work in 1859. The museum was opened in 1863. The alarm telegraph adopted in 1864. The opera-house built in 1865. The city grew from 560 acres in 1833 to 23,000 in 1869. In 1834, the taxes amounted to $48.90, and the trustees of the town borrowed $60 more for opening and improving streets. In 1835, the legislature authorized a loan of $2,000, and the treasurer and street commissioners resigned rather than plunge the town into such a gulf.

Now the city embraces 36 square miles of territory, and has 30 miles of water front, besides the outside harbor of refuge, of 400 acres, inclosed by a crib sea-wall. One-third of the city has been raised up an average of eight feet, giving good pitch to the 263 miles of sewerage. The water of the city is above all competition. It is received through two tunnels extending to a crib in the lake two miles from shore. The closest analysis fails to detect any impurities, and, received 35 feet below the surface, it is always clear and cold. The first tunnel is five feet two inches in diameter and two miles long, and can deliver 50,000,000 of gallons per day. The second tunnel is seven feet in diameter and six miles long, running four miles under the city, and can deliver 100,000,000 of gallons per day. This water is distributed through 410 miles of water-mains.

The three grand engineering exploits of the city are: First, lifting the city up on jack-screws, whole squares at a time, without interrupting the business, thus giving us good drainage; second, running the tunnels under the lake, giving us the best water in the world; and third, the turning the current of the river in its own channel, delivering us from the old abominations, and making decency possible. They redound about equally to the credit of the engineering, to the energy of the people, and to the health of the city.

That which really constitutes the city, its indescribable spirit, its soul, the way it lights up in every feature in the hour of action, has not been touched. In meeting strangers, one is often surprised how some homely women marry so well. Their forms are bad, their gait uneven and awkward, their complexion is dull, their features are misshapen and mismatched, and when we see them there is no beauty that we should desire them. But when once they are aroused on some subject, they put on new proportions. They light up into great power. The real person comes out from its unseemly ambush, and captures us at will. They have power. They have ability to cause things to come to pass. We no longer wonder why they are in such high demand. So it is with our city.

There is no grand scenery except the two seas, one of water, the other of prairie. Nevertheless, there is a spirit about it, a push, a breadth, a power, that soon makes it a place never to be forsaken. One soon ceases to believe in impossibilities. Balaams are the only prophets that are disappointed. The bottom that has been on the point of falling out has been there so long that it has grown fast. It can not fall out. It has all the capital of the world itching to get inside the corporation.

The two great laws that govern the growth and size of cities are, first, the amount of territory for which they are the distributing and receiving points; second, the number of medium or moderate dealers that do this distributing. Monopolists build up themselves, not the cities. They neither eat, wear, nor live in proportion to their business. Both these laws help Chicago.

The tide of trade is eastward—not up or down the map, but across the map. The lake runs up a wingdam for 500 miles to gather in the business. Commerce can not ferry up there for seven months in the year, and the facilities for seven months can do the work for twelve. Then the great region west of us is nearly all good, productive land. Dropping south into the trail of St. Louis, you fall into vast deserts and rocky districts, useful in holding the world together. St. Louis and Cincinnati, instead of rivaling and hurting Chicago, are her greatest sureties of dominion. They are far enough away to give sea-room,—farther off than Paris is from London,—and yet they are near enough to prevent the springing up of any other great city between them.

St. Louis will be helped by the opening of the Mississippi, but also hurt. That will put New Orleans on her feet, and with a railroad running over into Texas and so West, she will tap the streams that now crawl up the Texas and Missouri road. The current is East, not North, and a seaport at New Orleans can not permanently help St. Louis.

Chicago is in the field almost alone, to handle the wealth of one-fourth of the territory of this great republic. This strip of seacoast divides its margins between Portland, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Savannah, or some other great port to be created for the South in the next decade. But Chicago has a dozen empires casting their treasures into her lap. On a bed of coal that can run all the machinery of the world for 500 centuries; in a garden that can feed the race by the thousand years; at the head of the lakes that give her a temperature as a summer resort equaled by no great city in the land; with a climate that insures the health of her citizens; surrounded by all the great deposits of natural wealth in mines and forests and herds, Chicago is the wonder of to-day, and will be the city of the future.

MASSACRE AT FORT DEARBORN.

During the war of 1812, Fort Dearborn became the theater of stirring events. The garrison consisted of fifty-four men under command of Captain Nathan Heald, assisted by Lieutenant Helm (son-in-law of Mrs. Kinzie) and Ensign Ronan. Dr. Voorhees was surgeon. The only residents at the post at that time were the wives of Captain Heald and Lieutenant Helm, and a few of the soldiers, Mr. Kinzie and his family, and a few Canadian voyageurs, with their wives and children. The soldiers and Mr. Kinzie were on most friendly terms with the Pottawattamies and Winnebagos, the principal tribes around them, but they could not win them from their attachment to the British.

One evening in April, 1812, Mr. Kinzie sat playing on his violin and his children were dancing to the music, when Mrs. Kinzie came rushing into the house, pale with terror, and exclaiming: "The Indians! the Indians!" "What? Where?" eagerly inquired Mr. Kinzie. "Up at Lee's, killing and scalping," answered the frightened mother, who, when the alarm was given, was attending Mrs. Barnes (just confined) living not far off. Mr. Kinzie and his family crossed the river and took refuge in the fort, to which place Mrs. Barnes and her infant not a day old were safely conveyed. The rest of the inhabitants took shelter in the fort. This alarm was caused by a scalping party of Winnebagos, who hovered about the fort several days, when they disappeared, and for several weeks the inhabitants were undisturbed.

On the 7th of August, 1812, General Hull, at Detroit, sent orders to Captain Heald to evacuate Fort Dearborn, and to distribute all the United States property to the Indians in the neighborhood—a most insane order. The Pottawattamie chief, who brought the dispatch, had more wisdom than the commanding general. He advised Captain Heald not to make the distribution. Said he: "Leave the fort and stores as they are, and let the Indians make distribution for themselves; and while they are engaged in the business, the white people may escape to Fort Wayne."

Captain Heald held a council with the Indians on the afternoon of the 12th, in which his officers refused to join, for they had been informed that treachery was designed—that the Indians intended to murder the white people in the council, and then destroy those in the fort. Captain Heald, however, took the precaution to open a port-hole displaying a cannon pointing directly upon the council, and by that means saved his life.

Mr. Kinzie, who knew the Indians well, begged Captain Heald not to confide in their promises, nor distribute the arms and munitions among them, for it would only put power into their hands to destroy the whites. Acting upon this advice, Heald resolved to withhold the munitions of war; and on the night of the 13th, after the distribution of the other property had been made, the powder, ball and liquors were thrown into the river, the muskets broken up and destroyed.

Black Partridge, a friendly chief, came to Captain Heald, and said: "Linden birds have been singing in my ears to-day: be careful on the march you are going to take." On that dark night vigilant Indians had crept near the fort and discovered the destruction of their promised booty going on within. The next morning the powder was seen floating on the surface of the river. The savages were exasperated and made loud complaints and threats.

On the following day when preparations were making to leave the fort, and all the inmates were deeply impressed with a sense of impending danger, Capt. Wells, an uncle of Mrs. Heald, was discovered upon the Indian trail among the sand-hills on the borders of the lake, not far distant, with a band of mounted Miamis, of whose tribe he was chief, having been adopted by the famous Miami warrior, Little Turtle. When news of Hull's surrender reached Fort Wayne, he had started with this force to assist Heald in defending Fort Dearborn. He was too late. Every means for its defense had been destroyed the night before, and arrangements were made for leaving the fort on the morning of the 15th.

It was a warm bright morning in the middle of August. Indications were positive that the savages intended to murder the white people; and when they moved out of the southern gate of the fort, the march was like a funeral procession. The band, feeling the solemnity of the occasion, struck up the Dead March in Saul.

Capt. Wells, who had blackened his face with gun-powder in token of his fate, took the lead with his band of Miamis, followed by Capt. Heald, with his wife by his side on horseback. Mr. Kinzie hoped by his personal influence to avert the impending blow, and therefore accompanied them, leaving his family in a boat in charge of a friendly Indian, to be taken to his trading station at the site of Niles, Michigan, in the event of his death.

The procession moved slowly along the lake shore till they reached the sand-hills between the prairie and the beach, when the Pottawattamie escort, under the leadership of Blackbird, filed to the right, placing those hills between them and the white people. Wells, with his Miamis, had kept in the advance. They suddenly came rushing back, Wells exclaiming, "They are about to attack us; form instantly." These words were quickly followed by a storm of bullets, which came whistling over the little hills which the treacherous savages had made the covert for their murderous attack. The white troops charged upon the Indians, drove them back to the prairie, and then the battle was waged between fifty-four soldiers, twelve civilians and three or four women (the cowardly Miamis having fled at the outset) against five hundred Indian warriors. The white people, hopeless, resolved to sell their lives as dearly as possible. Ensign Ronan wielded his weapon vigorously, even after falling upon his knees weak from the loss of blood. Capt. Wells, who was by the side of his niece, Mrs. Heald, when the conflict began, behaved with the greatest coolness and courage. He said to her, "We have not the slightest chance for life. We must part to meet no more in this world. God bless you." And then he dashed forward. Seeing a young warrior, painted like a demon, climb into a wagon in which were twelve children, and tomahawk them all, he cried out, unmindful of his personal danger, "If that is your game, butchering women and children, I will kill too." He spurred his horse towards the Indian camp, where they had left their squaws and paposes, hotly pursued by swift-footed young warriors, who sent bullets whistling after him. One of these killed his horse and wounded him severely in the leg. With a yell the young braves rushed to make him their prisoner and reserve him for torture. He resolved not to be made a captive, and by the use of the most provoking epithets tried to induce them to kill him instantly. He called a fiery young chief a squaw, when the enraged warrior killed Wells instantly with his tomahawk, jumped upon his body, cut out his heart, and ate a portion of the warm morsel with savage delight!

In this fearful combat women bore a conspicuous part. Mrs. Heald was an excellent equestrian and an expert in the use of the rifle. She fought the savages bravely, receiving several severe wounds. Though faint from the loss of blood, she managed to keep her saddle. A savage raised his tomahawk to kill her, when she looked him full in the face, and with a sweet smile and in a gentle voice said, in his own language, "Surely you will not kill a squaw!" The arm of the savage fell, and the life of the heroic woman was saved.

Mrs. Helm, the step-daughter of Mr. Kinzie, had an encounter with a stout Indian, who attempted to tomahawk her. Springing to one side, she received the glancing blow on her shoulder, and at the same instant seized the savage round the neck with her arms and endeavored to get hold of his scalping knife, which hung in a sheath at his breast. While she was thus struggling she was dragged from her antagonist by another powerful Indian, who bore her, in spite of her struggles, to the margin of the lake and plunged her in. To her astonishment she was held by him so that she would not drown, and she soon perceived that she was in the hands of the friendly Black Partridge, who had saved her life.

The wife of Sergeant Holt, a large and powerful woman, behaved as bravely as an Amazon. She rode a fine, high-spirited horse, which the Indians coveted, and several of them attacked her with the butts of their guns, for the purpose of dismounting her; but she used the sword which she had snatched from her disabled husband so skillfully that she foiled them; and, suddenly wheeling her horse, she dashed over the prairie, followed by the savages shouting, "The brave woman! the brave woman! Don't hurt her!" They finally overtook her, and while she was fighting them in front, a powerful savage came up behind her, seized her by the neck and dragged her to the ground. Horse and woman were made captives. Mrs. Holt was a long time a captive among the Indians, but was afterwards ransomed.

In this sharp conflict two-thirds of the white people were slain and wounded, and all their horses, baggage and provision were lost. Only twenty-eight straggling men now remained to fight five hundred Indians rendered furious by the sight of blood. They succeeded in breaking through the ranks of the murderers and gaining a slight eminence on the prairie near the Oak Woods. The Indians did not pursue, but gathered on their flanks, while the chiefs held a consultation on the sand-hills, and showed signs of willingness to parley. It would have been madness on the part of the whites to renew the fight; and so Capt. Heald went forward and met Blackbird on the open prairie, where terms of surrender were soon agreed upon. It was arranged that the white people should give up their arms to Blackbird, and that the survivors should become prisoners of war, to be exchanged for ransoms as soon as practicable. With this understanding captives and captors started for the Indian camp near the fort, to which Mrs. Helm had been taken bleeding and suffering by Black Partridge, and had met her step-father and learned that her husband was safe.

A new scene of horror was now opened at the Indian camp. The wounded, not being included in the terms of surrender, as it was interpreted by the Indians, and the British general, Proctor, having offered a liberal bounty for American scalps, delivered at Malden, nearly all the wounded men were killed and scalped, and the price of the trophies was afterwards paid by the British government.

First. To his or her children and their descendants in equal parts; the descendants of the deceased child or grandchild, taking the share of their deceased parents in equal parts among them.

Second. When there is no child of the intestate, nor descendant of such child, and no widow or surviving husband, then to the parents, brothers or sisters of the deceased, and their descendants, in equal parts among them, allowing to each of the parents, if living, a child's part, or to the survivor of them if one be dead, a double portion; and if there is no parent living, then to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, and their descendants.

Third. When there is a widow or surviving husband, and no child or children, or descendants of a child or children of the intestate, then (after the payment of all just debts) one-half of the real estate and the whole of the personal estate shall descend to such widow or surviving husband as an absolute estate forever.

Fourth. When there is a widow or surviving husband, and also a child or children, or descendants of such child or children of the intestate, the widow or surviving husband shall receive as his or her absolute personal estate, one-third of all the personal estate of the intestate.

Fifth. If there is no child of the intestate, or descendant of such child, and no parent, brother or sister, or descendant of such parent, brother or sister, and no widow or surviving husband, then such estate shall descend in equal parts to the next of kin to the intestate, in equal degree (computing by the rules of the civil law), and there shall be no representation among collaterals, except with the descendants of brothers and sisters of the intestate; and in no case shall there be any distinction between the kindred of the whole and the half blood.

Sixth. If any intestate leaves a widow or surviving husband and no kindred, his or her estate shall descend to such widow or surviving husband.

WILLS AND ESTATES OF DECEASED PERSONS.

No exact form of words are necessary in order to make a will good at law. Every male person of the age of twenty-one years, and every female of the age of eighteen years, of sound mind and memory, can make a valid will; it must be in writing, signed by the testator or by some one in his or her presence and by his or her direction, and attested by two or more credible witnesses. Children may be adopted by any resident of this state, by filing a petition in the Circuit or County Court of the county in which he resides, asking leave to do so, and if desired may ask that the name of the child be changed. Such petition, if made by a person having a husband or wife, will not be granted, unless the husband or wife joins therein, as the adoption must be by them jointly.

The petition shall state name, sex, and age of the child, and the new name, if it is desired to change the name. Also the name and residence of the parents of the child, if known, and of the guardian, if any, and whether the parents or guardians consent to the adoption.

If the child is of the age of fourteen years or upwards, the adoption can not be made without its consent.

SURVEYORS AND SURVEYS.

There is in every county elected a surveyor known as county surveyor, who has power to appoint deputies, for whose official acts he is responsible. It is the duty of the county surveyor, either by himself or his deputy, to make all surveys that he may be called upon to make within his county as soon as may be after application is made. The necessary chainmen and other assistance must be employed by the person requiring the same to be done, and to be by him paid, unless otherwise agreed; but the chainmen must be disinterested persons and approved by the surveyor and sworn by him to measure justly and impartially.

The County Board in each county is required by law to provide a copy of the United States field notes and plats of their surveys of the lands in the county to be kept in the recorder's office subject to examination by the public, and the county surveyor is required to make his surveys in conformity to said notes, plats and the laws of the United States governing such matters. The surveyor is also required to keep a record of all surveys made by him, which shall be subject to inspection by any one interested, and shall be delivered up to his successor in office. A certified copy of the said surveyor's record shall be prima facie evidence of its contents.

The fees of county surveyors are six dollars per day. The county surveyor is also ex officio inspector of mines, and as such, assisted by some practical miner selected by him, shall once each year inspect all the mines in the county, for which they shall each receive such compensation as may be fixed by the County Board, not exceeding $5 a day, to be paid out of the county treasury.

ROADS.

Where practicable from the nature of the ground, persons traveling in any kind of vehicle, must turn to the right of the center of the road, so as to permit each carriage to pass without interfering with each other. The penalty for a violation of this provision is $5 for every offense, to be recovered by the party injured; but to recover, there must have occurred some injury to person or property resulting from the violation. The owners of any carriage traveling upon any road in this State for the conveyance of passengers who shall employ or continue in his employment as driver any person who is addicted to drunkenness, or the excessive use of spiritous liquors, after he has had notice of the same, shall forfeit, at the rate of $5 per day, and if any driver while actually engaged in driving any such carriage, shall be guilty of intoxication to such a degree as to endanger the safety of passengers, it shall be the duty of the owner, on receiving written notice of the fact, signed by one of the passengers, and certified by him on oath, forthwith to discharge such driver. If such owner shall have such driver in his employ within three months after such notice, he is liable for $5 per day for the time he shall keep said driver in his employment after receiving such notice.

Persons driving any carriage on any public highway are prohibited from running their horses upon any occasion under a penalty of a fine not exceeding $10, or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days, at the discretion of the court. Horses attached to any carriage used to convey passengers for hire must be properly hitched or the lines placed in the hands of some other person before the driver leaves them for any purpose. For violation of this provision each driver shall forfeit twenty dollars, to be recovered by action, to be commenced within six months. It is understood by the term carriage herein to mean any carriage or vehicle used for the transportation of passengers or goods or either of them.

The commissioners of highways in the different towns have the care and superintendence of highways and bridges therein. They have all the powers necessary to lay out, vacate, regulate and repair all roads, build and repair bridges, divide their respective towns into as many road districts as they shall think convenient. This is to be done annually, and ten days before the annual town meeting. In addition to the above, it is their duty to erect and keep in repair at the forks or crossing-place of the most important roads post and guide boards with plain inscriptions, giving directions and distances to the most noted places to which such road may lead; also to make provisions to prevent thistles, burdock, and cockle burrs, mustard, yellow dock, Indian mallow, and jessamine weed from seeding, and to extirpate the same as far as practicable, and to prevent all rank growth of vegetation on the public highways, so far as the same may obstruct public travel, and it is in their discretion to erect watering places for public use for watering teams at such points as may be deemed advisable. Every able-bodied male inhabitant, being above the age of twenty-one years, and under the age of fifty, excepting paupers, idiots, lunatics, trustees of schools and school directors, and such others as are exempt by law, is required to labor on highways in their respective road districts, not less than one or more than three days in each and every year. Three days' notice must be given by the overseer of the time and place he requires such road labor to be done. The labor must be performed in the road district in which the person resides. Any person may commute for such labor by paying at the rate of $1.50 per day, if done within the three days' notice, but after that time the rate is $2 per day.

Any person liable for work on highways who has been assessed two days or more and has not commuted, may be required to furnish team, or a cart, wagon or plow, with a pair of horses or oxen and a man to manage them, for which he will be entitled to two days for each day's work. Eight hours is a day's work on the roads, and there is a penalty of twenty-five cents an hour against any person or substitute who shall neglect or refuse to perform. Any person remaining idle, or does not work faithfully or hinders others from doing so, forfeits to the town $2.

Every person assessed and duly notified, who has not commuted and refuses or neglects to appear, shall forfeit to the town for every day's refusal or neglect, the sum of $2; if he was required to furnish a team, carriage, man or implement, and neglects or refuses to comply, he is liable to the following fines:

First. For wholly failing to comply, $4 each day.

Second. For omitting to furnish a pair of horses or oxen, $1.50 each day.

Third. For omitting to furnish a man to manage team, $2 each day.

Fourth. For omitting to furnish a wagon, cart or plow, 75 cents each day.

The Commissioners estimate and assess the highway labor and road tax. The road tax on real and personal property can not exceed forty cents on each hundred dollars' worth. The labor or road tax in villages, towns or cities, is paid over to the corporate authorities of such, for the improvement of streets, roads and bridges within their limits. Commissioners' compensation $1.50 per day. The Treasurer, who is one of their number, is entitled to 2 per cent. on all moneys he may receive and pay out.

Overseers. Their duties are to repair and keep in order the highways in their districts; to warn persons to work out their road tax at such time and place as they think proper; to collect fines and commutation money, and execute all lawful orders of the Commissioners of Highways; also make list, within sixteen days after their election, of the names of all inhabitants in his road district liable to work on highways. For refusal to perform any of his duties, he is liable to a fine of $10. The compensation of overseers is $1.50 a day, the number of days to be audited by the Highway Commissioners.

As all township and county officers are familiar with their duties, it is only intended to give the points of the law that the public should be familiar with. The manner of laying out, altering or vacating roads, etc., will not be here stated, as it would require more space than is contemplated in a work of this kind. It is sufficient to state that, the first step is by petition, addressed to the Commissioners, setting out what is prayed for, giving the names of the owners of lands if known, if not known so state, over which the road is to pass, giving the general course, its place of beginning, and where it terminates. It requires not less than twelve freeholders residing within three miles of the road who shall sign the petition. Public roads must not be less than fifty feet wide, nor more than sixty feet wide. Roads not exceeding two miles in length, if petitioned for, may be laid out, not less than forty feet. Private roads for private and public use, may be laid out of the width of three rods, on petition of the person directly interested; the damage occasioned thereby shall be paid by the premises benefited thereby, and before the road is opened. If not opened in two years, the order shall be considered rescinded. Commissioners in their discretion may permit persons who live on or have private roads, to work out their road tax thereon. Public roads must be opened in five days from date of filing order of location, or be deemed vacated.

DRAINAGE.

Whenever one or more owners or occupants of land desire to construct a drain or ditch across the land of others for agricultural or sanitary purposes, the proceedings are as follows:

1st. File a petition with the clerk of the town board of auditors in counties where there is township organization, or in counties not so organized with the clerk of the County Court, stating the necessity of the same, its starting point, route and terminus ; and if it shall be deemed necessary for successful drainage that a levee or other work be constructed, a general description of the same shall be made.

2d. After filing, two weeks' notice must be given by posting notices in three of the most public places in such township through which the drain, ditch or other work is proposed to be constructed ; and also, by publishing a copy thereof in some newspaper published in the county in which petition is filed, at least once each week for two successive weeks. The notice must state when and before what board such petition is filed, the starting point, route, terminus and description of the proposed work. On receipt of the petition by the clerk of either board as before mentioned, it is his duty to immediately give notice to the board of which he is clerk, of the fact, and that a meeting of the board will be held on a day to be fixed not later than sixty days after the filing of said petition, to consider the prayer of the same ; and it is further the duty of the clerk, to publish a notice of the filing of the petition and the meeting of the board to consider it, by posting the same in the three most public places in the township or county. On the hearing, all parties may contest the matter, and if it shall appear to the board that the work contemplated is necessary, or is useful for the drainage of the land for agricultural and sanitary purposes, they shall so find and shall file their petition in the County Court, reciting the original petition and stating their finding, and pray that the costs of the improvement be assessed, and for that purpose three commissioners be appointed to lay out and construct the work. The costs of the hearing before the town board is to be paid by the petitioners. After commissioners are appointed, they organize and proceed to examine the work ; and if they find the benefits greater than the cost and expense of the work, then it is their duty to have the surveyor's plans and specifications made, and when done report the same to the court, before which parties can be heard prior to confirmation. The commissioners are not confined to the route or plan of the petition, but may change the same. After report of commissioners is confirmed, then a jury assess the damages and benefits against the land damaged or benefited.

As it is only contemplated in a work of this kind to give an abstract of the laws, and as the parties who have in charge the execution of the further proceedings are likely to be familiar with the requirements of the statute, the necessary details are not here inserted.

PAUPERS.

Every poor person who shall be unable to earn a livelihood in consequence of any bodily infirmity, idiocy, lunacy or unavoidable cause, shall be supported by the father, grand-father, mother, grand-mother, children, grand-children, brothers or sisters of such poor person, if they or either of them be of sufficient ability; but if any of such dependent class shall have become so from intemperance, or other bad conduct, they shall not be entitled to support from any relation except parent or child.

The children shall first be called on to support their parents, if they are able; but if not, the parents of such poor person shall then be called on, if of sufficient ability; and if there be no parents or children able, then the brothers and sisters of such dependent person shall be called upon; and if there be no brothers or sisters of sufficient ability, the grand-children of such person shall next be called on; and if they are not able, then the grand-parents. Married females, while their husbands live, shall not be liable to contribute for the support of their poor relations except out of their separate property. It is the duty of the state's (county) attorney, to make complaint to the County Court of his county against all the relatives of such paupers in this state liable to his support and prosecute the same. In case the state's attorney neglects, or refuses, to complain in such cases, then it is the duty of the overseer of the poor to do so. The person called upon to contribute shall have at least ten days' notice of such application by summons. The court has the power to determine the kind of support, depending upon the circumstances of the parties, and may also order two or more of the different degrees to maintain such poor person, and prescribe the proportion of each, according to their ability. The court may specify the time for which the relative shall contribute—in fact has control over the entire subject matter, with power to enforce its orders. Every county (except those in which the poor are supported by the towns, and in such cases the towns are liable) is required to relieve and support all poor and indigent persons lawfully resident therein. Residence means the actual residence of the party, or the place where he was employed; or in case he was in no employment, then it shall be the place where he made his home. When any person becomes chargeable as a pauper in any county or town who did not reside at the commencement of six months immediately preceding his becoming so, but did at that time reside in some other county or town in this state, then the county or town, as the case may be, becomes liable for the expense of taking care of such person until removed, and it is the duty of the overseer to notify the proper authorities of the fact. If any person shall bring and leave any pauper in any county in this state where such pauper had no legal residence, knowing him to be such, he is liable to a fine of $100. In counties under township organization, the supervisors in each town are ex-officio overseers of the poor. The overseers of the poor act under the directions of the County Board in taking care of the poor and granting of temporary relief; also, providing for non-resident persons not paupers who may be taken sick and not able to pay their way, and in case of death cause such person to be decently buried.

FENCES.

In counties under township organization, the town assessor and commissioner of highways are the fence-viewers in their respective towns. In other counties the County Board appoints three in each precinct annually. A lawful fence is four and one-half feet high, in good repair, consisting of rails, timber, boards, stone, hedges, or whatever the fence-viewers of the town or precinct where the same shall lie, shall consider equivalent thereto, but in counties under township organization the annual town meeting may establish any other kind of fence as such, or the County Board in other counties may do the same. Division fences shall be made and maintained in just proportion by the adjoining owners, except when the owner shall choose to let his land lie open, but after a division fence is built by agreement or otherwise, neither party can remove his part of such fence so long as he may crop or use such land for farm purposes, or without giving the other party one year's notice in writing of his intention to remove his portion. When any person shall enclose his land upon the enclosure of another, he shall refund the owner of the adjoining lands a just proportion of the value at that time of such fence. The value of fence and the just proportion to be paid or built and maintained by each is to be ascertained by two fence-viewers in the town or precinct. Such fence-viewers have power to settle all disputes between different owners as to fences built or to be built, as well as to repairs to be made. Each party chooses one of the viewers, but if the other party neglects, after eight days' notice in writing, to make his choice, then the other party may select both. It is sufficient to notify the tenant or party in possession, when the owner is not a resident of the town or precinct. The two fence-viewers chosen, after viewing the premises, shall hear the statements of the parties, in case they can't agree, they shall select another fence-viewer to act with them, and the decision of any two of them is final. The decision must be reduced to writing, and should plainly set out description of fence and all matters settled by them, and must be filed in the office of the town clerk in counties under township organization, and in other counties with the county clerk.

Where any person is liable to contribute to the erection or the repairing of a division fence, neglects or refuses so to do, the party injured, after giving sixty days notice in writing when a fence is to be erected, or ten days when it is only repairs, may proceed to have the work done at the expense of the party whose duty it is to do it, to be recovered from him with costs of suit, and the party so neglecting shall also be liable to the party injured for all damages accruing from such neglect or refusal, to be determined by any two fence-viewers selected as before provided, the appraisement to be reduced to writing and signed.

Where a person shall conclude to remove his part of a division fence, and let his land lie open, and having given the year's notice required, the adjoining owner may cause the value of said fence to be ascertained by fence-viewers as before provided, and on payment or tender of the amount of such valuation to the owner, it shall prevent the removal. A party removing a division fence without notice is liable for the damages accruing thereby.

Where a fence has been built on the land of another through mistake, the owner may enter upon such premises and remove his fence and material within six months after the division line has been ascertained. Where the material to build such a fence has been taken from the land on which it was built, then before it can be removed, the person claiming must first pay for such material to the owner of the land from which it was taken, nor shall such a fence be removed at a time when the removal will throw open or expose the crops of the other party; a reasonable time must be given beyond the six months to remove crops.

The compensation of fence-viewers is one dollar and fifty cents a day each, to be paid in the first instance by the party calling them, but in the end all expenses, including amount charged by the fence-viewers, must be paid equally by the parties, except in cases where a party neglects or refuses to make or maintain a just proportion of a division fence, when the party in default shall pay them.

DAMAGES FROM TRESPASS.

Where stock of any kind breaks into any person's enclosure, the fence being good and sufficient, the owner is liable for the damage done; but where the damage is done by stock running at large, contrary to law, the owner is liable where there is not such a fence. Where stock is found trespassing on the enclosure of another as aforesaid, the owner or occupier of the premises may take possession of such stock and keep the same until damages, with reasonable charges for keeping and feeding and all costs of suit, are paid. Any person taking or rescuing such stock so held without his consent, shall be liable to a fine of not less than three nor more than five dollars for each animal rescued, to be recovered by suit before a justice of the peace for the use of the school fund. Within twenty-four hours after taking such animal into his possession, the person taking it up must give notice of the fact to the owner, if known, or if unknown, notices must be posted in some public place near the premises.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

The owner of lands, or his legal representatives, can sue for and recover rent therefor, in any of the following cases:

First. When rent is due and in arrears on a lease for life or lives.

Second. When lands are held and occupied by any person without any special agreement for rent.

Third. When possession is obtained under an agreement, written or verbal, for the purchase of the premises and before deed given, the right to possession is terminated by forfeiture on non-compliance with the agreement, and possession is wrongfully refused or neglected to be given upon demand made in writing by the party entitled thereto. Provided that all payments made by the vendee or his representatives or assignus, may be set off against the rent.

Fourth. When land has been sold upon a judgment or a decree of court, when the party to such judgment or decree, or person holding under him, wrongfully refuses, or neglects, to surrender possession of the same, after demand in writing by the person entitled to the possession.

Fifth. When the lands have been sold upon a mortgage or trust deed, and the mortgagor or grantor or person holding under him, wrongfully refuses or neglects to surrender possession of the same, after demand in writing by the person entitled to the possession.

If any tenant, or any person who shall come into possession from or under or by collusion with such tenant, shall willfully hold over any lands, etc., after the expiration the term of their lease, and after demand made in writing for the possession thereof, is liable to pay double rent. A tenancy from year to year requires sixty days notice in writing, to terminate the same at the end of the year; such notice can be given at any time within four months preceding the last sixty days of the year.

A tenancy by the month, or less than a year, where the tenant holds over without any special agreement, the landlord may terminate the tenancy, by thirty days notice in writing.

When rent is due, the landlord may serve a notice upon the tenant, stating that unless the rent is paid within not less than five days, his lease will be terminated; if the rent is not paid, the landlord may consider the lease ended. When default is made in any of the terms of a lease, it shall not be necessary to give more than ten days notice to quit or of the termination of such tenancy; and the same may be terminated on giving such notice to quit, at any time after such default in any of the terms of such lease; which notice may be substantially in the following form, viz:

To —, You are hereby notified that, in consequence of your default in (here insert the character of the default), of the premises now occupied by you, being etc. (here describe the premises), I have elected to determine your lease, and you are hereby notified to quit and deliver up possession of the same to me within ten days of this date (dated, etc.)

The above to be signed by the lessor or his agent, and no other notice or demand of possession or termination of such tenancy is necessary.

Demand may be made, or notice served, by delivering a written or printed, or partly either, copy thereof to the tenant, or leaving the same with some person above the age of twelve years residing on or in possession of the premises; and in case no one is in the actual possession of the said premises, then by posting the same on the premises. When the tenancy is for a certain time, and the term expires by the terms of the lease, the tenant is then bound to surrender possession, and no notice to quit or demand of possession is necessary.

Distress for rent.—In all cases of distress for rent, the landlord, by himself, his agent or attorney, may seize for rent any personal property of his tenant that may be found in the county where the tenant resides; the property of any other person, even if found on the premises, is not liable.

An inventory of the property levied upon, with a statement of the amount of rent claimed, should be at once filed with some justice of the peace, if not over $200; and if above that sum, with the clerk of a court of record of competent jurisdiction. Property may be released, by the party executing a satisfactory bond for double the amount.

The landlord may distrain for rent, any time within six months after the expiration of the term of the lease, or when terminated.

When rent is payable wholly or in part, in specific articles of property, or products of the premises, or labor, the landlord may distrain for the value of the same.

Landlords have a lien upon the crops grown or growing upon the demised premises for the rent thereof, and also for the faithful performance of the terms of the lease.

In all cases where the premises rented shall be sub-let, or the lease assigned, the landlord shall have the same right to enforce lien against such lessee or assignee, that he has against the tenant to whom the premises were rented.

When a tenant abandons or removes from the premises or any part thereof, the landlord, or his agent or attorney, may seize upon any grain or other crops grown or growing upon the premises, or part thereof so abandoned, whether the rent is due or not. If such grain, or other crops, or any part thereof, is not fully grown or matured, the landlord, or his agent or attorney, shall cause the same to be properly cultivated, harvested or gathered, and may sell the same, and from the proceeds pay all his labor, expenses and rent. The tenant may, before the sale of such property, redeem the same by tendering the rent and reasonable compensation for work done, or he may replevy the same.

Exemption.—The same articles of personal property which are by law exempt from execution, except the crops as above stated, is also exempt from distress for rent.

LIENS.

Any person who shall by contract, express or implied, or partly both, with the owner of any lot or tract of land, furnish labor or material, or services as an architect or superintendent, in building, altering, repairing or ornamenting any house or other building or appurtenance thereto on such lot, or upon any street or alley, and connected with such improvements, shall have a lien upon the whole of such lot or tract of land, and upon such house or building and appurtenances, for the amount due to him for such labor, material or services. If the contract is expressed, and the time for the completion of the work is beyond three years from the commencement thereof; or, if the time of payment is beyond one year from the time stipulated for the completion of the work, then no lien exists. If the contract is implied, then no lien exists, unless the work be done or material is furnished within one year from the commencement of the work or delivery of the materials. As between different creditors having liens, no preference is given to the one whose contract was first made; but each shares pro-rata. Incumbrances existing on the lot or tract of the land at the time the contract is made, do not operate on the improvements, and are only preferred to the extent of the value of the land at the time of making the contract. The above lien can not be enforced unless suit is commenced within six months after the last payment for labor or materials shall have become due and payable. Sub-contractors, mechanics, workmen and other persons furnishing any material, or performing any labor for a contractor as before specified, have a lien to the extent of the amount due the contractor at the time the following notice is served upon the owner of the land who made the contract:

To —, You are hereby notified, that I have been employed by— (here state whether to labor or furnish material, and substantially the nature of the demand) upon your (here state in general terms description and situation of building), and that I shall hold the (building, or as the case may be), and your interest in the ground, liable for the amount that may (is or may become) due me on account thereof. Signature, —

If there is a contract in writing between contractor and sub-contractor, a copy of it should be served with above notice, and said notice must be served within forty days from the completion of such sub-contract, if there is one; if not, then from the time payment should have been made to the person performing the labor or furnishing the material. If the owner is not a resident of the county, or can not be found therein, then the above notice must be filed with the clerk of the Circuit Court, with his fee, fifty cents, and a copy of said notice must be published in a newspaper published in the county, for four successive weeks.

When the owner or agent is notified as above, he can retain any money due the contractor sufficient to pay such claim; if more than one claim, and not enough to pay all, they are to be paid pro rata.

The owner has the right to demand in writing, a statement of the contractor, of what he owes for labor, etc., from time to time as the work progresses, and on his failure to comply, forfeits to the owner $50 for every offense.

The liens referred to cover any and all estates, whether in fee for life, for years, or any other interest which the owner may have.

To enforce the lien of sub-contractors, suit must be commenced within three months from the time of the performance of the sub-contract, or during the work or furnishing materials.

Hotel, inn and boarding-house keepers, have a lien upon the baggage and other valuables of their guests or boarders, brought into such hotel, inn or boarding-house, by their guests or boarders, for the proper charges due from such guests or boarders for their accommodation, board and lodgings, and such extras as are furnished at their request.

Stable-keepers and other persons have a lien upon the horses, carriages and harness kept by them, for the proper charges due for the keeping thereof and expenses bestowed thereon at the request of the owner or the person having the possession of the same.

Agisters (persons who take care of cattle belonging to others), and persons keeping, yarding, feeding or pasturing domestic animals, shall have a lien upon the animals agistered, kept, yarded or fed, for the proper charges due for such service.

All persons who may furnish any railroad corporation in this state with fuel, ties, material, supplies or any other article or thing necessary for the construction, maintenance, operation or repair of its road by contract, or may perform work or labor on the same, is entitled to be paid as part of the current expenses of the road, and have a lien upon all its property. Sub-contractors or laborers have also a lien. The conditions and limitations both as to contractors and sub-contractors, are about the same as herein stated as to general liens.

DEFINITION OF COMMERCIAL TERMS.

§— means dollars, being a contraction of U. S., which was formerly placed before any denomination of money, and meant, as it means now, United States Currency.

£— means pounds, English money.

@ stands for at or to. lb for pound, and bbl. for barrel; ₘ for per or by the. Thus, Butter sells at 20@30c ₘ lb, and Flour at $8@12 ₘ bbl.

% for per cent and # for number.

May 1.—Wheat sells at $1.20@1.25, “seller June.” Seller June means that the person who sells the wheat has the privilege of delivering it at any time during the month of June.

Selling short, is contracting to deliver a certain amount of grain or stock, at a fixed price, within a certain length of time, when the seller has not the stock on hand. It is for the interest of the person selling "short," to depress the market as much as possible, in order that he may buy and fill his contract at a profit. Hence the "shorts" are termed "bears."

Buying long, is to contract to purchase a certain amount of grain or shares of stock at a fixed price, deliverable within a stipulated time, expecting to make a profit by the rise of prices. The "longs" are termed "bulls," as it is for their interest to "operate" so as to "toss" the prices upward as much as possible.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT.

An agreement is where one party promises to another to do a certain thing in a certain time for a stipulated sum. Good business men always reduce an agreement to writing, which nearly always saves misunderstandings and trouble. No particular form is necessary, but the facts must be clearly and explicitly stated, and there must, to make it valid, be a reasonable consideration.

GENERAL FORM OF AGREEMENT.

THIS AGREEMENT, made the Second day of October, 1876, between John Jones, of Aurora, County of Kane, State of Illinois, of the first part, and Thomas Whiteside, of the same place, of the second part—

WITNESSETH, that the said John Jones, in consideration of the agreement of the party of the second part, hereinafter contained, contracts and agrees to and with the said Thomas Whiteside, that he will deliver, in good and marketable condition, at the Village of Batavia, Ill., during the month of November, of this year, One Hundred Tons of Prairie Hay, in the following lots, and at the following specified times; namely, twenty-five tons by the seventh of November, twenty-five tons additional by the fourteenth of the month, twenty-five tons more by the twenty-first, and the entire one hundred tons to be all delivered by the thirtieth of November.

And the said Thomas Whiteside, in consideration of the prompt fulfillment of this contract, on the part of the party of the first part, contracts to and agrees with the said John Jones, to pay for said hay five dollars per ton, for each ton as soon as delivered.

In case of failure of agreement by either of the parties hereto, it is hereby stipulated and agreed that the party so failing shall pay to the other, One Hundred Dollars, as fixed and settled damages.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands the day and year first above written.

JOHN JONES,

THOMAS WHITESIDE.

AGREEMENT WITH CLERK FOR SERVICES.

THIS AGREEMENT, made the first day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, between Reuben Stone, of Chicago, County of Cook, State of Illinois, party of the first part, and George Barclay, of Englewood, County of Cook, State of Illinois, party of the second part—

WITNESSETH, that said George Barclay agrees faithfully and diligently to work as clerk and salesman for the said Reuben Stone, for and during the space of one year from the date hereof, should both live such length of time, without absenting himself from his occupation;

during which time he, the said Barclay, in the store of said Stone, of Chicago, will carefully and honestly attend, doing and performing all duties as clerk and salesman aforesaid, in accordance and in all respects as directed and desired by the said Stone.

In consideration of which services, so to be rendered by the said Barclay, the said Stone agrees to pay to said Barclay the annual sum of one thousand dollars, payable in twelve equal monthly payments, each upon the last day of each month; provided that all dues for days of absence from business by said Barclay, shall be deducted from the sum otherwise by the agreement due and payable by the said Stone to the said Barclay.

Witness our hands.

REUBEN STONE.

GEORGE BARCLAY.

BILLS OF SALE.

A bill of sale is a written agreement to another party, for a consideration to convey his right and interest in the personal property. The purchaser must take actual possession of the property. Juries have power to determine upon the fairness or unfairness of a bill of sale.

COMMON FORM OF BILL OF SALE.

KNOW ALL MEN by this instrument, that I, Louis Clay, of Princeton, Illinois, of the first part, for and in consideration of Five Hundred and Ten dollars, to me paid by John Floyd, of the same place, of the second part, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have sold, and by this instrument do convey unto the said Floyd, party of the second part, his executors, administrators, and assigns, my undivided half of ten acres of corn, now growing on the farm of Thomas Tyrrell, in the town above mentioned; one pair of horses, sixteen sheep, and five cows, belonging to me, and in my possession at the farm aforesaid; to have and to hold the same unto the party of the second part, his executors and assigns, forever. And I do, for myself and legal representatives, agree with the said party of the second part, and his legal representatives, to warrant and defend the sale of the afore-mentioned property and chattels unto the said party of the second part, and his legal representatives, against all and every person whatsoever.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto affixed my hand, this tenth day of October, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

LOUIS CLAY.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

A chattel mortgage is a mortgage on personal property for payment of a certain sum of money, to hold the property against debts of other creditors. The mortgage must describe the property, and must be acknowledged before a justice of the peace in the township or precinct where the mortgagee resides, and entered upon his docket, and must be recorded in the recorder's office of the county.

GENERAL FORM OF CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

THIS INDENTURE, made this second day of June, 1875, between David Patton of the Town of Bisbee, State of Illinois, of the first part, and John Doyle of the same place, of the second part,

Witnesseth, that the said David Patton, for and in consideration of the covenants hereinafter mentioned and reserved, on the part of the said John Doyle, his executors, administrators, and assigns, to be paid, kept, and performed, hath let, and by these presents doth grant, demise, and let, unto the said John Doyle, his executors, administrators, and assigns, all that parcel of land situate in Bisbee aforesaid, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

And the said Doyle, by these presents, covenants and agrees to pay all taxes and assessments, and keep in repair all hedges, ditches, rail, and other fences; (the said David Patton, his heirs, assigns and administrators, to furnish all timber, brick, tile, and other materials necessary for such repairs.)

Said Doyle further covenants and agrees to apply to said land, in a farmer-like manner, all manure and compost accumulating upon said farm, and cultivate all the arable land in a husbandlike manner, according to the usual custom among farmers in the neighborhood; he also agrees to trim the hedges at a seasonable time, preventing injury from cattle to such hedges, and to all fruit and other trees on the said premises. That he will seed down with clover and timothy seed twenty acres yearly of arable land, ploughing the same number of acres each Spring of land now in grass, and hitherto unbroken.

It is further agreed, that if the said Doyle shall fail to perform the whole or any one of the above mentioned covenants, then and in that case the said David Patton may declare this lease terminated, by giving three months' notice of the same, prior to the first of October of any year, and may distrain any part of the stock, goods, or chattels, or other property in possession of said Doyle, for sufficient to compensate for the non-performance of the above written covenants, the same to be determined, and amounts so to be paid to be determined, by three arbitrators, chosen as follows: Each of the parties to this instrument to choose one, and the two so chosen to select a third; the decision of said arbitrators to be final.

I, Charles Mansfield, of the Town of Salem, County of Jackson, State of Illinois, being aware of the uncertainty of life, and in failing health, but of sound mind and memory, do make and declare this to be my last will and testament, in manner following, to wit:

First. I give, devise and bequeath unto my oldest son, Sidney H. The north one hundred and sixty acres of said half section is devised to my eldest daughter, Anna Louise.

Third. I give, devise and bequeath to my son, Frank Alfred Mansfield, Five shares of Railroad stock in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and my one hundred and sixty acres of land and saw mill thereon, situated in Manistee, Michigan, with all the improvements and appurtenances thereunto belonging, which said real estate is recorded in my name in the county where situated.

CHURCH ORGANIZATIONS

May be legally made by electing or appointing, according to the usages or customs of the body of which it is a part, at any meeting held for that purpose, two or more of its members as trustees, wardens or vestrymen, and may adopt a corporate name. The chairman or secretary of such meeting shall, as soon as possible, make and file in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county, an affidavit substantially in the following form :

STATE OF ILLINOIS, }
 _____ County. } ss.

I, _____, do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that at a meeting of the members of the (here insert the name of the church, society or congregation as known before organization), held at (here insert place of meeting), in the County of _____, and State of Illinois, on the _____ day of _____, A.D. 18—, for that purpose, the following persons were elected (or appointed) [here insert their names] trustees, wardens, vestrymen, (or officers by whatever name they may choose to adopt, with powers similar to trustees) according to the rules and usages of such (church, society or congregation), and said _____ adopted as its corporate name (here insert name), and at said meeting this affiant acted as (chairman or secretary, as the case may be).

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this _____ day of _____, A.D. 18--.

Name of Affiant, _____ which affidavit must be recorded by the recorder, and shall be, or a certified copy made by the recorder, received as evidence of such an incorporation.

No certificate of election after the first need be filed for record.

The term of office of the trustees and the general government of the society can be determined by the rules or by-laws adopted. Failure to elect trustees at the time provided does not work a dissolution, but the old trustees hold over. A trustee or trustees may be removed, in the same manner by the society as elections are held by a meeting called for that purpose. The property of the society vests in the corporation. The corporation may hold, or acquire by purchase or otherwise, land not exceeding ten acres, for the purpose of the society. The trustees have the care, custody and control of the property of the corporation, and can, when directed by the society, erect houses or improvements, and repair and alter the same, and may also when so directed by the society, mortgage, encumber, sell and convey any real or personal estate belonging to the corporation, and make all proper contracts in the name of such corporation.<sup>1</sup> But they are prohibited by law from encumbering or interfering with any property so as to destroy the effect of any gift, grant, devise or bequest to the corporation; but such gifts, grants, devises or bequests, must in all cases be used so as to carry out the object intended by the persons making the same. Existing societies may organize in the manner herein set forth, and have all the advantages thereof.

SUGGESTIONS TO THOSE PURCHASING BOOKS BY SUBSCRIPTION.

The business of publishing books by subscription having so often been brought into disrepute by agents making representations and declarations not authorized by the publisher; in order to prevent that as much as possible, and that there may be more general knowledge of the relation such agents bear to their principal, and the law governing such cases, the following statement is made:

A subscription is in the nature of a contract of mutual promises, by which the subscriber agrees to pay a certain sum for the work described; the consideration is concurrent that the publisher shall publish the book named, and deliver the same, for which the subscriber is to pay the price named. The nature and character of the work is described in the prospectus and by the sample shown. These should be carefully examined before subscribing, as they are the basis and consideration of the promise to pay, and not the too often exaggerated statements of the agent, who is merely employed to solicit subscriptions, for which he is usually paid a commission for each subscriber, and has no authority to change or alter the conditions upon which the subscriptions are authorized to be made by the publisher. Should the agent assume to agree to make the subscription conditional or modify or change the agreement of the publisher, as set out by prospectus and sample, in order to bind the principal, the subscriber should see that such conditions or changes are stated over or in connection with his signature, so that the publisher may have notice of the same.

All persons making contracts in reference to matters of this kind, or any other business, should remember that the law as to written contracts is, that they can not be varied, altered or rescinded verbally, but if done at all, must be done in writing. It is therefore important that all persons contemplating subscribing should distinctly understand that all talk before or after the subscription is made, is not admissible as evidence, and is no part of the contract.

Persons employed to solicit subscriptions are known to the trade as canvassers. They are agents appointed to do a particular business in a prescribed mode, and have no authority to do it in any other way to the prejudice of their principal, nor can they bind their principal in any other matter. They can not collect money, or agree that payment may be made in anything else but money. They can not extend the time of payment beyond the time of delivery, nor bind their principal for the payment of expenses incurred in their business.

It would save a great deal of trouble, and often serious loss, if persons, before signing their names to any subscription book, or any written instrument, would examine carefully what it is; if they can not read themselves, should call on some one disinterested who can.

INTEREST TABLE.

A SIMPLE RULE FOR ACCURATELY COMPUTING INTEREST AT ANY GIVEN PER CENT. FOR ANY LENGTH OF TIME.

Multiply the principal (amount of money at interest) by the time reduced to days; then divide this product by the quotient obtained by dividing 360 (the number of days in the interest year) by the per cent. of interest, and the quotient thus obtained will be the required interest.

ILLUSTRATION.

Require the interest of $462.50 for one month and eighteen days at 6 per cent. An interest month is 30 days; one month and eighteen days equal 48 days. $462.50 multiplied by .48 gives 222,000; 360 divided by 6 (the per cent. of interest) gives 60, and $222,000 divided by 60 will give you the exact interest, which is $3.70. If the rate of interest in the above example were 12 per cent., we would divide the $222,000 by 30 (because 360 divided by 12 gives 30); if 4 per cent., we would divide by 90; if 8 per cent., by 45; and in like manner for any other per cent.

Solution.

	.48
	370000
6)360)	185000
	$222,000($3.70

HISTORY OF DEKALB COUNTY.

This county is named after Baron DeKalb, a distinguished French officer, who came to this country with LaFayette, and fell in the battle of Camden during the Revolutionary War. He was eminently worthy the perpetuation of his name and memory in so many of the towns and counties of different States; for he was a noble friend of liberty and the rights of man. Born in 1732, in Alsace, then a German province of France, he entered the French army in which he rose to the rank of brigadier general and Knight of the Order of Merit. The French government sent him as a secret agent to the American colonies in 1762. While on this visit he learned to love the free spirit of the American people, which even then foreshadowed the Declaration of Independence; and when the War of the Revolution broke out he proceeded at once to offer his services to Benjamin Franklin and Silas Deane, our ministers at that time at the French Court. He was accepted, and the following year sailed with LaFayette and ten other French officers to this country.

Congress, September 15, 1777, appointed him a major general. He soon joined the main army under Washington at Philadelphia, and during the two following years served with honor and distinction in the campaigns in Maryland and New Jersey.

The most arduous campaign of the war, in which he was engaged, was that of his southern march to reinforce Major Lincoln at Charleston, South Carolina. In 1780, this post was threatened by the British, and Gen. DeKalb was chosen by Washington, with the approbation of Congress, to march with a force for its relief across the wilderness of the Carolinas. The force was conveyed to Petersburg, Virginia, by boats, and thence commenced its weary and destitute march across the country. A few poor and scattering settlers were all their dependence; for the commissaries had neither stores nor credit. They were obliged to collect their own supplies by impressing lean cattle from the canebrakes, and Indian corn, the only grain which the country produced.

At Deer River, DeKalb was overtaken by Gen. Gates, who had been appointed by Congress to the command of the Southern Department, and the army moved on through a barren and disaffected country towards Camden. It had by this time been augmented by reinforcements from the Carolinas and Virginia, so that on its approach to Camden it numbered nearly 6,000 men; but they were mostly raw militia, weakened by disease and their arduous marches, having to subsist on unripe peaches and green corn instead of bread. The army of Lord Cornwallis, though considerably less in numbers, were veterans, and so situated that defeat would have been their destruction. Both armies moved forward on the night of the 6th of August—Cornwallis with the intent to attack and surprise Gates, the latter intending to occupy a position nearer Camden. The advance of the two armies encountered each other unexpectedly in the woods. A council of war was immediately called; DeKalb cautioned Gates against a general attack, and recommended that the army should fall back to a more favorable position. Gates scorned the advice. Said he: "I would not give a penny to be insured a breakfast in Camden to-day with Lord Cornwallis a captured prisoner at my table." Vain conceit. The rash Gates insinuated that the caution of DeKalb was occasioned by fear. "Well, sir," said DeKalb, "a few hours will prove who is brave."

The British rushed with charged bayonets on Gates' center and left, when his troops broke and fled, leaving their guns on the ground. Gates went with them, and did not cease his flight till he reached Charlotte, eighty miles from the field of battle. The brave DeKalb, at the head of the right wing, manfully stood his ground, and contended against the whole British army more than an hour. Hundreds of his devoted troops had fallen around him, when, at last, he fell, pierced by seven bayonet wounds. At the entreaty of his aid, the British officers interposed to prevent his immediate destruction, but he survived only a few hours. He died with these words to a British officer who kindly sympathized with him in his last moments:

"I thank you for your generous sympathy, but I die the death I have always prayed for—the death of a soldier fighting for the rights of man; and though I fight no more in this world, I trust I may still be of some service to the cause of freedom."

Many years after Gen. Washington visited the grave of the departed hero at Camden, and after gazing sadly awhile, exclaimed: "So here lies the brave DeKalb! the generous stranger who came from a distant land to fight our battles, and water with his blood the tree of liberty."

Such is a brief sketch of the brave soldier who gave his life to the cause of human liberty, and whose name is perpetuated in DeKalb County and one of its principal towns.

PHYSICAL FEATURES.

DeKalb County is within a few hours' ride by rail of the city of Chicago; its county seat, Sycamore, being about sixty miles distant. The county is traversed by four lines of railway: the Chicago & Pacific, which crosses it from east to west on its northern tier of townships; the Chicago & Northwestern, which crosses it in the same direction near the center; the Chicago & Iowa, which crosses it east and west through the second range of townships from the south; and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, which passes diagonally in a southwestern direction across the southeast corner, extending across the township of Somonauk.

Of course, the county has unusual railroad facilities; and the construction and operation of these great lines have had a wonderful influence in the development of the country along them from a wilderness to the garden of fertility, culture and beauty which it now is, and of crowding it with a wealthy, prosperous and enlightened population.

The surface of DeKalb County has but few peculiar and distinctive features. It has no great rivers, no elevated peaks, no deep and narrow valleys; but is only a parallelogram of rich, rolling prairie, dotted with a few groves, and watered by a few small streams. It is eighteen miles broad, and thirty-six miles long. The county occupies the elevated ground between the Fox and Rock Rivers. These streams are noted for their purity and beauty. The Fox River empties into the Illinois River, at Ottawa, and the Rock into the Mississippi River, at Rock Island.

The central portion of the county contains but little timber, and only few running streams. There is more timber and water in the northern and southern parts of the county. The largest stream in the county is the south branch of the Kishwaukee River. In the early history of the county, this stream was called the Sycamore River. This stream heads in the town of Shabbona, and flows through the towns of Milan, Afton, DeKalb, Mayfield, Sycamore, Genoa, Kingston and Franklin; and empties into the Rock River, in Winnebago County. It has several branches, one of which heads in the town of Virgil, Kane County, and flows through Cortland and Sycamore Townships, and enters the main branch in the town of Mayfield. There are several small creeks that flow through the northern part of the county, which are valuable to the farms which they water. Along the banks of the Kishwaukee, in the northern half of the county, stretches one continuous forest, composed principally of white, red and burr oak trees, and some maple, butternut, black walnut and hickory. This grove furnishes the north half of the county with fuel and fencing timber. The rolling prairies occupy almost the entire surface of the central portion of the county. The early settlers of the county made their claims in close proximity to the timber and water, and could hardly believe that the distant prairies would ever serve any other purpose than that of a large range for stock. They felt sure that no farmer could live there, so far away from the timber. They little thought that many of them would live to see it all settled and occupied by man. Some of the wealthiest farmers and the most productive farms of the county are now found on the prairies. The central portion of the county has but little water, except that which is furnished by sloughs or swamps, which always connect, one with the other, until they form brooklets, which flow north and south, and ultimately become our larger creeks. The southern portions of the county, like the northern, are better watered and timbered than those towns which occupy the center. The towns of Paw Paw and Shabbona are watered by the Big Indian Creek, while Shabbona Grove and Ross Grove furnish its timber. The Little Indian Creek waters the towns of Victor, Paw Paw and Clinton; while Somonauk and Squaw Grove Townships are watered by Somonauk Creek; and along this stream will be found timber enough to supply the wants of the surrounding country. Hardly a ledge of rocks pierces the surface in any part of the county. Some limestone is found in Kingston, Franklin and Afton Townships. The whole county is unfortunately destitute of rock suitable for building purposes.

But it is easily transported on the lines of railway, which run to all the principal towns. The county is more than compensated by other advantages, which constitute the source of its wealth and prosperity. Its advantages for agriculture and stock-raising are unsurpassed, and it stands on the record as the banner dairy county of the State.

INDIANS OF THE COUNTRY.

Prior to the Spring of 1835, the territory at present embraced in DeKalb County was occupied by the Pottawattamie tribe of Indians. Their territory extended west to Rock River, which stream divided them from the Winnebagos. These two tribes spoke different dialects, and emigrated from different parts of the continent. The Pottawattamies spoke the Algonquin language, which was originally the tongue of most of the tribes north of the Potomac and east of the Mississippi. This tribe came originally from Canada. In 1835, there were villages of them near Ohio Grove; on section 3, in the township of Cortland; in Kingston, on section 21; at Coltonville; a large settlement at Shabbona Grove, under the good chief, Shabbona; and another at Paw Paw Grove, under a chief of yet higher rank, called Waubansie. There were some forty wigwams at Coltonville, but they were not all inhabited in 1835. Their manners and customs, as observed by the white settlers, were somewhat as follows:

The settlers found them making maple sugar from the adjoining grove. Their sap-buckets were hewn troughs and the backs of turtles. In their manner of manufacturing sugar and syrup, they were very filthy.

Most of them buried their dead in shallow graves, depositing with them their guns, bows and arrows, and various trinkets. A space was selected upon some conspicuous mound, and a square about six feet by ten fenced in by high palisades. Within this the body was placed, braced up in a sitting posture, with knives, rifle, blankets, pipe, and a good supply of tobacco, and all were thus left to molder and decay.

At the first settlement of the country, a chief of the Pottawattamies, whose name has not been preserved, was enshrined in the above manner on the farm of Calvin Colton, in Mayfield. His skeleton, with the bullet in it which caused his death, was afterwards obtained by Dr. Richards, of the St. Charles Medical School.

They disposed of the bodies of their dead children by covering them with bark, binding them with withes in halves of hollow logs, and suspending them in the horizontal branches of trees. Calvin Colton reports that as late as 1839, when he moved to his location at Coltonville, there were as many as fifty papposes thus suspended in the grove adjoining his residence.

The Indians cultivated small patches of corn upon the bottom lands near the streams and on the borders of the groves. The squaws did all the work. They kept their seed corn by stringing it upon poles and hanging it in little bark-lined cellars in the ground. These deposits were always sacred, and no Indian, however nearly starved, would ever touch them.

Their chief reliance for food was upon the game—deer, rabbits, woodchuck, etc., which were then plentiful in the country. The buffalo had disappeared, but many of their bones were yet to be found. Near the present town line between Clinton and Shabbona, could be seen twenty years ago, around a living spring which there bubbled up when all the rest of the wide prairie was dry, the bones and skulls of hundreds of buffalo. It is supposed that these were the bones of the old and feeble which had been driven thither by the drought for drink, and died at the spring.

Shabbona, the old chief, used to say that about the year 1810 there was an unusually severe winter, during which multitudes of the Indians perished, and the buffalo all died and were never afterwards seen in this section.

The village of Shabbona, at Shabbona Grove, was the most noted Pottawattamie settlement in the county. Here lived the "good old chief Shabbona," so noted in the early annals of the country. Here was held many a council of peace and of war, during those border conflicts which agitated the country far beyond this remote wilderness, but in which the savages were prominent actors. From this place, after the surrender of General Hull, Fort Mackinaw, and the Chicago massacre, Shabbona and his braves, accompanied by Waubansie and his warriors, went to join the forces of Tecumseh and the Prophet, in aid of the British arms against the United States, in the war of 1812.

It having been noised abroad, in the Spring of 1835, that the Indians were about to be removed west of the Mississippi, no further attempt was made to restrain the immigration of the whites, and they poured into the country in great numbers.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

Probably few, if any, white men ever visited the territory of DeKalb County till about the time of Major Stillman's defeat by the Indians, on a branch of the Kishwaukee, near the northwest corner of the county, during the Blackhawk War, in 1832.

In 1836, the county of Kane, embracing the entire territory now included in DeKalb, was organized. Capt. Eli Barnes, representing the interests of the Kishwaukee country, was re-elected one of the County Commissioners; but the settlers in the Kishwaukee country still felt that they were too far from a county seat. A company of capitalists, known afterwards as the New York Company, had already laid out a town on the east fork of the south branch of the Kishwaukee River, between the Norwegian and Big Grove.

In 1834, a mail route from Chicago to John Dixon's residence, on the Rock River, was established, which crossed the southern end of DeKalb County, and during the Summer a log hut was built for a station, on this line, at the crossing of Somonauk Creek. This was probably the first habitation of a white man erected in the county; but was abandoned in the Fall. Wm. Sebree seems to have been the first settler, and became a permanent resident of the county.

It was in the Spring of 1835, when the treaty with the Indians which followed the Blackhawk war, had bound them to leave this country for the wilderness beyond the great Father of Waters, that the first considerable body of white settlers came into the county. This section of country was then known as the Kishwaukee country, and was a part of the great county of LaSalle; which extended from the Illinois River, on the south to the line of Wisconsin Territory on the north, and on the east to Cook County. A commission was procured from Ottawa, then as now the county seat, for the election of two Justices of the Peace, and in June, 1835, an election was held, and Stephen Mowry and Joseph Collier were chosen Justices — the first public officers ever elected in this section of country. In the year 1836, but few settlers came in. The timbered lands of the county had nearly all been claimed during the previous year, and those who were not able or willing to pay the prices demanded by claimants, were forced to go further west.

In 1836, the first house was built at Shabbona Grove, by Edmund Town, assisted by David Smith. While building this house, they lived in the deserted wigwams of the Indians, who had gone west about three months before. The Indians never after made a permanent home at this place, but came and went every year or two. During this time, many whites had been attracted to the grove, and became settlers at this place, and were on friendly terms with the Indians, and ever since that time, the country surrounding the grove has improved very fast. At a general election, held in August, 1836, Henry Madden, who resided in what was called the Brush Point settlement, in the present town of Mayfield, was elected as Representative to the State Legislature. His district took in a large amount of territory, but a very small population. Most of the population, at this time, was in the southern part of the state, excepting the settlements at Ottawa, LaSalle, Joliet and Galena. Chicago, at that time, consisted only of a few log houses, clustered around Fort Dearborn, on the banks of the Chicago River.

Most of the details of the early settlement in various parts of the county have been purposely omitted here and embodied in the different town histories.

CLAIM ASSOCIATION.

Before the lands of the county came into market, and while multitudes of land-hunters were rushing in and seizing upon claims, each eager to secure the best, and not over-scrupulous of the rights of their neighbors, it became necessary that some measures should be adopted for the protection of the rights of all concerned; and in this necessity originated the Claim Association of the early settlers.

On the 5th of September, 1835, a settlers' meeting was called at the cabin of Harmon Miller, on the east bank of the Kishwaukee River, in what was afterwards the town of Kingston, for the purpose of adopting such laws and regulations for self-government as the exigencies of the times and country demanded.

Happily, the best possible spirit prevailed. The Hoosier from the Wabash, the Buckeye from Ohio, the hunter from Kentucky, the calculating Yankee, impelled by a sense of mutual danger, here sat down in grave council, to dictate laws to Kishwaukee and "the region lying round about."

Levi Lee was chosen to preside over this august assemblage, where the three great departments of free government—the executive, the legislative and the judicial, were most happily united, and Capt. Eli Barnes was appointed Secretary. Speech after speech, setting forth the wants and woes of the settlers, the kind of legislation demanded by the crisis, went the rounds. At last, ripe for immediate action, a committee was selected to draft and present to the meeting a constitution and by-laws, by which the settlers upon the public lands should be governed. After some little deliberation back of the shanty, around the stump of a big white oak, which served as a writing desk, said committee reported a preamble, constitution and by-laws, which for simplicity, brevity and adaptation to necessity, it would be hard for any modern legislature to surpass. The common sense, law and logic, as well as patriotism, contained in this constitution and by-laws were instantaneously recognized to be the very things demanded by the crisis, and were adopted with unparalleled enthusiasm, each subscribing his name thereto, with his own hand: thereby pledging "Life, Fortune and Sacred Honor," to carry out the provisions of the code. It is not known that a copy of this unique document is now extant; still there may be. As nearly as can be recollected, its provisions were somewhat as follows: A Prudential Committee was to be then and there chosen, whose duty it should be to examine into, hear and finally determine, all disputes and differences then existing, or which hereafter might arise, between settlers, in relation to their claims, and whose decisions, with certain salutary checks, were to be binding upon all parties, and to be carried out at all hazards, by the three departments of government, consolidated in aid of the executive. Each settler was solemnly pledged to protect every other settler in the association in the peaceful enjoyment of his or her reasonable claim, as aforesaid; and further, whoever, throughout all Kishwaukee, or the suburbs or coasts thereof, should refuse to recognize the authority of the aforesaid association, and render due obedience to the laws enacted by the same from time to time, to promote the general welfare, should be deemed a heathen, a publican, and an outcast, with whom they were pledged to have no communion or fellowship. Thus was a wall, affording protection to honest settlers, built in troublous times. Hon. Levi Lee, Hon. Geo. H. Hill, Captain Eli Barnes, James Green and Jesse C. Kellogg, were chosen to be the Settlers' Committee, and who, as may well be supposed, had business on hand for some time, in order to restore and ensure domestic tranquility, and promote the general welfare. The thing worked like a charm, and similar associations were formed and maintained in other portions of the country, until the lands came into market. This event took place in Chicago, in 1843; when all DeKalb County, except the northern tier of townships, was sold to the highest bidder.

ORGANIZATION OF THE COUNTY.

In the Winter of 1836-7, the Legislature being in session at Vandalia, the Hon. Henry Madden, then representing the interests of the settlers of LaSalle, Kane and sundry other counties, not then organized, and on the 4th day of March, 1837, a bill was passed, through the influence of Mr. Madden, to create the County of DeKalb, from the west half of the county of Kane, provided a majority of the legal voters in Kane should on a given day vote for such new county. Therefore, in pursuance of organic law, the Commissioners' Clerk of Kane County ordered an election to be held at the house of Frederick Love, for the election of county officers in the new county of DeKalb, July 3, 1837. The day of the election of county officers at last arrived, and Levi Lee, Rufus Colton and Robert Sterrett were elected County Commissioners; Joseph C. Lander, Sheriff; Jesse C. Kellogg, Recorder. The County Commissioners elect immediately repaired to the house of Rufus Colton, where each administered the oaths of office to the other, as authorized in the Act to Create the County of DeKalb: appointed Jesse C. Kellogg, Clerk of the County Commissioners' Court; Eli Barnes, County Surveyor; and Lysander Darling, County Treasurer: ordered a special term to be held in a few days, at the same place, to lay off the county into Justices' Districts and Election Precincts; and before the guns of the glorious 4th came booming over "the land of the free and the home of the brave," DeKalb was a sister in the sisterhood of counties in the great State of Illinois.

An act was passed by the Legislature, that all that tract of country, beginning at the southeast corner of township thirty-seven north, range two east of the principal meridian, thence north to the northeast corner of township forty-two north, range two east of the third principal meridian, and thence along the northern boundary of township forty-two, in ranges three, four and five, east of the third principal meridian; then south, on the southeast corner of township thirty-seven north, range five east, thence west on said township line, to the place of beginning, shall form a county, to be called DeKalb. Section eight, of the same act: for the purpose of fixing the permanent seat of justice, for the County of DeKalb: Benj. Thurston, of LaSalle County; James Walker, of Cook County; and Germanicus Kent, of Winnebago County, are hereby appointed Commissioners, who, or a majority, being first duly sworn before some Justice of the Peace of this State, as is required by the fifth section of this act, shall meet at the house of Frederick Love, in said county, on the first Monday in June next, or as soon thereafter as may be, and shall proceed in all respects as is required in the fifth section of this act, provided, that the qualified voters of Kane County shall meet at the usual places of holding elections in said county, on the first Monday in May next, and vote for or against the County of DeKalb; and if a majority of said voters shall be in favor of making the said county, then the County of DeKalb shall be created; but if it should appear that there is a majority against the division, then the said county shall remain as it now is. The election was held, resulting in the establishment of the new county and the election of its officers. On Tuesday, the 11th day of July, 1837, the first regular session of the County Commissioners' Court, for DeKalb County, was held at the house of Rufus Colton, and continued to be held there until the location of the county seat. The first formal action of the Board was to select and appoint Jesse C. Kellogg, as Clerk of their Court, and the next was the important business of laying out five Election Precincts and Justices' Districts. They were: First, Kingston District and Precinct, commencing at the northwest corner of the county, running south twelve miles, thence northeast, crossing the Sycamore River, so as to include Benj. Stevens' land, and then north to the county line. It was ordered that elections be held in this precinct, at the residence of Levi Lee. Geo. H. Hill, John Whitney and James Hait, were appointed its Judges. The second was Sycamore Precinct, including the northeast corner of the county, and extending as far south as Chartres Grove, but not including the present village of Sycamore. The elections were to be held at a school house near Lysander Darling's, and Wm. A. Miller, James A. Armstrong and Samuel Cary were made its Judges. The third was named Orange District, and comprised the territory south of the Sycamore District, as far as Lost Grove, in the present Town of Cortland. Elections for this district were ordered at Rufus Colton's house, and F. Love, James Root and Eli Barnes, were made its Judges. The fourth was named Somonauk District, and comprised the territory south of Orange District, ten miles in width and about twenty in length, to the south line of the county. Elections were ordered to be held at the houses of Messrs. Woodruff and Lane. Wm. Davis, T. A. Witherspoon and Simon Price, were made Judges. The fifth district was called Paw Paw, and comprised the southeast portion of the county. No recorded provisions were made for elections in this district, and it was subsequently abolished; but afterwards, upon the indignant protest of some of its people, was re-established.

In October, 1837, the Commissioners appointed by the Legislature, to fix the county seat, met at the house of Mr. Frederick Love, as directed by the law of organization. On the third day of their meeting, the Commissioners determined upon placing it where the court house now stands. They set a long pole upon the green prairie, placed on it a streaming flag, and declared it to be the location for the county seat of the new County of DeKalb. Capt. Eli Barnes now advanced, and christened the new town Orange. No objection was raised to this, and for some years thereafter the point was called by that name. Through the advice of J. S. Waterman it was changed to Sycamore.

FIRST COURTS—COURT HOUSE, ETC.

At the February term of the Commissioners' Court, it was ordered that, as no court house was yet built, the first term of the Circuit Court should be held at Rufus Colton's residence. The following jurors were selected: Grand Jurors—George H. Hill, Nathan Billings, Wm. A. Miller, Lysander Darling, John Whitney, John Esterbrooks, Wm. Miles, Henry Madden, Eli Barnes, Phineas Stevens, Alpheus Jenks, Russell D. Crossett, John Maxfield, Wm. Davis, Maltby B. Cleveland, D. S. Bullard, Zachariah Wood, Ralph Wyman, Benj. Stevens, Joseph A. Armstrong, Henry B. Barber, Reuben Nichols and Justin Crafts. Petit Jurors—C. W. Branch, E. F. White, Abner Jackson, Peter Lamoise, Clark Wright, John Elliott, Clark L. Barber, Joseph A. McCollum, Russell Huntley, Ora A. Walker, John Corkins, Solomon Wells, H. N. Perkins, Jacob Cox, Lyman Judd, Henry Durham, F. A. Witherspoon, John Sebree, Marshall Stark, Jeremiah Burleigh, John Riddle, Wm. Russell, Watson Y. Pomeroy and Ezra Hanson. Three of these are yet living, viz: H. N. Perkins, Marshall Stark and Ezra Hanson.

The total county tax levied on the first year of its existence, as a county, was two hundred and sixteen dollars and fifty cents; but Mr. James Phillips, the Deputy Sheriff, who was also collector, reported that after a hard winter's work in collecting, he had been able to get together and pay into the treasury, eighty-four dollars and thirty-seven cents. In August, of the same year, three new Commissioners were elected—E. G. Jewell, Burage Hough and Henry Hicks. They were all in favor of the county seat then located, and issued an order that the October term of the Circuit Court be held at a house now being erected by Eli Barnes, at or near the seat of justice in this county; but the house did not get completed in time for the fall term, therefore the court was not held at this place. A meeting of the Commissioners was held in September, at which they considered the expediency of building a court house and jail; but no definite plan was devised. Mr. Madden, who was still a member of the Legislature, had, during the last winter's session, caused the passage of an act providing that a vote should be taken first for or against the removal of the county seat from Orange. The vote was finally taken, and was voted down, by seventeen majority, in the whole county. At a meeting of the County Commissioners in December of the same year, they took action to find upon what section of land the county seat had been located. The county had not yet been surveyed by the United States. For this purpose the Commissioners duly authorized and directed Eli G. Jewell to obtain the services of a surveyor, and bring a line or lines from some survey made under the authority of the United States, down to the county seat, and there cause a number of town lots, not exceeding eighty, to be laid out, platted and recorded.

Frederick Love was appointed first School Commissioner, and was also granted a license to keep a hotel. Love's log cabin was said to be as public a place as any in the county. He called it Centreville, and hoped that at some future day it would become the county seat. In September of this year, Shabbona, the old Indian chief, employed Mr. James S. Waterman to survey the two sections of land which the government had granted him. During this year, the firm of Jenks & Co. built a mill on the Kishwaukee, in the present Town of DeKalb. There was a large frame barn built near this point. It was one of the first frame buildings in the county, and was used on several occasions for the religious services of the quarterly meetings of the Methodists. In this year, Henry Durham, of Genoa, was granted a merchant's license. A few years later the village of Genoa had become the largest and most lively village in the county; but at this time very little business is done at this point, as the county seat is too near by.

During the year 1839 a new court house was erected, and the survey of lines, ordered by the County Commissioners, had been brought down from Winnebago County, where some government surveying had already been done, and the village of Sycamore was staked out by James S. Waterman and Capt. Eli Barnes, who deserve a great deal of credit for the beautiful wide streets. The first building erected in this village was built for a hotel, by Capt. Eli Barnes, and is used to this day as a hotel. The County Commissioners ordered Mr. Jewell to sell lots at public auction, and with the proceeds to contract for building a court house and jail.

When the time arrived for the June session of the Circuit Court, a two-story building, twenty feet by thirty, had been erected, and the County Commissioners were summoned together and ordered their clerk of the court to notify the judge of the Circuit Court that the new court house was ready for occupancy, and requested that he direct the circuit clerk to keep his office in the court house. Capt. Barnes served the order upon the judge, sitting in court at Coltonville, and there was a large crowd of citizens assembled, to see what the judge would do. When the judge decided that the court must be removed to Sycamore, a shout of triumph went up from the Sycamore crowd. Judge Ford took his record under his arm, State's Attorney Purple bundled up his papers, the sheriff, the lawyers, juries, and the balance of the crowd, followed suit, and, led by Capt. Barnes, took up their line of march for the new court house at Sycamore. On their arrival, a public dinner, at the new hotel, was served up in good style.

When the party arrived at the new court house, they found that the Commissioners' declaration was rather more than its condition warranted. It had no doors nor windows, and the floor was laid with some loose boards covering one-half of the upper story. A question arose whether, process having been made returnable at Coltonville, suits could not be tried at another locality; and, except a few agreed cases, no litigations were had, and the court soon adjourned.

At the June session of the Commissioners' Court, the county was divided into three assessment districts. Franklin, Kingston and Kishwaukee constituted the first district, and H. G. Page was chosen assessor. Sycamore, Orange and Ohio constituted the second district, of which Austin Hayden was chosen assessor. Somonauk and Paw Paw constituted the third district, Stephen Arnold, assessor. Each assessor was paid for three days' service, for assessing his share of the entire property of the county. The land in the towns of Franklin, Kingston and Genoa, which had previously been surveyed by the United States and put into market, belonged to the Rockford or Polish survey.

During this year an act was passed authorizing a vote upon the removal of the county seat. The laws in these early times were not circulated till six months after the sitting of the Legislature; and before any opponents of removal were aware of the existence of such an act, the time had arrived for a vote upon the question. A poll-book was opened at Coltonville, a dozen votes or so were cast for removal to that place, and the terms of the law were considered complied with. The seat of justice technically was removed. But J. C. Kellogg, the County Commissioners' Clerk, refused to deliver the books. He was arrested and tried before Justice Harvey Maxfield, and, after a war of words, was discharged.

The grand struggle for the county seat was finished at the August election of 1840, by a defeat of the opponents of Orange, now Sycamore. The village of Sycamore contained about twelve houses. The hotel, kept by Capt. Barnes, was the great center of population. The court house was occupied for a school house, and also for religious meetings. An act had been passed on the 3d of January, to "permanently locate the seat of justice for the county of DeKalb." The County Commissioners ordered the following report to be placed upon their records, which explains the final settlement of the vexed question of the county seat: "I, John R. Hainlin, Clerk of the County Commissioners' Court of said county of DeKalb, and Frederick Love, Probate Justice of the Peace, and Harvey Maxfield, Justice of the Peace, in and for said County of DeKalb, do hereby certify that, at an election held in the several precincts of said county, on the third Monday in August, A. D. 1840, in pursuance of an act entitled 'An Act Permanently to Locate the Seat of Justice of the County of DeKalb,' approved January 3, 1840, there were given two hundred and forty votes in favor of the removal of the seat of justice of DeKalb County from Coltonville. There were given one hundred and forty-three votes against the removal of the seat of justice from Coltonville; showing a majority in favor of the removal of the seat of justice from Coltonville of ninety-seven votes; and there were also given at that election two hundred and seven votes in favor of Sycamore to be the seat of justice of DeKalb County; and there were given at said election one hundred and thirty-seven votes in favor of Brush Point, to be the seat of justice of DeKalb County; showing a majority of seventy votes in favor of Sycamore to be the seat of justice.

It is likely that a test of this kind brought out all the voters. It is supposed that three hundred and eighty-four was about the number of voters then in the county. John Riddle, one of the early settlers of the town of Franklin, was this year appointed assessor of District No. 1; Frederick Love, of District No. 2, and Stephen Arnold, of District No. 3. They were only six days each in assessing the whole county. A tax of $334.70 was collected by Amos Story, county collector.

In 1840 a stage route was established from St. Charles to Oregon, and Timothy Wells and Charles Waterman were the proprietors. The State Road from Ottawa to Beloit, Wisconsin, running through DeKalb County, was laid out in 1841, by J. S. Waterman.

In this year Andrew J. Brown, Esq., the first resident lawyer in the county, was admitted to practice, the County Commissioner's Court certifying that he was of good moral character. He settled in Sycamore.

In 1842, E. L. Mayo, receiving a similar certificate from the county board, became the second resident lawyer, and was elected the first county judge.

During 1842 the State Bank failed, and overwhelmed the people in destitution and ruin. The public officers found it difficult to get enough money out of the treasury to pay their salaries and the postage on letters. John R. Hamlin was Clerk of the Commissioners' Court, Recorder and Postmaster, and out of these combined offices managed to get money enough to pay his board. But this state of things did not long continue. Not more than a dozen years had passed when it became necessary for the Recorder to employ four or five assistants. At this time the Recorder's office was considered worth eight thousand dollars per annum.

The Circuit Court held its session in September, 1842, and was presided over by Judge John D. Caton, since the most eminent judge of the Supreme Court of Illinois, an able amateur scientist and author, and now a resident of Chicago. S. B. Farwell was State's Attorney; Jesse C. Kellogg, Clerk, and Morris Walrod, Sheriff. Judge Ford, afterwards Governor Ford, was the first Judge of the Circuit Court of this County, was a warm and true friend of the West.

The first brick dwellings in the county were erected at Sycamore by J. S. Waterman and the brothers Mayo, in 1846. This year DeKalb County, upon the call of the President of the United States, furnished quite a number of men for the Mexican War.

NEW COURT HOUSE.

At the March term of the County Commissioners' Court, in 1849, the building of a new court house was discussed at length, and three Commissioners were appointed to contract for the building. E. P. Young, Kimball Dow, and Jesse C. Kellogg were appointed. It was to be placed where the court house now stands, and to cost not exceeding six thousand dollars. But this was only to be done on condition that individual citizens should contribute fifteen hundred dollars of the amount.

The Commissioners also passed an order authorizing the erection of a county jail by the same committee, at a cost not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars; but nothing seems to have been done under this order.

The required amount was raised for the new court house, and the work commenced at once. The building committee was also authorized to sell the old court house and town lots owned by the county at auction, and to apply the proceeds to the payment of the county orders issued for the construction of the new building.

TOWNSHIPS ORGANIZED.

At the election in 1849, 750 votes were cast in favor of the adoption of the township organization, and only one against it. Marshall Stark was elected Sheriff; W. H. Beavers, County Clerk; William Fordham, Recorder; Sheldon Crossett, School Commissioner; and E. L. Mayo, Probate Judge. But a new election was held in November, under the provisions of the new constitution, at which Martin M. Mack was elected Circuit Clerk and Recorder; U. B. Prescott, County Clerk; William Sheppardson, County Treasurer; and James H. Beveridge and George Hill, Justices of the Peace.

In December, the County Commissioners appointed William A. Miller, William J. Hunt and Robert Sterritt, to divide the county into townships. They divided it into thirteen towns, as follows: Genoa, Kingston, Franklin, Vernon, Liberty, Sycamore, Richland, Orange, Shabbona, Clinton, Squaw Grove, Somonauk and Paw Paw. Some of these township names have been changed: Vernon belonged to the present town of South Grove; Orange to DeKalb and some adjoining territory; Liberty, to Mayfield; and Richland, to Cortland and Pierce.

The township organization being now complete, a Board of Supervisors was elected to take the place of the County Commissioners, who had hitherto managed the county business. The first Board of the county consisted of thirteen members, as follows: Henry Durham, Genoa; John Sheeley, Kingston; Clark Bliss, Franklin; John S. Brown, Vernon; Mulford Nickerson, Liberty; James Harrington, Sycamore; D. F. Finley, Richland; Thomas R. Hopkins, Orange; William Marks, Shabbona; Reuben Pritchard, Clinton; Abram L. Hemenway, Squaw Grove; Lyman Bacon, Somonauk; Pierpont Edwards, Paw Paw.

The first meeting of the Board was held at Sycamore, in October, 1850. Among its first acts was the changing of the names of Orange Township to DeKalb, Richland to Pampas, Liberty to Mayfield, and Vernon to South Grove. The reason why these changes were made was that other towns in the state had already appropriated the first chosen names.

During this year the new court house was completed, and was considered a very fine structure for those days.

RAPID ENTRY OF LAND.

During the year 1852 the most rapid entry of land occurred in the history of the county, being stimulated by the prospect of railroads. In view of this, settlers and speculators rushed in and purchased nearly all the Government lands remaining in the county.

During this year the first Agricultural Society of the county was organized and held an exhibition.

The railroad running from Chicago to Dixon was built in 1853, and gave a powerful forward impulse to the county.

This year the Board of Supervisors resolved to purchase a County Poor Farm. Messrs. Taffan and Tindall were appointed a committee and were authorized to locate a County Farm in one of the two middle tiers of townships. The farm of A. H. Cartwright, on the road between Sycamore and DeKalb, was purchased for that purpose.

DEKALB COUNTY AND THE REBELLION.

The following summary of the services of DeKalb County in the War of the Rebellion is taken from Mr. Boies' valuable History of the County, embracing nearly the whole of the first general chapter of Part Second of that work:

“Decidedly the most interesting, most honorable and most eventful portion of the History of the County of DeKalb, is that which relates to the gallant deeds of her brave sons, their sacrifices and sufferings in that tremendous struggle for the life of the nation—the War of the Great Rebellion. * * * * The political character and predilections of the great majority of the inhabitants of our county impelled them to espouse with more than ordinary fervor the cause of the Government in its struggle with the Slaveholders' Rebellion. From the first settlement of the county, it had been the home of a strong, active, zealous party of anti-slavery men; men who were avowed abolitionists, who gloried in that name when it was a term of reproach; who not only voted for, but labored and expended their money for the freedom of the slave. Scattered here and there over the whole county, were numerous well-known stations on the “under-ground railroad;” homes of thrifty, hard-working, God-fearing haters of oppression, in which, it was well understood, the panting fugitive escaping from Southern slavery, would be sure of finding rest, refreshment, a safe shelter, a warm welcome and means to help him on to other stations on the route to what was then his only safeguard, the flag of England on Canadian soil.

The homes of the Beveridges and the Hubbards, of Somonauk; of the Townsends, of Mayfield; David West's, of Sycamore; and E. S. Gregory, at Genoa, were well known as homes and places of refuge for the fugitive negroes; and many an interesting story of their experiences in aiding and secreting these oppressed people, are now told with a freedom that, before the downfall of American slavery, would have been dangerous.

Long before the formation of the Republican party, whose cornerstone was hostility to slavery extension, the majority of the voters of the county were of that class who made hatred of slavery the cardinal principle of their political creed. It was natural that when the devotees of the slave system sought to rend in twain the Union of the States, in order to protect their institution, and with fratricidal hand attacked the defenders of their country's flag, these men should rally to its defense with earnest enthusiasm. But their zeal for the defense of the country was only more fervent than that of their political opponents. Inspired by the noble utterances of their great leader, Stephen A. Douglas, whose patriotic devotion to his imperiled country burst the bonds of party, and shed over the last months of his too short life a sublime eternal radiance, the great mass of the Democratic party in the country, with some noted exceptions, rallied at the first outbreak of the war to the defense of the country, gave their support to the government, enlisted for their country's defense, or encouraged their enlistments, and gave their services, with patriotic sincerity, to the work of preserving the Union.

The echoes of the first guns that were fired upon Fort Sumter had scarcely died away, when, in the principal towns of DeKalb County, hundreds of her sons sprang to arms, began drilling and preparing for service, and earnestly demanded the privilege of being led to battle against the rebel foe. Their earnestness was constantly repressed by the government, which, embarrassed by the want of suitable laws to meet such an unlooked-for emergency, and apparently failing to appreciate the real magnitude of the contest, hesitated and drew back from the impending conflict, refused to call out a sufficient number of troops, and checked instead of encouraging, the patriotic ardor of the people.

When at last two companies of volunteers from this county gained permission to serve in her armies against the rebellion, their privilege was at a premium. Some of those who had been accepted, but from various causes found it difficult to disentangle themselves from the ties which bound them to their homes, sold out their places in the ranks to others whose eagerness could not be repressed. But as the conflict broadened and deepened, as our armies met the enemy and failed to conquer their legions, the government found use for all the men who were willing to serve her. The calls of the President for troops were as follows:

April 16, 1861—75,000 for three months.

May 4, 1861—64,748 for five years.

July, 1861—500,000 for three years.

July 18, 1862—300,000 for three years.

August 4, 1862—300,000 for nine months.

June, 1863—300,000 for three years.

October 17, 1863—300,000 for three years.

February 18, 1864—500,000 for three years.

July 10, 1864—200,000 for three years.

July 16, 1864—500,000 for one, two and three years.

December 21, 1864—300,000 for three years.

It must ever be a source of pride to the county of DeKalb, that each successive demand made during the first three years of the war, was promptly filled by volunteers. The Summer of 1862—how memorable and exciting! In the July previous half a million of men were called out, and DeKalb County promptly met the call. In August, 1862, 600,000 more were asked for. It was in the midst of the busy harvest season. The county had already been drained of more than fifteen hundred of its able-bodied men, and was suffering for help to gather its bountiful harvest; yet, without a murmur, six hundred of the very best men of the county sprang into the ranks of the 105th Regiment, and perhaps half as many more into other organizations. It was not until July, 1864, that a draft was finally required in this county, to fill the repeated and exhausting demands of the service.

What gallant and honorable service these citizen soldiers performed for their country! * * * Not one of the great battles of that long and bloody war was fought in which the loyal sons of DeKalb did not bear an honorable part. The history of their campaigns is a history of the war. DeKalb County boys opened the first battle in the seven days' fight on the Virginia Peninsula, and were the first to attack Lee's rebel host at Gettysburg. Some loaded their guns for the first time while under the fire of Fort Donelson. They swept with the great Sherman on the grand march to the sea. They were the heroes of the day at the first assault upon Vicksburg. They bore a most honorable part in its final capture. They saved, by a gallant charge, the defeated army of Banks on Red River. They were first at the capture of Mobile. In the campaigns in Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, and indeed wherever a rebel army was to be found, there were men of DeKalb County to meet them in the deadly conflict."

SKETCH OF THE U. P. CHURCH, SOMONAUK.

The first white man's house in DeKalb County stood on the east bank of Somonauk Creek, near the present United Presbyterian Church. This was the station between Chicago and John Dixon's residence on Rock River. This station was a five-room log house, known as the "Five-room Tavern." Mr. George Beveridge, from Washington County, New York, purchased this house and the claim on which it stood, in 1837.

His house became the nucleus around which seeders seeking a home in the West, gathered. It was for many years home, hotel and church for all such, and was always open to them. In a year or two others came, and by the years 1841-2, when Mr. Beveridge returned from the East with his family, enough had arrived to petition the Synod of Illinois for an organization. Two years after, in 1844, the Rev. James P. Miller, a minister from New York, preached a few Sabbaths for them. The Summer following a Mr. McMillan preached here. In the Fall the Rev. R. H. Pollak, late of Wooster, Ohio, was sent to this church by the Home Mission Board, and in the Spring the Rev. R. W. French. He organized the church on the 18th of March, 1846, with nineteen members, seven of whom are living—five of these are still in the congregation, viz: William Patten, David M. Dobbin, John Walker, William French and Mrs. Mary Patten. Rev. William Oburn came the following Summer and Fall, remaining a greater portion of the Winter. Rev. R. W. French returned in the Spring of 1847, and administered the first communion. At this time services were held in the school house then situated about one-half mile east of the church. The organization had been effected in the house of Mr. Beveridge, and all services had been held here. A call was made at this communion for the Rev. Oburn, which he held for some time, but finally decided in the negative. In the Spring of 1849, Rev. French returned from his charge in North Henderson, Illinois, and accepted the call given him here. He was installed as pastor November 19, 1849, Rev. G. D. Henderson preaching the installation sermon. At this time the number of members had increased to twenty-nine, with Messrs. David M.

Dobbin and William Patten as ruling elders. In 1852 Mr. Joseph Thompson was added to the session.

The following ministers had preached to this little band prior to their organization: In 1842, Rev. James Templeton, a few Sabbaths, afterwards Rev. J. N. Smith and Rev. George Vincent, next Rev. George Law; in 1843 and in the Summer of 1844, Rev. J. P. Miller, after him the Rev. Forsythe; and in the Fall of 1845, Rev. McMillan and Rev. R. H. Pollock, Rev. R. W. French coming the time stated.

A short time after the settlement of Mr. French, the church was built, and in this they worshiped until about the year 1866, when it was enlarged, and was used in that condition till July, 1875, when the congregation having grown large, and wealthy, the present beautiful building was erected. It cost the congregation in all near $12,000, and is said to be one of the finest country churches in the State. Rev. French remained as pastor until the years 1859 or '60, when he gave up his charge and removed to Peotone, Illinois. The present pastor, Rev. W. T. Moffitt, was called in 1861 or '62, and is still in charge. This church now has near 300 communicants, and is most favorably known in the church at large. It has given many thousands of dollars to the various church boards, and to benevolent charities, besides always paying a liberal salary to its ministers. It has sent three ministers into the field, all of whom are doing good work. A division at one time occurred in the church, which resulted in the forming of the Reformed Church, whose building still stands; but the members have almost all returned, and the division is now most happily healed.

SYCAMORE.

The township of this name, containing the thriving city of Sycamore, the county seat, is agreeably diversified in surface, and unusually favored with an abundance of timber and running streams. Its soil is particularly rich, black and unctuous, destitute of sand or gravel, and hardly as productive as that of some other portions of the county. This, however, may be due to its having been longer tilled; for when Erasmus Walrod first came here, in 1835, he raised ninety bushels of corn to the acre, on the upturned prairie sod.

FIRST SETTLERS.

The first settler of the township was probably Lysander Darling, who came in 1835. Dr. Norbo, a Norwegian, came the same year, and claimed Norwegian Grove, which thus received its name. Also Mr. Chartres, a Frenchman, who gave name to Chartres Grove. J. C. Kellog, E. F. White, Zechariah Wood, and Peter Lamois, were also among those who made their homes within the borders of what now constitutes this township, in the first year of its settlement by the whites.

In 1836, the New York Company, composed of Christian Sharer, a wealthy New Yorker, Evans Wherry, Clark Wright, and Mark Daniels, under the firm name of Sharer & Co., claimed two square miles of land, running from Marshall Stark's farm on the north to the south line of the town. They laid out a village plat at the north of the creek, dammed the Kishwaukee River, built a mill, enclosed with a high, heavy rail fence a tract of sixty rods wide and two miles long, whose west line was on what is now Somonauk Street, and prepared to build up a town.

This was in the flush times, when wild-cat money in abundance filled every one's pockets, and the speedy growth of great cities in the West was confidently expected.

When these bubbles had burst, and hard times came on, the company, although they had expended a large amount of money, abandoned their claim, dissolved their co-partnership, and never "entered" their land.

VILLAGE OF SYCAMORE.

The old town of Sycamore, north of the creek, consisted of two or three log cabins, in some of which Esquire Jewell kept a blacksmith and wagon shop, and J. C. and Charles Waterman kept a store. It was abandoned next year for the higher land where the present village of Sycamore stands.

Capt. Eli Barnes built the first house in this village—the large tavern now the Sycamore Hotel. The construction of so extensive a structure was considered a wild, extravagant expenditure of his means; but it did much to establish the town, and retain the county seat, which it was then thought would soon be removed. The captain was full of zeal for the welfare of this village, and for years labored, perhaps more than any other man, to secure friends and votes to counteract the numerous efforts to procure the removal of the seat of justice.

A little framed house had before this been moved down from the Hamlin farm, and was occupied by Dr. Bassett, the first physician of the place. It stood, till 1855, where D. B. James subsequently built a handsome residence, and was then burned down, on suspicion that it had been used for the sale of liquor.

The old court house was built in 1839, nearly opposite the present structure, and in 1840 the dreary little village consisted of a dozen houses, scattered over considerable land, but without fences, and with but one well. John C. & Charles Waterman, were the first merchants, 1839.

The town was laid out in 1839, by Capt. Eli Barnes, county surveyor. In 1840 it was quite a little village, containing, among others, the following houses and buildings: The main streets were State, running east and west, and Main Street, north and south. On the northeast corner at the intersection of State and Main Streets stood the old Mansion House, built by Capt. Eli Barnes; opposite was a house built by Charles Waterman; east of this, on the same side of State Street, was the house of D. Bannister; and south, on the next block, the residence of Jesse C. Kellogg; across Main Street, opposite Kellogg's, was the house of E. H. Barnes; north of this was the residence of Eli G. Jewell; and on the northeast corner, at the intersection of State and Main Streets, stood the building of F. Love; west of this, on State Street, was the court house; and farther west, Wells' and Barnes shoe shops. C. Lattin had a house farther west on the north side of State Street, and a few rods farther west were the houses of Joseph Sixbury, and L. D. Walrod.

The Mansion House, called the Nunnery, at this time contained a large part of the population of the place.

A Congregational church was organized in 1840 with eleven members. In 1841, Rev. David Perry became pastor, and held service in the court house. Capt. Barnes gave the church the lot on which their edifice now stands; the building was erected in 1844, but not completed till two years later.

A Methodist church was built the same year, on a lot given by Carlos Lattin. The Episcopal church was built in 1856, and the Baptists, Universalists, and Roman Catholics, built churches two or three years after.

Marcus Walrod was the first boy born in the place, and Mrs. W. R. Thomas the first girl.

Eli G. Jewell and Capt. Barber did most of the law business for many years; but in 1841 Andrew J. Brown opened an office—the first regular lawyer. He was succeeded by Mr. Masters, and he, in 1842, by E. L. Mayo. W. J. Hunt practiced law here in 1844. There were then eighteen houses in Sycamore.

In 1848 the population of the village was 262; in 1849 it was 320; in 1850, 390; and in 1851, 435.

Much of the land now included in the village was still owned by government in 1843. During that year, Mr. J. S. Waterman entered his fine farm, and W. J. Hunt took up a quarter-section north and east of the village, and eighth-section in 1848.

In 1855 there were in Sycamore six dry goods stores, two hardware stores, two cabinet ware-rooms, one drug store, four grocery and provision stores, two saloons, three taverns, one banking and exchange office, two wagon shops, one livery stable, two harness shops, two tin shops, one jeweler shop, three shoe shops, four blacksmith shops, one shingle manufactory, one tailor shop, one meat market, one cooper shop, seven lawyers, four physicians, ten carpenters, four painters, three circulating libraries, three churches, and one steam saw-mill. The population of the township at this time was 1646.

In 1858 Mr. D. B. James erected the fine brick block now called George's Block, which was dedicated with an old-settlers' celebration and festival. During the same Winter a series of interesting lectures was delivered there by Horace Greeley, Bayard Taylor, George Sumner, and other distinguished speakers.

In the following year the Sycamore and Cortland Railroad was built, at a cost of about $75,000. Its cost was a heavy expense to the citizens, for the times were hard and money scarce; but it has proved a source of great advantage to the business and growth of the town, which has steadily flourished and increased from that time to the present. The receipts of the road, which were only $4,500 in 1860, have increased to over $12,000 in 1867, and to $17,000 in 1875.

THE CITY.

The City of Sycamore is one of the most attractive of its size in the western country. It contains many fine residences, and a population wealthy, enterprising and remarkably social. Present number of inhabitants 3,500.

Among its leading citizens are the brothers Waterman, six of whom have, at times, resided here, and been among its most active business men, since the first settlement of the county. Mr. James S. Waterman, the first banker in the county, has become its wealthiest citizen, and his elegant mansion has ever been the seat of a hospitality almost unlimited.

Of the Ellwood family of six sturdy brothers, noted for unbounded energy and enterprise, shrewdness and bonhomie, four have resided here, and two at DeKalb. Mr. Reuben Ellwood was a citizen of the place in 1838, but subsequently removed to New York, where he filled some important public positions. He was presented as the candidate of this county for Congress, in 1868.

Hon. E. L. Mayo, a lawyer of marked ability, moved to this place from Vermont in 1842, has held many public offices, and was a candidate for Congress in 1854.

Hon. D. B. James, formerly a lawyer in Lyndon, Vermont, removed to this place from California in 1852. He built a number of the best buildings in the place; has been an especially active member of the Republican party of the county since its organization; was appointed aid-de-camp to Gov. Oglesby, with the rank of colonel, delegate to the National Convention of 1864, and was chosen judge of the County Court in 1865.

Gen. Daniel Dustin, formerly of Lyndon, Vermont, removed to California in 1850; was a member of the Legislature of that State, moved to Sycamore in 1856; raised a company for Farnsworth's cavalry in 1862; was chosen colonel of the One Hundred and Fifth Infantry in 1863; served two years as commander of a brigade, and made one of the most faithful and popular officers in the service.

Gen. Charles Waite, one of six worthy sons of Hon. Daniel Waite, of Sycamore, enlisted at twenty-three years of age as a private in the Twenty-seventh Michigan Infantry, fought his way up to the colonelcy of that rough, ungovernable band of miners, whom he alone ever succeeded in reducing to proper discipline, was severely wounded in service in Virginia, and received the star of the brigadier for gallantry displayed in the battle of the Wilderness.

Gen. E. F. Dutton enlisted at twenty years of age in Company F, of the Thirteenth Infantry, of which he was made first lieutenant. In 1863 he was chosen major of the One Hundred and Fifth, rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel, and served through the war with that regiment. He was breveted brigadier for gallantry on the march to Atlanta, and in the battle of Goldsboro, North Carolina.

Sycamore is credited on the State record with 307 men furnished for the suppression of the rebellion. Many gave their lives to their country, and many have returned maimed and crippled; but the record of casualties is not now attainable.

Among other prominent and worthy citizens may be mentioned Judge Luther Lowell, of the County Court, who came from Vermont and became a resident in 1855.

Charles Kellum, Esq., was born in Pennsylvania, and came to the town in 1855. He has been a prominent lawyer for many years, and stands high as a public speaker.

Hon. R. L. Divine, now Mayor of the city, came here in 1858. He has been prominent as a lawyer and a man of remarkable energy. Is now proprietor of one of the banks of the city.

Rev. W. S. Harrington came here when a child about five or six years old—in 1843. He is a son of Dr. James Harrington, and one of a large and worthy family; was educated at Mt. Morris, Illinois; entered the ministry of the M. E. Church at an early day; has been presiding elder for some years; and in 1876 was put forward by his county as a candidate for Congress from the fourth congressional district. He resides at Sycamore and is presiding elder of the Dixon Conference.

Jesse C. Kellogg—Deacon Kellogg, as he is familiarly called—who died in 1873, was for nearly forty years a prominent citizen of Sycamore. No man was better informed in the early history of the county, and no man had its interests, both moral and physical, more at heart. He came from Vermont and settled here among the first, in 1835, and his example throughout his long life was worthy of imitation. As a zealous and consistent supporter of the moral and religious interests of the town, he was especially active in connection with the Congregational Church and the temperance cause. He served as clerk of the first board of county commissioners in 1837, and in 1842 was clerk of the Circuit Court, holding the office till 1849.

Henry L. Boies, now Postmaster and editor and proprietor of the True Republican, came to the county in 1854, and to Sycamore in 1858. He is a native of Massachusetts, and a man of marked integrity and ability. He has conducted the True Republican consecutively for thirteen years, and in 1868 prepared and published a History of DeKalb County, from which considerable of the matter in this History has been taken. In 1871–72 he was Secretary of the State Senate.

James S. Waterman began life here as a surveyor under the government. He has been a very liberal and enterprising citizen—a merchant, a banker, and a dealer in real estate, and has accumulated the most ample fortune of any man in the county; and he has also benefited it as largely, probably, as any other man.

John C. Waterman, his brother, has also been a prominent and influential merchant in the place for at least forty years.

Marshall Stark, living on a farm near the city, is one of the remaining worthy pioneers. He came here September 14, 1835; was one or two terms Sheriff of the county. Besides his beautiful and valuable farm near the city, he owns large tracts of pine land in Michigan, and is engaged extensively in the lumber business at Sycamore.

We have not space for a complete list of all the old settlers, but mention, in connection with those above given, Zechariah Wood (deceased) and his two sons, Thomas H. and Henry Wood; E. D. Walrod, G. A. Maxfield, Alvin Dayton, Spafford Smith, and Joseph Sixbury.

SUPERVISORS.

Of the supervisors of this town Dr. James Harrington served from its organization in 1850, until 1856, when E. L. Mayo was elected. D. B. James succeeded him, serving in 1857–58; James Harrington followed in 1859–60–61; Roswell Dow in 1862–63–64; Samuel Alden in 1865–66; Henry Wood in 1867; N. S. Cotrell in 1868; Henry Wood in 1869; John G. Smith in 1870–71; E. B. Shurtleff in 1872–73; Nathan Lattin in 1874–75–76.

INCORPORATION AND OFFICERS.

In 1858 the Village of Sycamore was incorporated; and, in accordance with the provisions of the charter, has been represented upon the Board of Supervisors by the president of its board of trustees. These have been: For 1859, E. L. Mayo; 1860, C. M. Brown; 1861, Alonzo Ellwood; 1862, C. O. Boynton; 1863, Alonzo Ellwood; 1864-65, Chas. Kellum; 1866, Luther Lowell; 1867-68, C. O. Boynton; 1869-70, Reuben Ellwood; 1871, Moses Dean; 1872, Richard A. Smith; 1873-74, John B. Harkness; 1875-76, Richard L. Divine.

Incorporated as a city March 4, 1869.

GROWTH OF THE CITY.

The following from the True Republican of January, 1876, shows the progress of building in Sycamore during the preceding year:

One Hundred and Forty Thousand Dollars Expended.—In making up our annual record for 1875 of the new buildings erected in Sycamore during the year, we have been surprised to find that both in number and in value the list has rarely, if ever, been exceeded during any previous year of the existence of the town. The work has been done so quietly, and to such a large extent in the suburbs and outskirts of the city, that it has not attracted so much attention as in years previous, when the center and all parts of the city seemed alive with new structures, but the new buildings are nevertheless both numerous and valuable; and considering that it has been a time when money was scarce and hard to be obtained; that all over the country business has been depressed, and here especially the farmers (on whose prosperity we all depend) had been impoverished by the loss of their usual grain crop, it is really remarkable that so much has been done. The vitality of the place is really wonderful.

Prominent among the new public buildings of the city is Winn's elegant new hotel of pressed brick, with elegant stone trimmings. It is a structure of which any of the minor cities of the country might be proud, and one that few or none of them can surpass.

A little further west on State Street will be seen the graceful spire of the new Universalist Church, a brick building of elegant design and substantial construction, which is an ornament to the city. Its interior is beautifully finished in Gothic style, with stained glass windows and frescoed walls. Its cost will exceed that of any other church in DeKalb County.

Among the useful new industrial works in the city is the spacious brick factory buildings of the R. Ellwood Manufacturing Company. They are a fine looking group of buildings, and furnish a valuable addition to the business of the city, giving employment to over fifty workmen now, a number that will soon be considerably increased.

Another new factory, completed early in the Spring, is the sash and blind factory of Mr. F. Schroeder & Son. It is a spacious and well-planned wooden structure, two stories in height, and its machinery is of the best and most elaborate kind. It has been full of work ever since it was put in operation, and has drawn a large amount of business to the city.

Mr. Charles T. Stuart's new dwelling house, erected on the site of the old Erasmus Barnes place, fronting on the public square, is one of the most complete and well-finished buildings in our city. In design, taste and construction it is a model.

The site of the old Universalist Church on Main Street, is now occupied by a large brick dwelling house built this season by Mr. A. M. Stark, the able secretary of the Sycamore Marsh Harvester Manufacturing Company. It is of peculiar and very pleasing style, having the general appearance of an old English mansion or villa.

In the southern part of the city is the new dwelling house of Mr. David DeGraff, a large and beautiful building costing about $5,000. It is designed and finished in excellent taste and its beauty is enhanced by its commanding position on the summit of a knoll from which a spacious lawn, bordered with fine old trees, slopes gracefully an hundred feet to the road.

The following list, furnished by one of the contractors of this city, comprises the greater part of the buildings and their approximate value:

The contractor further says :

Besides the above, there are six or eight houses in the vicinity of Charles Street, the owners of which I do not know, also four or five in the north part of town, they are worth in the aggregate about $10,000 or $12,000, and some I presume I overlooked. There has also been much building done in the vicinity outside of the city. Capt. Luther is now building himself a fine residence. Mr. Fogg is building another large house on his lot. The Harvester Factory has also made large additions to their buildings.

MANUFACTURES.

Besides the minor manufacturing interests, such as planing mills, cheese-box factory, etc., the two most important branches are the Cultivator Manufactory of R. Ellwood & Co., and the Marsh Harvester Works—both of which add largely to the business of the place.

The R. Ellwood Manufacturing Company—Was established in 1875. The company manufacture the Ellwood Sulky Cultivator, Barn-Door Hangers and Tracks, Stay-Rolls, Wire-Stretchers, Dog and Horse Powers, Pivot Castors, Rolling Colters, etc., and do general repairing, having foundry and machine shops. Their building is three stories, including basement, and cost about $20,000. Their business per annum amounts to $125,000. This year they expect to turn out and put upon the market 3,000 of their new and popular cultivators. As yet they have not been able to manufacture enough to supply the demand.

The business is controlled by R. Ellwood, who also carries on hardware business to the amount of $70,000 per annum.

The Marsh Harvester Manufacturing Company.—This now extensive manufacturing interest was established as a joint stock company in 1869. Its officers are: C. W. Marsh, President; A. M. Stark, Secretary; and W. W. Marsh, Superintendent. The brothers Marsh are old settlers of the county, having resided in it twenty-seven years. They first established their shops in Plano, Kendall County, in 1863, whence they removed to their present locality in 1869. Their shops here are extensive, being of brick, 640 feet in length, and in the main two stories high. They cost, including ground and machinery, $50,000. The capital stock of the company is $90,000, and about $300,000 invested in the business. In 1875 they manufactured 4,000 harvesters. Last year they built and sold 3,500, besides a large number of wind-mills, mowers and corn-plows.

Mr. C. W. Marsh represented the district composed of DeKalb, Kane and DuPage Counties in the State Senate in 1870.

DEKALB.

The township of DeKalb is situated near the center of the county, and is second to no other in its natural advantages and in its development and growth in wealth. The surface, like the remainder of the county, is mostly handsome rolling prairie; but is favored with one fine stream, a branch of the Kishwaukee, and is liberally supplied with timber from an extensive grove bordering on this stream, formerly known far and wide as Huntley's Grove.

There was, prior to the first settlement, a large Indian village at Coltonville, on the northern border of this township, but in the Fall of 1835 the Indians were removed beyond the Mississippi. It is said that a company of United States troops, engaged in assembling these Indians at Paw Paw Grove, preparatory to their removal, encamped for a night on the site of the present city of DeKalb. While here one of their number attempted to desert. He paid McClellan, a settler at the grove, a sum of money to secrete him, but McClellan, being threatened by the officer in command, gave him up, and he was tied to the rear of an army wagon and dragged on foot through the remainder of the route. The neighbors, indignant at McClellan's treachery, threatened to lynch him, and he was obliged to fly the country for safety.

FIRST SETTLERS OF DEKALB TOWNSHIP.

The first settlers of this township were John B. Collins and Norman C. Moore. Mr. Collins settled on the farm now owned by the heirs of the late Captain Burpee; Mr. Moore made a claim a mile or two north of him. They came in the Spring of 1835. During that Summer all the timbered land in the township was claimed. McClellan claimed the south end of the grove afterwards held by Mr. Huntley. James Cox claimed a farm now owned by C. W. Marsh, and James Paisley the place on which some of his family now reside.

In the Autumn of 1835, Messrs. Jenks & Co. claimed the land now occupied by Albert Schrever, dammed the creek, built a mill, and projected a town in the vicinity. The streams were much larger then than now, and it was thought that the water would be of permanent value; but a dry Summer or two convinced them of their mistake, and they never completed their proposed village.

In the Autumn of 1836 the first election in the county was held. It was held in Captain Eli Barnes' house, in the township of DeKalb, and the voters came from all parts of the county. It was an election for Justice of the Peace. Mr. Samuel Miller, of Squaw Grove, relates that ten dollars were sent down to him by one of the candidates to pay him for bringing up ten voters, and that these ten voters carried the election.

In February, 1837, Mr. Russell Huntley, representing a company of capitalists, who designed to build mills and carry on farming, moved to the south end of the grove, and bought the claim of James Root, who had succeeded McClellan. Wild-cat money was plenty then, and claims sold at higher prices than they would bring ten years after. Mr. Huntley bought all of the south part of the grove, paying $5,300 to the several claimants. His purchase embraced about 500 acres of wood land, and as much of the prairie as he chose to call his own. As it seemed desirable, however, that each should know where his line was, he made an agreement with the Brodies, of Brodies' Grove, about ten miles west of him, that the division line between them should be half way between the two groves; and he made a similar verbal arrangement with the inhabitants of Shabbona Grove on the south.

After the first two years, settlers came in very rarely. Hard times came on, money became very scarce, the people grew poor; and in 1843, when the land, for the claims to which they had paid such liberal prices, came in market, most of them found great difficulty in raising the money to enter it. As late as 1850, Mr. Huntley was offering half of the land upon which DeKalb Village now stands to any man who would furnish $1.25 per acre to enter it.

VILLAGE AND CITY OF DEKALB.

For nearly twenty years Mr. Huntley kept an excellent tavern at this place, and in the busy season it was constantly crowded by teamsters from the west, as far as the Mississippi River, who were on their way to Chicago with grain. The proceeds of the load, oftentimes, did not pay the expenses of drawing to market. For this reason, thousands of bushels of excellent wheat raised in this town were fed to cattle without threshing. This poverty among the people continued until the railroad was built through, in 1853.

In 1850 the township was organized, with the name of Orange, and Thomas M. Hopkins was chosen its first Supervisor. In that year the first store in the place was opened by J. M. Goodell, in one end of the dwelling now owned by the widow of Rufus Hopkins. In 1852, J. S. Waterman and Alvah Cartwright started another, and they, with Goodell and Ruby's store, Huntley's tavern, and a blacksmith's shop, constituted the village in 1853, when the railroad was built, revolutionizing the business affairs of the county. After this, a large and flourishing village was speedily built up at this place. Its progress was remarkable. Houses sprang up as by magic. The neighboring farmers who visited it one month would hardly recognize the place when they visited it the next. Mr. Huntley sold part of his land to three directors of the railroad company,—Holland, Robinson, and Van Nortwick,—and they together laid out the village, and speedily sold the lots at good prices. Stores, shops, warehouses, hotels, and dwellings, filled up the village plat, and the evidences of taste and refinement were to be seen in its streets and dwellings. For several years it went by the name of Buena Vista.

In 1855 its population was 557. It was confidently expected that, owing to its central location and its being upon a railroad, it would soon be made the seat of justice for the county.

The financial crash of 1857 impeded the progress of the thriving little village. Money scarce, trade dull, credit gone, prices low. Like all new towns, it was settled by a population full of enterprise, but of small capital, and the destruction of confidence and depression of trade was a serious injury to its progress. But its people were full of enterprise, courage and enthusiasm for the prosperity of their town. They taxed themselves heavily for all needed improvements, and worked with a will for the good of their town.

In 1860, a County Society for the promotion of agriculture and the mechanical arts was established, beautiful grounds selected and handsomely furnished, and flourishing annual fairs have ever since been held.

In 1861, the elegant brick building was erected for a Graded School,—for many years the finest common-school building in any town of its size in the state. It was designed to cost $8000, but its total expense has been over $25,000. The first school house in the town was a small structure built of basswood logs, and roofed with shakes, which stood near the grove, and near the line of the railroad, and for many years served both as school house and church.

In 1854, churches were built by both the Baptist and Methodist societies; in 1860 the Catholics constructed a spacious church, and in 1864 the Swedish population, a large number of whom had gathered around this place, built a small church, in which worship is conducted in the Swedish form and language. A number of the most reputable citizens have embraced the Mormon faith, and the services of that sect have frequently been held in the place.

NEWSPAPERS.

In 1858 a newspaper under the name of the Western World and DeKalb Review was published in DeKalb by Mr. Andrews. This was succeeded in 1860 by the DeKalb Leader, edited by E. B. Gilbert; and this in 1861 by the DeKalb Times, edited by G. D. R. Boyd. In 1867 the DeKalb County News was started. It is still published, and is an influential weekly Republican journal, L. H. Post, editor and proprietor. Mr. Post is also Postmaster of the city.

PROMINENT CITIZENS.

The first lawyer in the place was Marcus White, who commenced practice in 1855. The first resident physician was Dr. Hyslop. In 1859 Dr. Rufus Hopkins, of Sycamore, who had always had a considerable practice in that town, removed to DeKalb, and as a physician, banker and active man of business, has been a prominent actor in the affairs of the town. The first bank was established in 1859 by J. R. Hamlin and E. T. Hunt.

The four brothers, Glidden, who first settled here in 1841, have been among its most worthy and active citizens.

E. B. Gilbert, Esq., who came to Sycamore in 1847, and to DeKalb in 1852, was elected Justice in 1853, and by successive elections has ever since held the office.

Harvey Thompson, J. F. Glidden, and Jabez L. Cheasbro, have long been among the most popular and reliable grain dealers in the county.

Hon. Lewis L. McEwen served the county one term in the State Legislature, and has been an influential citizen for more than twenty years. He is a prominent man in the grain, coal and lumber business, in the firm of McEwen & Terwillegar.

Robert Roberts, the present County Treasurer, of the firm of Roberts & Tyler, is one of the old and worthy citizens.

In this connection may also be mentioned J. F. Glidden, the inventor of the Glidden patents for barb wire fences, and Jacob Haish, the no less enterprising inventor and manufacturer of the "S" barb wire fencing. These men have been great benefactors of the town and the farming community at large, in the want which they have met by their ingenuity and enterprise and the large number of men and amount of capital employed in the branches of business which they have established.

The brothers Isaac L. and Hiram Ellwood, have been among its most active business men.

Isaac L. Ellwood, of the firm of I. L. Ellwood & Co., has for many years been a leading citizen. He is the proprietor of the Glidden Barb Wire Factory, having purchased the extensive business, and is also largely engaged in manufacture.

It is such enterprising men as these, with R. K. Chandler, the Vaughns, Smulls, Roberts, Millers, and many others that might be mentioned, that have given tone and character to the town.

SUPERVISORS.

The supervisors of the town of DeKalb have been the following named persons: For 1850, Thomas M. Hopkins; 1851, Joseph F. Glidden; 1852, Thomas M. Hopkins; 1853, Alonzo Converse; 1854, Luman Huntley; 1855, Alonzo Converse; 1856, Marcus White; 1857, E. P. Young; 1858-59, Hiram Ellwood; 1860, Cyrus Tappan; 1861-62, J. F. Glidden; 1863, Harvey Thompson; 1864-5, Thomas M. Hopkins; 1866, J. F. Glidden; 1867, Harvey Thompson; 1868, W. C. Tappan; 1869-70-71-72, J. F. Glidden; 1873-74-75, L. M. McEwen; 1876, J. F. Glidden.

PRESIDENTS OF THE COUNCIL.

The village was incorporated under a general act in 1856, and in 1860 by a special charter, which made the President of the Board of Trustees a member of the Board of Supervisors. This position has been filled by W. H. Allen, in 1861-62; Silas Tappan in 1863; Leonard Morse in 1864; S. O. Vaughn in 1865; E. B. Gilbert in 1866; W. H. Allen in 1867-68; William H. Miller in 1869; L. M. McEwen in 1870; W. H. Record in 1871; J. S. Russell in 1872; Horace Hunt in 1873; L. M. McEwen in 1874-75-76.

WAR RECORD.

DeKalb furnished 223 men for the suppression of the rebellion. The history of their patriotism, losses, sufferings and triumphs, is too long to be recorded here, but it has been well preserved in the History of DeKalb County prepared by Mr. Boies, to which the reader is referred.

POPULATION.

The population of DeKalb (township and village) in 1855 was 1,588; in 1860, 1,900; in 1865, 1,978; in 1870, 2,164. The increase since 1870 has been in a larger ratio, as the city alone now contains 2,500 people.

BARBED WIRE MANUFACTURE.

DeKalb, through the introduction of barbed wire, has done much for the farmers, added largely to the growth of the place, and made for its manufacturers more money in the short space of two years than could have been realized in an ordinary life-time by the slow but sure process of accumulating wealth through the old established channels of trade.

There are two extensive establishments of this sort of manufacture in DeKalb, the works of I. L. Ellwood & Co., and the factory of Jacob Haish. The former manufactures

THE GLIDDEN BARB WIRE FENCE.

This was invented and established by Mr. J. F. Glidden, who first conceived the idea in the Fall of 1873, and began experimenting upon it on his own farm. The idea of a thorny or barbed wire fence, so constructed as to guard by its sharp spines or points against the pushing of stock, was not then entirely new. Michael Kelly had patented a barbed wire for fencing Nov. 17, 1868, which was re-issued April 4, 1876. But it consisted of a flat wire, with the barbs inserted in holes made through it. Mr. Glidden's first invention, patented May 12, 1874, was a decided improvement on this, consisting of a round fence wire and a barb formed of two short pointed pieces of wire, secured in place upon the fence wire by coiling between their ends, which were extended to present four points in different directions. Nov. 24, 1874, Mr. Glidden patented still another improvement, substituting for a single wire a double twisted wire, upon which was fixed a piece of pointed wire coiled in the center, forming two transverse points, in the words following: "A twisted fence wire having the transverse spur-wire bent at its middle portion about one of the wire strands of said fence wire, and clamped in position and place by the other wire strand twisted upon its fellow."

This latter is the kind manufactured at DeKalb by the Ellwood Company, and is a very desirable and popular wire fence. From manufacturing a few of these by hand on his farm, Mr. J. F. Glidden got to making the material in the city by horse-power, using at first a single horse to propel his imperfect machinery, which has been from time to time improved, till now its perfection is a matter of astonishment to all beholders. This machinery, together with the extensive establishment, has all been created out of the raw material within the incredibly short period of two years, during which time the large sums of money expended have been made in the business itself; so that it has been self-developing and self-supporting, and has created in addition a large surplus. The secret of its financial success is the fact that it has met a want everywhere urgently felt all over the great prairie country of the West; and the vast territory being of such varied climate that the demand is as great in Winter as in Summer. At no time, during any of the seasons, is there not fencing going on in some portion of the great field in which this fence is demanded—in Illinois or Iowa, in Texas or California.

Mr. Glidden first convinced his neighbors of the practicability of the invention by making with his own hands and setting about his farm portions of the fence. As these experiments were gradually improved and exhibited, the demand for the fence became urgent, and he was forced into its manufacture. As we have seen, he began on a small scale—working off a few pounds by hand, then by horse-power. In July, 1874, he entered into partnership with I. L. Ellwood, and commenced the manufacture in the city of DeKalb. The business soon outgrew their facilities. In the winter of 1874-5, they erected a portion of their present shops—a brick building 70x130 feet. The following year they doubled its capacity, increasing the machinery in the same proportion.

At present they have capacity for turning out a ton per hour of the manufactured steel wire, and have standing orders for a car-load a day. These goods are shipped to all parts of the West, Northwest and Southwest—Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Colorado, and California.

J. HAISH'S "S" BARB WIRE FENCE FACTORY.

This is the second establishment of the kind in DeKalb. It was established in 1874, and employs from eighty to ninety hands. About $80,000 capital are invested in the business. The products of this factory differ somewhat from those of the Ellwood works, being the "S" barb, so called from its likeness to the letter S before being clinched upon the wire. The results of this enterprise show the advantages of healthy competition, and demonstrate the fact that such is the demand for fences of both kinds that a dozen such establishments could not fully supply it. The field is large and constantly increasing. Mr. Haish is now shipping his "double-twisted, double-coated, fire-proof, weather-proof, stock-proof, iron-clad, steelwire" fencing to Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, New York, and Ohio, and to Texas, California, and nearly all the western states and territories.

PROGRESS IN BUILDING.

A great deal of building has been done in the town within two years, and particularly since the fire. The city seems to be passing through that phase incident to all places which attain to a solid and substantial growth, when ephemeral wooden structures give place to those of brick, stone and iron, and the main street presents a busy appearance. It is literally crowded with building materials.

Peter Wagner has nearly completed on Main Street a fine brick and stone, iron column, three-story building. It is designed for printing office, post-office and furniture store. It is one hundred feet in depth, with fine airy basement, plate-glass windows, and will cost not less than $8,000 or $10,000.

Tyler and Shea have nearly finished a sightly brick building designed for a clothing store and restaurant.

Jacob Haish is erecting a fine building, to contain a Masonic Hall, city hall and offices, with stores in the ground story, and fine large basement. It will cost $20,000.

Lott & Baird have in process of erection a new brick bank building, just west of their present bank, which will be soon completed, and be an ornament to the town.

J. F. Glidden's new building was commenced in August, and will be enclosed this fall. It will be the finest and most costly building out of Chicago or the larger cities of the state. The ground floor will be occupied for mercantile purposes; the upper stories for a hotel. It will cost about $30,000.

Love & Carter have during the year erected a new and commodious store for agricultural implements.

Hon. L. M. McEwen is erecting a large and handsome dwelling house.

W. B. King is also making arrangements for the erection of a dwelling.

Jacob Haish has erected a building for his factory 26x67, in which he has placed new machinery.

Stores in DeKalb rent anywhere from $200 to $600 per year, and in spite of hard times, rents have an upward tendency.

SOMONAUK.

In 1834, a mail route was established between Chicago and John Dixon's residence on Rock River. This route crossed the southern part of DeKalb County, running through what is now known as Freeland Corners. Near this place, in 1834, a log house was built, and to this station was given the name of Somonauk.

In 1853, the railroad was constructed through the county, and Mr. Alvarus Gage, the owner of the land on which the present town of Somonauk stands, gave to the railroad company five acres of land on which to erect their buildings, and laid out the town. A mail route was in operation through this place, running north and south, and, as it came but once a week, some delay was occasioned in the delivery of the letters. The postmaster at Somonauk was induced to remove to the station, and through the aid of the citizens near the station the office was removed, hence the name "Somonauk" at this place. After a time the office was again established at the old place, and the name "Freeland Corners" given it. During the years immediately succeeding the advent of the railroad, the town grew with extraordinary rapidity. Many came who were compelled to live in tents until they could erect a home. A man by name of Franklin Dall built the first store and warehouse here, and a Mr. Hess erected the second one.

After the advent of the manufacturing company in Sandwich, and owing to the strenuous efforts put forth by the citizens of this latter place to induce all such persons to settle there, and to the farmers to bring their produce to this market, the growth of Somonauk became slow. No manufactories were started, and the chief business of the town was trade with the surrounding populace. The growth of the town has been moderate, but healthy, and the village contains now some fifteen hundred inhabitants.

A few years since a pickle factory was established, which also cans corn. It has been doing a good trade, and, properly sustained, will be a help to the town. A cheese factory is in operation here and doing a good business. The California Windmill Company, under the control of Clark & Co., are working up an extensive trade; but as their mills are all made at Sandwich, the mechanics of that town get the benefit of the work. Somonauk should aid these gentlemen and all others in such works, and as much as possible get all the work done at home.

There are now in town enjoying a good trade, four dry goods stores, one hardware store, one grocery, two harness and saddle shops, one of whose proprietors manufactures a fine harness oil, which finds a good sale, three shoemakers, three blacksmiths, two wagon and carriage makers, two lumber yards, and three warehouses.

There are three or four physicians and two attorneys.

Somonauk contains seven churches. The Protestant Methodists, were the earliest organized. Some twenty-three years ago they effected their organization under the labors of a Mr. Watson. For some time services were held in private houses, afterwards in the school houses, until a church could be built. This congregation has now some twenty or thirty members. The pastor is the Rev. S. B. Guiberson. Two or three years after the organization of this church, the Presbyterians established a church at Northville. After being there two years they removed to Somonauk, and have remained ever since. They have a membership of fifty or sixty, under the pastoral charge of the Rev. Edward Scofield. The Baptists have a small organization here, of some fifteen or twenty members, having maintained this for some fifteen or sixteen years. Their minister is Rev. W. H. Card. The German Baptists organized some six years since. The Rev. H. Wernick is their minister. About the same time the Episcopal Methodists were constituted. They have now about thirty members in town, but have a goodly number in the country. Their pastor is Rev. R. Burns.

The Catholic Church is the largest in town. It has been organized about sixteen years, and numbers near two hundred members, embracing a large extent of territory. The priest is Father C. J. Huth.

The German Lutherans were organized about ten years since. The church, in common with the others, save the Catholic, is small, but supports an organization presided over by the Rev. G. Weiser.

THE SCHOOLS.

Prior to the foundation of the town, a school was held about a mile and a half north of town in what was known as the Poplin neighborhood. As soon as the settlement justified it, a school was formed about eighty rods south of the present town school building, and was a joint affair between the two townships. A school had also been held in a small building southeast of town, but, owing to a want of support, was in operation but a few months in the year. For the second or third term held in it, Mr. Alvarus Gage went around to all his neighbors with a subscription paper, each one agreeing to give a certain amount, irrespective of the number of scholars sent. By this means enough money was raised to continue the school four months. This gave way to the South School referred to, which was commenced about the year 1850. School was held here some three or four years, when this house (built by subscription) became too small for the number of scholars, and the present edifice was built, in which a good school has since been regularly maintained. The attendance now is 257, requiring a force of three teachers, the school being divided into primary, intermediate and high school departments. Mr. S. H. Towne is the present superintendent, having been here seven years. He has the schools in good condition, and he and his teachers are ornaments to the profession.

THE PRESS.

In December, 1875, Mr. C. A. West, an enterprising young man, with only two or three weeks' experience as a printer, came here and established the Reveille. The weekly circulation is now four hundred, and steadily increasing.

In Somonauk are three societies: the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Grand Army Republic. A Musical Union is also well supported, and a good dramatic company sustained. These two latter organizations furnish amusement for the citizens of the town, and from the attendance at their entertainments from the country they enjoy a good reputation.

SANDWICH.

Prior to the advent of the railroad, a post-office had been established near the present town, and was for the accommodation of the settlers midway between Newark on the south and Somonauk, now Freeland Corners, on the north. This office was named "Sandwich," by Hon. John Wentworth, familiarly known as "Long John," then United States Representative from this district, Sandwich being the name of his native New England town.

The railroad was surveyed through DeKalb County in the year 1851. The land on which Sandwich is situated, was owned by Mr. Almon Gage, still living in town, and his house was the mark used by the surveyors in their approach to this locality. His house thereby became the first building in town. Mr. Gage gave the railroad company five acres of land, on the condition that they would erect the necessary depot buildings within five years. He also laid off the town site into lots, and offered one of these lots to any one who would come and erect a building thereon. Mr. James Clark was the first to avail himself of this offer, and built a large, rambling, one-story dwelling house, afterwards known as the "Donegana" House.

Some two years after the completion of the railroad, through the influence of the citizens, a depot was established here, and was known as Newark Station. A mass-meeting had been held at Newark, and William Patten, Washington Walker and Lindsay H. Carr were appointed a committee to go to Chicago and induce the railroad company to build a depot for passengers and a warehouse. Mr. J. H. Furman had made a canvass of the surrounding country, and ascertained that some 400 persons would make this their railroad point for business or travel. On the representation of this and other facts presented by the delegates, the officers agreed to stop their trains when flagged. But the people were not to be defeated. A carriage was run from Newark, eight miles south, and all who could were induced to make as frequent trips as possible.

Such determined efforts had their effect. The railroad officers erected the necessary buildings, and Newark Station was a reality.

Mr. Gage had built a medium-sized granary, which he sold to the Carr brothers, who at once fitted it up for a store and dwelling, and in it opened the pioneer store of Sandwich. A post-office was established here known as Newark Station P.O., but the letters would often be sent on down to the town, only to be returned. Many would direct their letters to their friends here and omit the "Station" on the address. These things of course caused some delay and considerable vexation and trouble, and the propriety of changing the name of the village was discussed. Every one wanted this, and a petition was sent to "Long John," whose influence prevailed, and the old office of Sandwich was revived and the name bestowed on the rising village. From the advent of the railroad, and more especially from the erection of the depot buildings, the growth of the town was rapid and vigorous. Surrounded by a fine farming country, rapidly filling up with an enterprising and intelligent people, men of liberal hearts and large purses were attracted here, and an excellent trade was soon established.

Through the influence of the Pattens, Hon. Augustus Adams, who had been a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1848, and a State Senator and Representative when residing at Elgin, Illinois, was induced to come here in 1856. He was at this time still a Senator, and was by trade a foundryman and machinist.

The residents of Sandwich well knew the importance of a manufactory to their town, and by liberal offers of aid induced him to settle among them.

The following year he removed his family here, and building his shops, laid the foundation of the immense establishment now known as the Sandwich Manufacturing Company. In 1864 he suffered a loss by fire, but at once rebuilt. In 1867 the establishment was enlarged, and a Stock Company organized with a capital of $75,000, afterwards increased to $125,000, and again to $250,000. These works employ from 50 to 250 hands, whose weekly pay-roll will average $1,500. The company manufacture the Adams Corn Sheller, which has had a large sale in this and foreign countries; the Adams and French Harvester, of which they made some 2,000 last year; also farming machinery, and when not too busily engaged on their own machinery, make a great many castings for other companies. W. L. Simmons, a prominent grain merchant here, is President of the company; and J. P. Adams, Secretary and Treasurer.

Across the street from this company's works, stand the buildings of the "Sandwich Enterprise Company." The main buildings of this and the "Sandwich Manufacturing Company," are of Batavia stone, a most durable building material. The "Enterprise Company" was organized in the Winter of 1868-9, and was originally owned and worked by the Kennedy Brothers. In 1872 the present building was erected, and the manufacture of the Enterprise Windmills actively commenced. The capital stock was $50,000, since increased to double that amount. In addition to the windmills, this company manufacture all kinds of farming machinery, and also the castings and woodwork for the Windmill Company at Somonauk. New machinery is now being placed in these works, and the facilities for more work are being rapidly augmented. They employ from twenty to thirty-five hands, whose weekly pay-roll will average $300. E. Banta is President; H. Packer, Superintendent; and B. F. Latham, Secretary.

These manufacturing companies give to Sandwich its solidity and wealth, and furnish steady employment to many of its best citizens. The town has always been an important grain market. In former years, when wheat was the main article produced by the farming community, the shipments have been enormous. During the year 1865, over 300,000 bushels of grain were sold here, one grain dealer paying out over $400,000.

In 1856, a bank was opened by Mr. M. B. Castle, which from an exchange business, that year, of $50, has grown to many times that amount, and is now a paying institution. In 1875 the Culver brothers, long merchants here, opened another bank, which is doing a good business. Mr. G. W. Culver and Robert Patten opened the first lumber yard; this is still in successful operation, and is owned by M. W. Abel. An additional one is owned by M. B. Castle & Co.

The business of the city is represented by these two lumber yards, the two banks, one large grain warehouse, the two manufacturing companies, two carriage and wagon makers, one agricultural implement store, eight groceries, five dry goods stores, two clothing stores, three hardware stores, four restaurants and saloons, one steam flouring mill, two livery stables, one cheese factory, three butchers, two coal dealers, two harness and saddlery shops, three blacksmiths, three shoe shops, one builder, a large number of carpenters and masons, two drug stores, two merchant tailors, one book and news dealer, one cigar factory, two bakeries, two photographers, one music store, six milliners, and three hotels. The professions are represented by three lawyers and seven physicians.

From the above it will be seen that the town is well represented in all trades and professions.

Sandwich supports two good papers; the elder of these is the Gazette, started in 1857 by William L. Dempster, under the title of the People's Press. It survived only six months. In 1859 it was revived under the name of the Prairie Home, and again met the same fate. After a while it was again issued by James Higbee with the name of Sandwich Gazette; as such it was issued bi-monthly. In a short time, however, it was made a weekly, and Mr. J. H. Furman, before mentioned, assumed control. In 1874 he sold to Mr. G. H. Robertson, the present owner and editor. It is an excellent county paper, and according to the bills returned from the company from whom the paper is purchased, the present bona-fide circulation is 768 weekly copies.

The Free Press was started in 1873 by its present owner and editor, Mr. H. F. Bloodgood, a former attache of the Gazette office. It is a sprightly sheet, and according to the same authority has a weekly circulation of 981 copies.

Mr. Bloodgood also publishes the Shabbona Express, which circulates largely in that township.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS.

The city contains six churches, all well patronized. The Baptists were the first to occupy the field. Their house of worship was erected in 1853. The Methodist Episcopal next, in 1854, and the following year the Presbyterians built their house. The Congregationalists had organized a church at Little Rock, seven miles distant, as early as 1853. In June of 1856, they removed their church here, using the Methodist whenever they had services, until July, 1857, when they erected a small house. This they sold to the German Lutherans in 1864, and built their present beautiful church edifice. In the year 1866 they built their parsonage. They organized with sixteen members, and now number nearly two hundred. Their pastor is the Rev. J. L. Granger. The minister in charge of the Baptist Church is Rev. A. L. Farr, and that of the Presbyterians is Rev. George B. Black. The German Methodists maintain a church, organized some ten or twelve years, whose pastor is Rev. C. T. Morf. Shortly after their organization that of the German Lutherans was effected. The pastor of this church is the Rev. R. Menk.

The city maintains excellent schools. The earliest efforts in this direction were made in a small, red frame house, which stood near the intersection of Main and Center Streets. School was held here from about the year 1851 or '52 until the year 1857. During the year 1855 an incorporated company was established who built an academy on the ground now occupied by the South Side School. This academy did not prove a success, and the small school house becoming too small, the district purchased the academy building and employed the principal, Professor Hendrick, to conduct school in it. As the town grew, this was found too small and at an inconvenient distance for many, and a similar building was erected on the north side of the railroad. Additions have been made to these, and three small additional buildings constructed in different parts of the city for the use of the smaller pupils. During this last year, 1875, there were enrolled 689 pupils, which required the services of eleven teachers. Mr. A. E. Bourne, a graduate of the Wisconsin State University, who has been connected with the schools some three or four years, is the superintendent.

Sandwich was incorporated as a town in 1860, with the following persons as trustees: Augustus Adams, President; Almon Gage, George W. Culver, Washington Walker, and William G. Morris; S. B. Stinson, Clerk. On the 19th day of November, 1872, the question of adopting a city organization under the general laws of the state, was submitted to the citizens, and decided in the affirmative.

The first City Council was constituted as follows:

Mayor—W. W. Sedgwick.

Aldermen—H. A. Adams, M. R. Jones, A. A. Marcy, John Woodward, Henry Jones, O. S. Hendee.

City Clerk—T. E. Hills.

The present City Council is as follows:

R. M. BRIGHAM, Mayor.

Aldermen.

First Ward—J. H. CULVER, ENOS DOAN.

Second Ward—JOHN WOODWARD, HARVEY PACKER.

Third Ward—H. F. WINCHESTER, GEO. KLEINSMID.

J. A. TOLMAN, City Clerk.

S. B. STINSON, City Attorney.

There are two Masonic lodges, two Odd Fellows, and one of the Grand Army Republic. A good Musical Union is sustained, which furnishes many evenings of profit and pleasure to the members and entertainments to the citizens. A lecture course is regularly kept up, which adds very materially in developing a correct social taste. This is well patronized by the citizens of town and the surrounding country.

MALTA.

This was one of the later townships in being settled, owing to its situation on the open prairie, at considerable distance from groves of timber. Ezekiel Whitehead became its first settler in 1851. At this time a large proportion of the land in the township was in the hands of the government, but was entered during this and the following years by C. C. Shepard, H. A. Mix, Mark Howard, and other speculators, who subsequently became rich by the rise in the value of the land.

In 1854, by a petition of the citizens of South Grove, a station was established on the railroad, then completed to Dixon, and this gave such an impulse to settlement that the township rapidly filled up. It had been a part of the town of DeKalb, but, acquiring a sufficient population, was set off by act of the supervisors, upon a petition of the inhabitants, in 1855, under the name of Milton, which was changed to Etna, and a few years after, to Malta, its present name.

The village at the station was named Malta, and a thriving town rapidly grew up at this point. The financial crisis of 1857 gave it a blow from which it was many years in recovering. In 1857 a large steam mill was built, but owing to the stringency of the times, was not profitable, and was burned down in 1861. In 1867 another large and substantial steam grist mill was erected by Mr. Abraham Peters, by the aid of liberal subscriptions on the part of the citizens. This mill has continued to do good business.

Towards the close of the war the place took a fresh start. The high prices of grain attracted settlers and gave increased value to the new prairie lands. Money became plenty, business increased, new buildings were erected, real estate doubled in value, and sales which for many years were impossible became active and frequent. Malta has since been prosperous. It is the natural center for a large extent of rich country, which, filled, as it is, with a substantial farming population, will support a town of three or four times the present population.

The first census of the town was taken in 1860; it then contained 620 souls. In 1865, the population was 849; in 1868, 1,200. The present population of the village is about 1,500. Malta furnished ninety-four soldiers for the War of the Rebellion.

The Congregationalists and Baptists have fine churches, erected in 1867.

The town contains three elevators—two of a capacity of 7,000 bushels each, and one of 2,500. It has a large flouring mill and cheese factory, eight stores, one hotel, and the usual variety of artisans' and mechanics' shops.

VILLAGE OF CORTLAND.

Prior to the opening of the Chicago & North-Western Railroad through this part of the county, the site of the Village of Cortland was composed of portions of the farms of Mr. Hall and Mr. Ezra Croof.

The latter of these two laid out the original plat, comprising all the south-western part of town, and including the grounds now occupied by the railroad buildings, and some of the western portion of the village.

The railroad was built through in 1853, and the following year the company purchased the farm of Mr. Hall, comprising the south-eastern part of town and extending across the railroad, including some of the eastern portions. Mr. Hall erected the first house in the new village, using it as a boarding-house. It stood a short distance south of the railroad tracks, on the east side of Main Street.

The first store in town was built and occupied by Mr. Marcus Washburn. As the village was not of rapid growth, it is probable this satisfied the demands of trade for a year or two.

The liberality of the railroad company in disposing of their land purchased from Mr. Hall, induced many to come to the place and engage in the various kinds of trades and business demanded by a country town. Before the building of the Cortland and Sycamore Railroad, business was exceedingly good at this point, as the merchants and tradespeople from the latter town made this their shipping and receiving point. But no sooner had this road been completed, than all this was stopped, nearly all the travel from the northern portions of the county going to the county seat.

Mr. Lovell built a large steam flouring mill, and engages extensively in buying grain from the surrounding country. This, and the buying of stock, the supplying of the farmers with groceries, drugs, dry goods and farm merchandise, and the shipping of their produce, comprise the chief business of Cortland. It now contains three dry goods stores, one drug store, one agricultural implement store, one hotel and one livery stable.

The trades are represented by one butcher, three blacksmith shops, one wagonmaker, two shoemakers and two harnessmakers. The town supports one church and a good graded school, and contains a population of near 500 hundred persons.

The earliest church organization was that of the Methodist, the only denomination who have an organized congregation.

In the Fall of 1858, some sixteen persons met at the house of Mr. Peter Moore, then occupying the ground of Prof. Curtis' dwelling, and proceeded to organize a class. Before this time, in connection with a few resident Baptists, they had conducted services occasionally at different houses; but now the need of an organization was realized, and this handful of Christians banded together for mutual encouragement and aid. Rev. C. T. Wright was the officiating minister, and organized the congregation.

Until the year 1863 services were held in the North Side School House. That year the present church building was erected. The congregation now numbers about sixty-five members, and support their pastor, the Rev. A. C. Frick, two-thirds of the time.

The first school house was built of split bass-wood logs, and stood near the south corporation line, on Main Street. This house was 16x18 feet in size, and was used until it became too small, when a frame one was erected on the north side of town, on the lot now occupied by the house of Mr. John Woodley. This building is now used as an agricultural store, and stands adjoining the store of Moore & Sheldon on the south. It was used until the year 1868, when the present graded school building was finished. The log school house now does service as a barn for Mr. D. Joselyn.

The school is now divided into three grades—Primary, Intermediate and High School. The enrollment is 135, and the attendance 110.

The Principal is Prof. C. W. Curtis, who has had charge some four or five years.

In 1868 the Legislature changed the name of the township from Richland to correspond with that of the town, viz. to Cortland.

VILLAGE OF GENOA.

The first white inhabitant of this village was Mr. Thomas Madison, who came to this locality in the year 1836, and erected a spacious log cabin on the spot where, for thirty years after, a hotel was kept by H. N. Perkins and Luke Nichols.

Mr. Madison came from Genoa, New York, and finding a Batavia and Geneva here, as well as there, concluded to carry out the parallel, and named the place in honor of his native home.

A post-office was established here by him at that time, of which he was first postmaster.

Mr. Perkins came in the Autumn of 1837, and he, Samuel Corey,

Thomas Munnahan, and Henry Durham, bought the claim of Mr. Madison, who removed to Texas. This claim was said to occupy two sections of land, for which $2,800 was paid.

Mr. Durham came in the Spring of 1837, and opened in Madison's cabin a small stock of goods—the first in the village—for sale to the few settlers who were now rapidly filling up this portion of DeKalb,—then part of LaSalle County.

Mr. Perkins remained here until his death, some thirty years after, and by his energy and industry accumulated a very handsome competence. Henry Preston and Daniel T. Whittemore were also among the early settlers.

In the Spring of 1838, Mr. Perkins' house was entered by a party of thieves, and some $300 worth of goods carried off. Whittemore was suspected of being in league with a gang of thieves, among whom were the Brodies of Brodie's Grove, who, Mr. Perkins had good evidence to suppose, were concerned in this robbery; but no prosecution was made, nor was any of the money or goods ever recovered.

During the year 1838, the immigration of settlers was rapid, and Genoa became quite a lively little village. Dr. H. F. Page commenced the practice of medicine there; James S. Waterman opened a stock of goods, and one E. P. Gleason, who afterwards figured as a leader of the banditti, came in and bought the claim of Whittemore and Corey. He had the reputation of being a man of wealth, and began to talk about building mills, starting stores, and otherwise contributing to the growth of the business of the village. During the spring of 1838, he set out the fine row of maples now constituting a conspicuous ornament of the place. In his subsequent career he acquired an unenviable notoriety. He was accused of passing counterfeit money, and was arrested by the United States officers for that offense. Taking the officers out to see his fine crop of corn, while detaining them for dinner, he suddenly disappeared in its luxuriant growth, and for several years was not seen in the county. Returning when the evidence against him was unattainable, he started a store and saw mill, married a respectable young woman in the neighborhood, and seemed contented to lead a correct life. A few years after, he became ill, and a traveling doctor, named Smith, a boarder in his family, and reported to be attached to his wife, attended him. After eating one day of some porridge, he suddenly became violently ill, and soon died in great agony. Not long after the doctor and Mrs. Gleason were arrested on a charge of murdering him, but the evidence being insufficient, they were discharged. They were soon after married, and removed to LaSalle County, where the doctor died under very suspicious circumstances. His wife soon after died quite suddenly.

In 1848, on July 4, a great celebration was held at Genoa, at which George H. Hill delivered an oration to an audience of over a thousand people, gathered from Rockport, St. Charles, Aurora and all the surrounding country. Genoa was as large and promising a town as any of these places. Belvidere contained then only two houses. The trade of Genoa supported four large dry goods stores, each doing a large trade. There were also kept two large, well-built taverns, at which a line of stages from Elgin to Galena made a stopping-place. The road received in work, annually, parallel furrows, plowed on each side of the road, by which travelers were enabled to keep the highway across the country. Elgin being the market place of all this region of country.

But by and by other towns began to spring up, and the prosperity of Genoa began to wane. The county seat was made at Sycamore, in 1839, and trade commenced to go there. Settlements were made in other parts of the county, and other trading points came correspondingly into notice. The village life ran on in the style of all Western towns which have lost their vitality and mainsprings of action, and not until the completion of the Chicago and Pacific Railroad, in January, 1875, twenty-seven years after, did this vitality return and a revival of business commence.

During all this time the village had simply supplied the immediate necessities of the surrounding community, and had hard work to maintain an existence. But now times changed. From that time until now, one year and nine months, the population has increased from a little over one hundred to more than four times that number. Then the trade was represented by two stores, two or three shops, and one hotel. There were but little more than twenty dwellings. Now the trade is represented by three dry goods stores, three groceries, one hardware store, four blacksmith shops, one wagon shop, one harness shop, one shoe store, one jewelry store, two provision stores, two lumber yards, two grain elevators, two meat markets, two coal yards, one flax mill, one billiard hall, one tailor, and two millinery shops. Three good hotels are supported.

On September 21, 1875, the Genoa News was started by S. S. Tucker, Esq. It has already a very creditable subscription list, and bids fair to rank with any paper in the county. Mr. Tucker is also proprietor of the News Depot here.

About 100 dwellings have been built since June 1, 1875.

RELIGIOUS AND EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS.

The Methodist Church was organized in the year 1841, with about twenty-five members. Meetings were held in barns, dwellings and the school-house until the erection of a church in 1854. This was re-built in a commodious manner in 1870, and is now one of the best houses of worship in the township. The membership is only about fifteen, presided over by the Rev. Joseph Coldwell.

The Adventist Church was organized in 1868, with near fifteen members. The following Spring the present church edifice was built. The membership was about doubled. The pastor is the Rev. E. H. Burrington.

The present school-house was erected nearly twenty years ago. It is now entirely too small for the number of pupils in the district—some 170—and an additional room is rented. The principal is Prof. M. McCarty.

THE GENOA HORSE-THIEF DETECTIVE CLUB.

This club was organized about the year 1854. Prior to its organization the citizens had repeatedly been made the victims of theft, particularly that of good horses, and finding the process of law generally too slow for practical purposes, banded together for aid in detecting the criminals. Since then but one horse has been stolen from a member of the club. It was found in Indiana, at a cost of more than $200. The expense was not considered, the idea being to catch the thief and show to all, the society was a reality. The club is composed of the leading men of Genoa and surrounding towns, and numbers about 150 members.

Its object is fully set forth in the following preamble:

“WHEREAS, We, the citizens of Genoa, Ill., and vicinity, under the existing state of things consider it incumbent, as heretofore, upon us, as a community who have mutual rights, to protect ourselves and property, to re-organize this society for the better protection thereof, and in case of theft mutually assist in a recovery, and use all diligence in capturing and bringing all thieves and robbers to justice that in any manner molest a member of this society. We therefore pledge ourselves and each for himself a strict obedience and conformity to the following Constitution and By-Laws.”

Articles I. and II. of the Constitution read as follows:

“ARTICLE I.

“The name of this society shall continue to be the Genoa Horse-Thief Detective Club.

“ARTICLE II.

“The officers of this club shall consist of, and rank as follows: President, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, captain, a finance committee of three members, and a sentinel. All of whom shall be elected by ballot at the regular meeting of the club in September of each year, and shall continue in office for one year and until their successors are elected or appointed in their places and are qualified.”

The duties of the president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and finance committee, are similar to those in all organizations. Those of the captain and sentinel are defined in Articles VII. and IX. which read thus:

“ARTICLE VII.

“It shall be the duty of the captain in case of larceny or robbery, when properly notified, to take such action as he may deem necessary to capture any party supposed to be implicated or connected with such felony, or for the recovery of the stolen property, and for such purpose he shall have power to order out any member or members hereof (who are not exempt from such duties) and direct what course he or they shall pursue.

“He shall have power to draw money from the treasurer to defray necessary expenses therefor, provided he shall draw an order and receipt for such amount only as the circumstances may demand, and if any member or members refuse or neglect to obey such orders when so called upon, he or they shall pay one dollar each for each offense to the funds of the club, or forfeit his membership, or both, or render a satisfactory reason to the club.

“ARTICLE IX.

“It shall be the duty of the sentinel to see that none but members hereof and that are entitled to protection by the rules of this club, are present at any meeting during the proceedings of the club.”

Section eleven of the By-Laws fully defines the object of the club. It is as follows:

“SEC. 11. This club shall be at the expense of searching for any

THO<sup>S</sup> M. HOPKINS Esq.
DE KALB

stolen property and thief, when the same has been taken from any member hereof, or if there is probable cause to suspect the commission of such crime, provided such members' rights are not impaired for any cause under the rules hereof provided; also, it shall be the duty of such member, as soon as there is probable cause to suspect that a larceny has been committed, forthwith to notify the captain or president hereof, or in their absence the officer next in rank, and provided further, that all such bills and items of expense shall be investigated by the finance committee, and if the same are allowed and paid, it shall be by vote of the club.

"The widows and minor children of deceased members of this club shall be protected by this club and shall be subject to like assessments as other members."

The present rules and regulations were adopted at a meeting held at the Genoa school-house on the 20th day of February, 1875. The meetings are held monthly, are open to the members only, and all members are forbidden to divulge any proceedings or plans of the organization. The officers are elected annually, the president, secretary and treasurer being excused from any active work while in office. The president is now Mr. B. P. Brown, and thieves are generally careful to let the property of any member of this club alone.

SHABBONA — CORNTON.

In November, 1871, Messrs. John Palm, John Ray, and Charles Stevens, entered into covenants with F. E. Hinckley, Esq., President and General Manager of the Chicago & Iowa Rail Road, for the purpose of locating the depot and suitable side tracts, and for which the said named gentlemen agreed to convey to the said F. E. Hinckley the undivided one-half of eighty acres of land, to wit: the north half of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section fifteen, in township thirty-eight, north range three east of the principal meridian, in the County of DeKalb. Accordingly, in the Spring of 1872, the said eighty acres were platted and surveyed by the county surveyor into lots and blocks, and the work of laying side tracks, and the depot commenced.

In the month of May, Mr. J. A. Nuttall moved the first dwelling house and barn into the village, and in July, Capt. A. B. Pollock made arrangements for the grain and lumber business. William Husk and Thomas Padgett soon followed with their stocks of dry goods, groceries, and hardware, Samuel Bouslough in buying grain and selling coal. M. V. Allen erected a fine dwelling house prior to entering the drug business. Not long after S. H. Bounsecomb erected a blacksmith shop, and William Heeg a fine building for the furniture business.

Death soon marked its victim, and the enterprising young man, Captain Pollock, was called, and F. W. Smith of DeKalb, took the business and ran it until recently.

Since 1872 the village has been gradually increasing in population and in business, until Shabbona has the accommodations of the much larger towns.

A beautiful church was erected in 1874, and in February, 1875, the village became known as the corporate Village of Shabbona, with over 300 inhabitants. During this year a grist mill has been erected by R.

Langford, and in this Centennial year of 1876, this village can boast of a large increase of population and of business, and last, but not least, of an elegant school house, which is highly ornamental to the place, and a credit to the directors of district number three.

There are three religious denominations that worship in the church. The Baptist have a settled pastor, Rev. D. L. Clouse, who built a tasty residence in 1875. The Congregational Society have no settled pastor at present. The Methodist have preaching once in two weeks by Rev. F. Pomeroy.

KINGSTON

is a new and very promising place, situated in the center of Kingston Tp., on the Chicago and Pacific railroad, and is delightfully situated, on the south of a grove of timber. It has several business places which do a good local trade.

KIRKLAND

is situated on Sec. 26, Franklin Township, on the Chicago and Pacific Railroad. Kirkland is a growing town, situated in the midst of a fine farming country, and promises to have a rapid growth.

WATERMAN

is a live prosperous town on the Chicago and Iowa Railroad, situated on Section 16, Clinton Township. It is surrounded by a very fine agricultural region, and does a very fine business. Waterman is a new town, but growing rapidly, and promises to have a steady and healthy growth.

CORTLAND

was laid out on a claim made in an early day by James and Joseph Roberts, a couple of old bachelors. In 1852 a number of buildings were erected, and among them a Baptist Church. About this time Luce's Corners was commenced half mile south. When the railroad was built in 1853 through Cortland, it absorbed Luce's Corners.

The town was first called Richland, after that Pampus, and in 1864 Legislature changed it to Cortland. A railroad has been built from Cortland to Sycamore, a distance of four miles. Cortland has a population of about 1,400.

THE VILLAGE OF HINCKLEY.

Prior to the opening of the Chicago & Iowa Railroad in 1871, the land on which the village now stands was owned and used as farm land by Mr. Samuel Miller, J. C. Coster, and C. H. Taylor. Mr. F. E. Merrill, of the firm of Merrill & Wagner, had, in 1867, built the pioneer store of this locality. It was situated in the grove about one-half mile west of town, and here he kept store and post-office until the spring of 1872.

The railroad company had, at this time, just completed their present depot, and Mr. Merrill saw that the town would of necessity grow up around that. He associated Mr. H. D. Wagner with himself, and they erected their present store, the first in the village.

The name Hinckley was given this station in honor of Hon. F. E. Hinckley, the President and builder of the railroad passing through the town. Prior to the advent of this road, the post-office was known as Squaw Grove, the name of the township. No sooner had the station been established, than lots began to be laid out, and buildings to be erected.

J. O. Curry & Co. shortly after built the elevator now owned by Maltbie & Co. Next the store of Thomas Evans was added to those mentioned, and butcher shops, shoe shops, and various like commodities appeared.

The town is of four years' growth, and at present contains three general stores, one drug store, one hardware store, one furniture store, three millinery shops, one butcher's stall, one shoemaker's shop, one lumber yard, one coal office, a bank, one hotel, one tailor, one jeweler, the Hinckley House, and a blacksmith and wagon shop. One of the best cheese factories in the county is located here.

The trade of town, outside of grain and lumber, will average fifteen thousand dollars per month annually.

The pioneer church was that of the Methodists. An organization had been in force as early as 1869. Divine worship was held in a church standing in the grove near Mr. Merrill's store. When Hinckley became in reality a village, the house was moved, and they still continue to hold services there. The actual membership is over thirty, under the pastoral care of the Rev. William Goodfellow.

The Baptists were organized in 1874. The same year they constructed their house of worship, and continued to regularly hold divine service therein. Their members number about the same as the Methodists, and are ministered to by the Rev. D. L. Richards.

Prior to the opening of the railroad, a school had been maintained many years. The country was rather thickly settled, and the early inhabitants of Hinckley soon perceived that a school house was needed which provided more room and better accommodations. In 1872 the present building was erected, sufficiently large to provide for these wants. It is divided into two departments, and will accommodate 100 pupils. The attendance is now about seventy. The Principal is Miss M. O. Severince.

An election was held on Saturday, October 21, 1876, to determine the question of incorporating the village. It was decided in the negative by a majority of seven votes. The population is now a little over three hundred.

A FEW OF THE PIONEERS

REUBEN ELLWOOD.

The subject of this sketch was born in Montgomery County, N. Y., Town of Winden, February 17, 1821. His parents were Abraham and Sarah Ellwood. His father followed the trade of a cooper.

Reuben, after receiving his education at an Academy in Cherry Valley, Otsego County, N. Y., engaged extensively in raising broom-corn, and in the manufacture of brooms, at Glenville, Schenectady County, N. Y., where he remained some eight years.

In 1857 Mr. Ellwood removed to Sycamore, DeKalb County, Ill. He opened a hardware store, and joined with that business dealing in real estate. Belonging to that class of citizens who believe thoroughly in developing the resources of the country, and who are ready to invest their capital to this end — a class to whom this country owes largely its prosperity and independence of other nations — he has always retained his inclination for manufacturing, and for the past five years has been engaged in the making of Agricultural Implements. In 1875 he began the erection of a new manufactory, in which he proposed to invest fifty thousand dollars.

Notwithstanding his business engagements, Mr. Ellwood has found time to serve the public when it has been demanded of him. He became a Republican at the inception of that party; while a resident of Glenville was a member of the Board of Supervisors; in 1850 was sent to the State Legislature at Albany, N. Y.; in 1856, was one of the Fremont Presidential Electors in New York; in 1868, he was the unanimous choice of DeKalb County, for Representative in Congress; was subsequently chosen the first Mayor of Sycamore; and served as United States Assessor till that office was abolished.

Mr. Ellwood is a man of great enterprise, of positive traits of character, indomitable energy, strict integrity, and liberal views, thoroughly identified in feelings and acts with the growth and prosperity of the town, county, and state in which he resides.

He was married August 8, 1850, to Miss Eleanor Vedder, of Schenectady Co. N. Y., by whom he has had three sons and three daughters.

WILLIAM A. MILLER,

one of the pioneers of this county, was born in Trenton, Oneida County, N. Y., May 4, 1810. When two years old his father moved to Schaghticoke, Rensselaer County, N. Y., where he was brought up till sixteen years old, when he entered as an apprentice to the plow and foundry business, at Lansingburg, N. Y. In 1830 he removed to Penn Yan, N. Y., where he remained, together with one year spent at Bath, Steuben County, till 1835, being in the meantime married. And in 1835, came with his wife to DeKalb County, and settled on a farm in Section 36, Town of Kingston. This location was then in LaSalle County, neither the Counties of Kane nor DeKalb being then laid out. Mr. Miller settled here among the Indians prior to their removal in the Fall of 1835, and was on friendly terms with those whom he knew. He has passed through all the vicissitudes of pioneer life. He has been twice over land with horses to California. His appearance on his return is well shown in the likeness on another page.

He has followed farming chiefly for a living, and has served his county several times on the Board of Supervisors. He has always been in politics an unswerving Democrat, and cast his first Presidential vote for General Jackson.

Mr. Miller was married at Penn Yan, N. Y., May 14, 1835, to Patience Allen, and has two children living. In 1873 he sold his land and retired from business. He resides in DeKalb.

JOSEPH F. GLIDDEN,

DeKalb, farmer and capitalist, son of David and Polly (Hurd) Glidden; born in Charleston, Cheshire County, New Hampshire. He is descended from the Welsh stock. There were three brothers and three sisters in the family, of whom Joseph F. was the oldest, the other brothers being Josiah W. and Stephen H. Glidden.

Joseph was brought up on a farm and educated at the common schools.

In November, 1842, he came to DeKalb County, and the following Spring purchased the claim of Russell Huntly, where he now resides, having in one body 400 acres of land.

The land came into market in January, 1843, at which time Mr. Glidden began to purchase of the government, and continued to add to it from time to time. For several years he and his brothers were in company working their farms together. Josiah W. still resides here. Stephen H. died in Minneapolis in 1875.

Mr. Glidden served on the Board of Supervisors of the County in 1851, 1861, 1862, 1866, 1869, 1870, 1871, 1872 and 1876. He is at present a Democratic nominee for State Senator, with good prospect of election. In 1852-54, he was Sheriff of the County.

He has been a great friend and benefactor of the public schools. He aided in the erection of the first log school house in the county, and was also active in planning and building the present fine public school building in the City of DeKalb, which cost $25,000. He has paid for twenty years the largest school tax of any citizen of the county, served as a member of the Board of School Directors from 1861 till 1874, during which time he was President of the Board.

Mr. Glidden has been twice married. First, he married in New York, in 1839, Miss Clarissa Foster, by whom he had three children, both deceased. Mrs. G. died in June, 1844. In October, 1851, he married his present wife, Miss Lucy Warne, by whom he has one daughter, Miss Elva F. Glidden.

Chiefly as the inventor of the "Glidden Patent" for Barb Fence Wire, has Mr. Glidden become a benefactor of the farming community of the West generally, and made himself extensively known throughout the country. We refer the reader for a particular description of this useful invention to the subject of "Barbed Wire Manufacture," in the proper history of DeKalb, on another page of this work.

DR. C. WINNE

was born at Leesville, Schoharie County, New York, February 22d, 1832. At the age of two years, with his father's family, moved to Town of Root, Montgomery County, N. Y., where he lived till eleven years of age, when his father died, and he struck out upon the sea of life for himself. For four years after the death of his father, he worked out by the month upon farms during the summer, and worked for his board and attended district school during the winter; remaining during these four years in the neighborhood of the old homestead. When in his fifteenth year he went to live with a brother-in-law in Chautauqua County, N. Y., and commenced to learn the wagon-making trade; after two years and a half in the shop, he came to the conclusion to do something better than make wagons, and started for school at Westfield Academy, remained only one term, then taught a term of district school, and for the next five years went to school and taught alternately. In 1854, he went to the State of Mississippi, impelled mainly by a desire to see the practical working of slavery, and while there taught school, and pursued the study of medicine, graduating at the University of Michigan, Medical Department, in the Spring of 1856. Practiced one year at Williamston, Michigan, when he came to Illinois and taught one year in the Public School at Newark, Kendall County. Here he became acquainted with Rachael E. P. Misner, eldest daughter of Hon. Johnson Misner, to whom he was married, Dec. 15, 1858. He then removed to Somonauk, and again entered upon the practice of his profession. When the war broke out, he entered the service as Assistant Surgeon of the 55th Ills. Vols. and served one year, when he was promoted to be Surgeon of the 77th Ills. Vol. Infantry, in which capacity he served till the end of the war. After the close of the war he settled in Sandwich, engaging in the drug trade in connection with the practice of medicine and surgery, and by economy and industry he has accumulated a comfortable little property. He has never held any considerable office, although taking a deep interest in politics. He is a Republican: belongs to no church. He is a public spirited and valuable citizen, and is held in very general esteem by his neighbors. He has three interesting girls, and believes that life is what we make it, and, although a member of no church, he believes in one God and the Christian religion. He is an ardent supporter of free schools, and free institutions generally, and is an enthusiastic Republican, having cast but one democratic vote, and heartily repented of that.

HENRY LAWSON BOIES

was born July 5th, 1830, at South Hadley, Mass., being the son of Artemas Boies, a distinguished clergyman. Mr. Boies is of Huguenot and Scotch-Irish stock. His father removed to Boston in 1835; thence to New London, Conn., in 1840, where he died in 1845. The widow thereupon removed to Keene, N. H., her maiden home.

In 1850, Mr. Boies, being of a consumptive family, was attacked with bleeding at the lungs, and spent a winter in the Azores, returning home by the way of Liverpool and London. The next winter he went to Charleston, S. C., where he taught school a year or two. Returning north, apparently recovered, in 1852 he purchased an interest in a manufactory of gunpowder at Catskill, N. Y. After three months' residence there, his old complaint again attacked him, and he resolved that he must die or seek a change of climate for life in the open air. With this view he came to Illinois, and after looking through the northern portion of the state, bought a farm in DeKalb County, where he has ever since resided. Fighting with never-flagging determination the insidious disease which threatened his life, he at last overcame it, and now gives promise of a long life of usefulness.

In February, 1858, Mr. Boies married Harriet S. Holmes, a lady of refinement and culture, by whom he has had several children. The same year, in connection with John R. Hamlin, an old resident, he started the project of building a branch railroad to connect Sycamore with the C. & N. W. R. R. at Cortland. In 1863, Mr. Boies became connected with the True Republican, of which he is now the editor. It is the paper containing the largest circulation in DeKalb County, and is the organ of the Republican party of the county, and a journal of wide influence in Northern Illinois.

In 1865, Mr. Boies laid out Boies' First Addition to Sycamore; in 1871 a second addition; and in 1876 a third.

He is the author of Boies's History of DeKalb County, which is a reliable and most valuable contribution to the historical thesaurus of Illinois. In 1870, he was chosen a Secretary of the Illinois State Senate. He is now Postmaster at Sycamore. He is a gentleman of strict probity of character; a public-spirited member of society; a consistent christian, and a genial companion. In transplanting thus to the new social element of the West the minds which have been nurtured in the best life of New England enlightenment, the social tone has been elevated, and the average degree of intelligence enhanced.

CAMPBELL W. WAITE

was born in Victory, Cayuga County, New York, on July 12, 1832. His father removed to Illinois in 1840, and settled first near Chicago, and afterwards in St. Charles, Kane County.

In early life, Campbell had to hoe his own row to a great extent. From the age of twelve, he earned his own living. He learned the trade of a printer, and worked at the case till he was eighteen years of age, when he began to write for the newspapers, which was his constant occupation until 1869, when he entered upon the abstract business in Chicago, and devoted seven years close application thereto.

In 1852, Mr. Waite became associated with Thomas J. Pickett in the editorial control of the Peoria Republican, in which position he continued until 1857, when he established the True Republican of Sycamore. In 1860 he was elected chief secretary of the Illinois State Senate.

At the outbreak of the war, he enlisted in the 8th Illinois Cavalry, and was chosen adjutant. He resigned this position for that of war correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, which position, in connection with the same position on the St. Louis Democrat, he occupied until 1864, when he acted as Washington correspondent of the latter paper. In 1865 he was chosen private secretary of Governor Thomas C. Fletcher, of Missouri, which position he occupied till 1867, when he made the tour of Europe on behalf of railroad enterprises in that state.

In September, 1876, Mr. Waite, in connection with O. P. Bassett, former proprietor of the True Republican, started the DeKalb County Democrat in Sycamore, the organ of the Democracy of DeKalb County—a bright, spicy, creditable sheet.

Mr. Waite is a man who thinks his own thoughts, who wields a facile pen and who, while inimitable in the genial sketches of social life, can, when occasion requires, hurl the missives of sarcasm which go to the heart of his adversaries.

He is an old bachelor; is a hearty good fellow; is Episcopal in sentiment; and one of those men who asks little odds of the world, so that he be permitted to go his way unmolested.

proprietor of the DeKalb County News, at DeKalb, Illinois, was born in Rochester, New York, Oct. 19, 1839. He commenced the printing business when but little more than thirteen years of age. Entered the army as a private in the first company which left Warsaw, N. Y., at the commencement of the War of the Rebellion. Served in the army of the Potomac, being wounded in the second Bull Run battle, soon after which he was commissioned lieutenant, but owing to disability, was discharged in 1863. In May, 1869, he purchased the office of the DeKalb County News, a paper of large circulation, which he has since edited and published. The News is recognized as the leading paper of the county. In politics it is Independent Republican. The office is complete in every respect, being supplied with all the late styles of type and material, with three presses, run by steam power.

Mr. Post has filled numerous positions of trust, and is now serving his third year as Postmaster, having been re-appointed in May, 1876, to serve four years.

THOS. M. HOPKINS

was born April 23d, 1818, in the town of Salem, Washington County, New York, of comparatively poor but industrious parents. By industry and teaching school he succeeded in obtaining a common-school and academic education, and was finally licensed and admitted to the practice of law by the Supreme Court of his native state in January, 1841. In June afterwards he emigrated to the State of Illinois, and was re-admitted and licensed to practice law in the last-mentioned state in the year 1842, and thereafter resided in Illinois and Missouri engaged in his profession and teaching school the greater portion of the time until the Spring of 1846, when he was married to Miss Julia A. Hawkins, of the city of St. Louis, and immediately settled in DeKalb, DeKalb County, Illinois, where he has since resided, dividing his time alternately between the cultivation and improvement of his farm and the practice of his profession, and has consequently passed through many of the trials and tribulations incident to the settlement, improvement, and development of the Northwest. He has five children (one daughter and four sons), and three of the last-mentioned, as also himself, will probably vote for Samuel J. Tilden for President of the United States this present Fall.

GILBERT H. ROBERTSON,

editor and proprietor of the Sandwich Gazette, was born in Washington County, Pennsylvania, November 28, 1837. The Gazette was started in 1857 by William L. Dempster, and at that time called the People's Press. It lived six months. In 1859 it was revived and name changed to Prairie Home, but its life was also short. Soon thereafter James Higbee took the management and issued a bi-monthly, calling it the Sandwich Gazette, and it assumed a more healthy look than its predecessors. It was then changed to a weekly, and placed under the management of J. H. Furman. In 1874 Mr. Robertson purchased the Gazette, and ever since its circulation has been on the increase and is now one of the best sheets in the country, espousing the Republican cause with a will and power equaled by few. M. R. wields a powerful pen, and on the stump is one of the best speakers in the party.

Mr. Robertson was married to Mary L. Beveredge, May 31, 1859. She was born in Washington County, Pennsylvania, April, 1836. Three children have blessed their union.

CHAS. A. WEST,

of the Somonauk Reveille, was born in LaSalle County, Illinois, Sept. 24, 1850. In 1875 he started the Reveille, and has built up a spicy and popular paper which has now a good healthy circulation. Mr. W. is a staunch Republican, and one of the most promising young editors in the party. He was married to Miss Ella M. Winne, Aug. 30, 1876.

HENRY F. BLOODGOOD,

editor and proprietor of the Sandwich Free Press, was born in Rochester, New York, February 6, 1852. Mr. Bloodgood came to DeKalb County in June, 1862, and has ever since resided in the county. Mr. B. is a practical printer and an able writer, and at the advice of many citizens in July, 1873, started the Free Press. Notwithstanding the many troubles and discouragements incident to the building up of a newspaper, and which would have caused most men to have abandoned it, he has now the satisfaction of knowing that he is the sole owner of a healthy, prosperous and influential Republican newspaper, with a circulation second to none in the county. Mr. B. makes job printing a specialty, and will be happy to see the public at his establishment over Sandwich Bank.

THE MESSRS. C. W. & W. W. MARSH,

of Sycamore, whose portraits we present our readers in another part of this volume, have built for themselves a reputation equaled by few, the product of an idea put into a practical and remunerative form. In 1858 they invented and patented the machine since known as the Marsh Harvester, but only made experimental machines from year to year till 1863, when, having sufficiently developed and perfected their machine, they resolved to make a venture.

Locating at Plano, they began manufacturing on a more extensive scale, and soon established a reputation for their Harvesters which created a demand requiring them to enlarge their facilities for production. After ten years they sold out the Plano business, and removing to Sycamore, organized their present stock company, under the name of the Sycamore Marsh Harvester Manufacturing Co., with C. W. Marsh, Prest; and W. W. Marsh, Supt.

C. W. Marsh was born March 22, 1834, and W. W. Marsh April 15, 1836, at Ontario, Can., and their parents, Samuel and Tamar Marsh, being in comfortable circumstances, gave them good school advantages. They followed their studies at Victoria College, Coburg, Can., until the Fall of 1849, when they came to DeKalb Co. with their parents, and assisted their father in farming till 1863, in the meantime developing the idea which has made them their fortune. Hon. C. W. Marsh was elected Assemblyman in 1868, and in 1870 member of State Senate, and has since been made Prest. of the Northern Insane Asylum, and Prest. of the First Nat. Bank, Sycamore. He was married in 1860 to Miss S. Frances Waite, of N. Y., who died in 1869, leaving one son and two daughters. In 1870 Mr. Marsh went abroad, spending some time traveling over the European continent.
